SAFETY BRINGS UP GODOLPHIN DOUBLE

Despite carrying a weight penalty for his victory in the G2 Al Fahidi Fort over this course Jan. 22, Safety Check (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}) notched his third-straight victory over the Meydan turf and brought up a group-race double for Godolphin in yesterday's G2 Zabeel

Safety Check
DRC/Andrew Watkins

Mile. Tucking in midpack one slot off the fence as Anaerobio (Arg) (Catcher in the Rye {Ire}) carved out the pace down the backstretch, Safety Check and jockey William Buick--who had ridden Volatile (Swe) (Strategic Prince {GB}) to victory in the Listed Meydan Classic earlier on the card--were forced four-wide around the turn. That proved to not be a major hindrance, however, as the pair wound up halfway down the lane and got up in the late stages to score by a length from Dark Emerald (Ire) (Dark Angel {Ire}) on the rail, who got up just in time to nose Earnshaw (Medaglia d'Oro) out of the place spot. The final time of 1:35.53 was a new track record. Cont. p11

A CHANCE TO SHINE

Fontiton (Aus) (Turffontein {Aus}) has yet to put a foot wrong in her short career, and she faces her stiffest test yet in tomorrow's A$1 million G1 Blue Diamond S., Australia's second-richest juvenile contest.

Fontiton
Racing and Sports

Fontiton cost Matchem Racing A$110,000 at last year's Inglis Premier Yearling Sale, and that figure looks like a bargain now that the dark bay has bankrolled almost A$400,000 in just four months of competition. The Robert Smerdon charge aired by six lengths going 1000 meters first out at Moonee Valley Oct. 25, after which she was immediately put on the shelf. She resumed with a score in the fillies' division of the G3 Blue Diamond Preview at Sandown Jan. 26, and was nearly two lengths the best in her most recent test, the fillies' division of the G2 Blue Diamond Prelude over 1100 meters of this course two weeks ago. Cont. p13

MINOR PLAYING IN A MAJOR KEY

by Jessica Martini

Joe Minor's JSM Equine, which has been an increasingly prominent figure on the racing scene in recent years, will offer a pair of juveniles through the inaugural Thomas & Casse consignment at next week's Fasig-Tipton Florida 2-Year-Olds in Training Sale at Gulfstream Park. Hip 100 is a colt by Medaglia d'Oro and hip 120 is a son of Tapit.

A native Lexingtonian, Minor grew up among racing and racing fans, but it has only been in the last decade or so that he became involved in ownership himself.

"I was actually born on a horse farm," Minor explained. "I grew up going to the racetrack as a fan and certainly in Lexington we're around Keeneland and Churchill Downs and you're exposed to all the excitement of the tracks and the big stakes races."

The 64-year-old, whose business ventures include financial and real estate investments, finally decided to take the plunge as part of a partnership. Cont. p3

'Brandi' Plans Still Uncertain

Plans for Willis Horton's champion 2-year-old filly Take Charge Brandi (Giant's Causeway) are still very much up in the air, but the D. Wayne Lukas trainee is expected to be entered next Wednesday for Oaklawn's Mar. 7 GIII Honeybee S. The GI Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies and GI Starlet S. heroine is also being considered for the GII Rebel S. against males Mar. 14.

Spelling to Victory

Trainer Gai Waterhouse provides insight on the training technique of spelling and how she used it to win the G1 Melbourne Cup with champion stayer Fiorente (Ire) (Monsun {Ger}) in 2013. "Spelling. No, it is not something you do at an English castle, but rather something we do in Australia with our horses to allow them to rest," she explains.

'Local' Feel in UAE Oaks

Godolphin's Local Time (GB) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}) scores in the G3 UAE Oaks for trainer Saeed bin Suoor. The bay lifted the Listed UAE 1000 Guineas three weeks ago.

Qatar's Bold Ambition

TDN correspondent Emma Berry reports from Qatar during the International Equestrian Sword Festival held by the Qatar Racing and Equestrian Club. Sheikh Joaan, brother to the current Emir, was on hand to watch his horse Dubday (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}) win the HH The Emir's Trophy at Al Rayyan Racecourse for the second consecutive year.

NORTH AMERICAN NEWS

"I started getting into the business with the Greathouse family," Minor said. "I got involved with some syndicates about eight or 10 years ago and then John [Greathouse] and I started buying at a higher level, everything from mares to racehorses."

He added, "When I got into this, it was primarily as an investment to buy and sell."

But he did have fair warning.

"I remember Mandy Pope telling me one time that this is just like an addiction. It's such a high," Minor said.

Minor has certainly enjoyed a number of highs during his short time in racing. Along with the Greathouse family's Glencrest Farm, JSM Equine campaigns Blofeld (Quality Road). Recently returned to training with Todd Pletcher, the gray colt won last year's GII Futurity and GII Nashua S. and is unbeaten in three starts. Minor was also co-owner of the ill-fated Onlyforyou (Malibu Moon), winner of last year's GII Forward Gal S. and GII Davona Dale S.

All horses in the TDN are bred in North America, unless otherwise indicated

"Last year, John and I had Onlyforyou and that was quite an experience," Minor recalled. "And then to have Blofeld. I've been very blessed and very fortunate. I have two beautiful grandchildren and a lot of great things in my life, but that's an adrenaline rush that is hard for me to put into words."

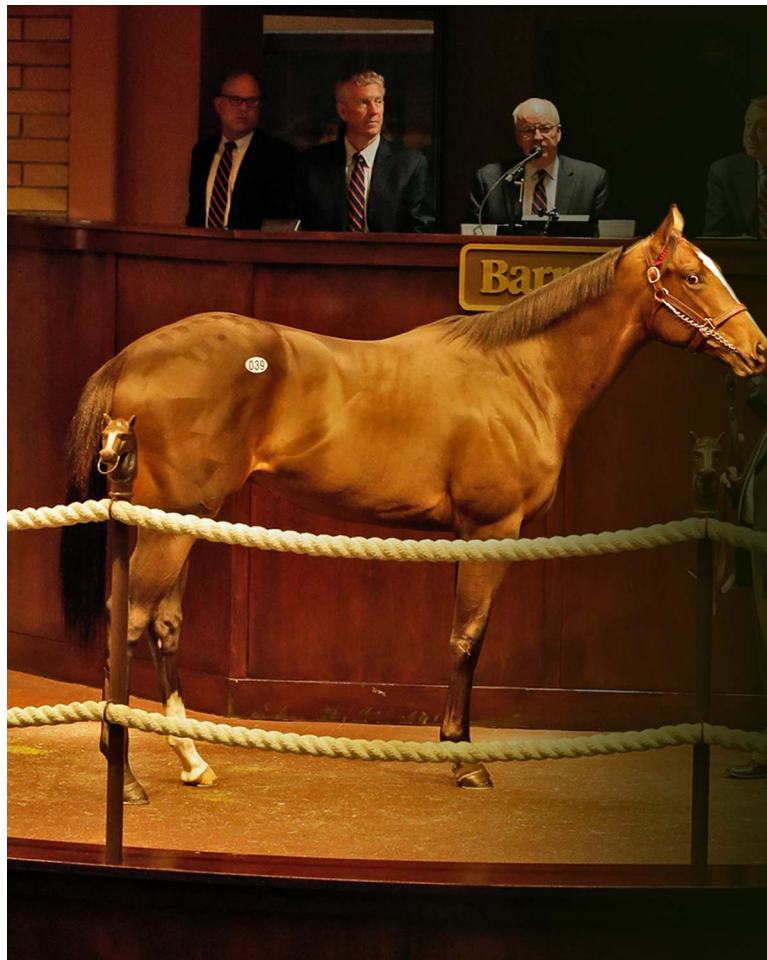

Minor, on his own or in partnership, has approximately 20 broodmares, as well as seven horses in training. Still, his focus is squarely on buying and selling.

"At the moment, I am concentrating on buying weanlings for the yearling market and buying yearlings for the 2-year-old market and buying mares and then selling them with their foals and back in foal," he explained. "That's probably more my business plan and, in the end, hopefully have the occasional top-level competitive runner."

Minor continued, "I look at the horse industry, in a way it's fun, but it starts with being able to buy at the right level and hopefully you make a wise investment and things go right for you and you have good people who are taking care of your investment. And then you have the right consignors and the market is strong and you do well." Cont. p4

After a pause, he added, "Or you do well enough to come back anyway."

Bloodstock agents Justin Casse and Christina Jelm were busy buying on Minor's behalf last year.

"Justin and Christina purchased quite a few weanlings for JSM Equine last year," Minor explained. "We will be selling those horses through various consignors at various different venues as yearlings. Then Christina and Justin purchased yearlings that we'll be selling, starting with the Fasig sale in Miami."

Medaglia d'Oro--Speed Succeeds
Thorostride

Discussing his Minor mission, Casse explained, "I'm basically doing for Joe what I have done for myself through the years, except with a larger budget."

"We have about 20 2-year-olds to sell for him this year," Casse added. "About two-thirds are horses that I bought and Christina Jelm bought and a third of them are horses that he bred. And we bought roughly 30 weanlings that just turned yearlings."

Casse is very pleased with the two juveniles Minor will be selling at Gulfstream next Wednesday.

The Medaglia d'Oro colt (Thorostride video) is a half-brother to GI Toyota Blue Grass S. winner Brilliant Speed (Dynaformer) and to graded stakes placed Souper Speedy (Indian Charlie). His second dam is Daijin (Deputy Minister), a sister to Touch Gold and With Approval and the dam of Canadian champion Serenading. The dark bay was a $300,000 Keeneland September yearling.

Tapit--West Coast Swing
Thorostride

"The Medaglia d'Oro is a beautiful colt," Casse commented. "He looks a lot like most of the Medaglias I've seen. I've had a lot of people asking about him just based on his pedigree and being a half-sibling to a Grade I winner. And of course, his second dam is extremely strong."

The Tapit colt (Thorostride video), a $370,000 KEESEP RNA, is out of graded stakes placed West Coast Swing (Gone West) and is from the family of Dance Smartly and Smart Strike.

"The Tapit is as good a horse as I've every been around," Casse said. "He is very straightforward, very smart. A beautiful physical and he's done everything very easily."

Hip 174, a Minor-owned daughter of Dansili (GB), was also catalogued to the Fasig sale, but needed more time and was scratched. Casse purchased the filly, a full-sister to Group 1 winner Testosterone (Fr), for €220,000 at last year's Arqana August sale. Cont. p5

“The Dansili is a really nice filly,” said Casse. “She’s really taken to training on the dirt. I had originally considered breezing her on the turf, but she has really taken to training on the dirt and I can only suspect that she will handle just about any surface.”

Asked how he thought the filly’s pedigree would be received in the U.S., Casse explained, “I would never have bought a colt with that kind of pedigree to bring over. I’ve been going over to Europe for three years now and I’ve noticed a strong American contingent buying horses abroad at primarily the mixed sales and almost solely the mares. In the past couple of years, due to talk about drug reform, I think some buyers have moved to bringing those bloodlines to the States and I think that, if you have the opportunity to buy a Dansili out of a Sadler’s Wells mare full-sister to a Group 1 winner, you have to take it. Here is the opportunity to, not only own a mare with great residual value, but you can also race her here in the States. So I would expect her to be well-received. Dansili has done enough around the world to have the respect in the United States.”

Casse will team up with Becky Thomas to offer their first consignment at Fasig-Tipton and Casse is looking forward to the collaboration.

“I feel very lucky to have her on my side,” Casse said. “I don’t think too many people have been doing this as long as she has at the level that she has. So to be able to turn to her with any questions that I have is really nice. I have a friend to depend on, as well as someone I greatly respect. I think we have a strong admiration for each other.”

The under-tack show for the Florida sale will begin Monday at 10 a.m. Bidding begins Wednesday at 4 p.m.

JOCKEY CLUB TO PURCHASE MAJORITY INTEREST IN BLOOD-HORSE According to sources, The Jockey Club is expected to finalize a deal Friday to purchase a majority interest in Blood-Horse magazine from the Thoroughbred Owners and Breeders Association (TOBA). Blood-Horse employees were notified of the sale Thursday afternoon. Further details regarding terms of the deal and the future of the publication are expected to come with an official announcement Friday. John Keitt, former outside counsel to The Jockey Club Information Systems, will be named the Blood-Horse’s new publisher, according to sources.

‘BRANDI’ PLANS STILL UP IN AIR

Plans for Willis Horton’s champion 2-year-old filly Take Charge Brandi (Giant’s Causeway) are still very much up in the air, but the D. Wayne Lukas trainee is expected to be entered next Wednesday for Oaklawn’s Mar. 7 GIII Honeybee S. The GI Breeders’ Cup Juvenile Fillies and GI Starlet S. heroine is also being considered for the GII Rebel S. against males Mar. 14. Lukas said entering the Honeybee next week will allow he and Horton to further evaluate how tough the field for the Rebel will likely be. “By then we’ll know how each race is shaping up,” the Hall of Famer explained, adding, “All the votes aren’t equal. I present the facts as I see them as a horse trainer, but the owner’s decision will be his. Whatever he does, I will support.” According to Lukas, he and Horton, who also enjoyed recent success with 2013 champion 3-year-old Will Take Charge (Unbridled’s Song), remain on the same page. “We’re not at a point in our discussion where one of us is saying one thing and the other is saying the other,” Lukas said. “We’re pretty good.” Take Charge Brandi most recently annexed Oaklawn’s Martha Washington S. by a head Jan. 31.

SPELLING TO VICTORY

By Gai Waterhouse

Spelling. No, it is not something you do at an English castle, but rather something we do in Australia with our horses to allow them to rest. I am a great advocate of spelling and resting horses, and just as we humans benefit greatly from a change in scenery and a holiday, horses flourish when they are sent for a spell. In Australia it is very hot for most of the year and the Aussie sun does wonders for our horses when they are allowed to relax and rest. They come back in from their spells generally many kilograms heavier and often several centimetres taller.

When I send a horse for a spell it is going to a farm somewhere not too far away and will be looked after as if it were Secretariat. Our spelling properties in Australia are second to none and are located on some of the best horse country to be found anywhere in the world. I have a variety of properties that I use. Some properties suit different horses better than others, and as such I am always focusing on where is best for each individual horse to spell. Some properties have water walkers, although I would never put a 2-year-old on a water walker as it seems to take a lot of their natural speed away. Our hard Aussie soil allows horses that are spelling to develop stronger bones--this is just so crucial for the younger horses that are still growing into themselves. I am very particular in what I want done with each individual horse when it is spelling. Every horse is different.

I am a trainer that races my horses--I don't cuddle them. I like to get to the bottom of my horses. But they can't race all year round. I tend to step my horses up in distance into their preparations and although most of my horses are relatively fit when they resume, they always get fitter and fitter into a preparation. The prize money is so good, and races are so hard to win, that it is unfair to owners and the connections to not have horses close to their best as soon as they resume. Once my horses reach absolute peak fitness, which is different for every horse, I can maintain it at that level for an extended period of time using various training tactics, such as regular visits to the beach. If a horse has reached its peak and has won a race that I had pre-determined to be have been its 'grand final,' then it is time for a spell.

Perhaps the greatest example of the benefit of spelling comes courtesy of my champion stayer Fiorente (Ire) (Monsun {Ger}), who won the 2013 G1 Melbourne Cup. These older horses from England and Europe are generally suffering from exhaustion when they reach Australia. They arrive to Sydney or Melbourne and are thrust into the middle of major metropolitan cities. There is noise and chaos everywhere that European horses that were trained on farms in the country are just not used to. Fiorente came to me after a group of my owners committed to purchase the entire in England not too long before the 2012 Melbourne Cup. Fiorente was then flown to Melbourne, where I had around one month with him to teach him as much as I could about my way of doing things. I change the imports' diets immediately and base their feed more around corn to increase energy intake. I also like my horses to have a short toe, so the European horses need their feet trimmed once they lob Down Under. History shows that Fiorente ran second in the 2012 Melbourne Cup. He did the best he could with the limited time I had with him. From here, I sent Fiorente straight for a spell. He needed a holiday after being shuttled to hot and sunny Australia from the depths of the English winter. This spell was the first step in the process of winning the Melbourne Cup the following year. Fiorente, during his first spelling stint Down Under, stacked on the weight, exactly as I wanted him too.

Gai and company with the Melbourne Cup
Racing and Sports

After an extended spell during our summer, I brought Fiorente back in during the Sydney autumn and I brought him in for just one run. This race, together with his two lead up trials, did nothing more than break up his routine. Had I have left him in the paddock from Melbourne Cup time 2012 until Melbourne Cup time 2013 or 'put him in cotton wool,' if you will, it would have been like leaving him in work for the whole time. Had he been given a much longer spell, eventually he would have grown bored of standing in his paddock, not racing and not being at stud. This boredom leads to a horse becoming lethargic. It can happen either in the stable or during a spell, hence the need for a spelling-racing-spelling pattern during the year. Cont. p9

A PROGRESSIVE MARKETING IDEA FOR BULLET TRAIN (GB)

With the breeding season in full swing, a lot of current broodmares already have their future partners picked out. However, mares coming off the track most likely do not. Because of that Sean Feld of Bullet Train (GB), Frankel's (GB) ¼ brother by Sadler's Wells, is unveiling a new incentive to get mares to his stallion.

First off, maiden mares coming to Bullet Train (GB) will receive considerations on stud fees. Secondly, for every maiden bred to Bullet Train (GB) will add $250 to the progressive "jackpot". Finally, the breeder, agent, or trainer that brings the most maiden mares to Bullet Train (GB) will win the "jackpot".

The foals from Bullet Train's (GB) first crop have sold for $75,000, $40,000, $34,634, $30,000, etc.

For more information on the new incentives call Sean Feld (859) 519-9665 or Crestwood Farm (859) 252-3770 or log onto his website frankelsbrother.com.

Therefore Fiorente had to come back in, despite the fact that he was going to be going almost straight back out because his grand final was not until the Melbourne Cup in November. The timeline at this stage reads: raced in Australia in November 2012; spelled until late March 2013; arrived back in the stables, trialed twice,

Waterhouse's Golden Slipper contender Vancouver on the beach recently raced once and was back in the paddock by late April. By doing this I managed to keep him fresh and his mind on the job. Remarkably during this first spell in Australia, the grinding stayer had developed a turn of speed and plenty of dash. Another great benefit of spelling is that even the good horses can come back in and surprise you with the skills they have developed while spelling.

Fiorente then came back to the stable in late July 2013, as fat as a house, and as we say in Australia 'as happy as Larry.' I don't know who Larry is or was, but Fiorente was definitely one happy boy when he came back in from this second Australian spell. From here he followed a traditional path towards Melbourne Cup glory in November 2013.

When the Australian horse is in work, it is in work; There is no in-between. I keep my horses really busy with gallops, swimming, trotting and cantering, beach visits and even occasional jumping. A spell does wonders to revitalize a horse's energy; energy it needs to keep up with my training regimen. The lighter-framed horses can't keep up with the Australian way of training. I often say that if a horse comes back from its spell showing rib, then the spell has not done its job. It is a long, hard grind to a big Group 1 target, and both horse and trainer are exhausted when it is accomplished. I am very pedantic about the condition my horses carry, and this condition is crucial to a horse being aimed at a long term goal.

“When the Australian horse is in work, it is in work; There is no in-between. A spell does wonders to revitalize a horse's energy--energy it needs to keep up with my training regimen.”

It has been said in some parts that we spell our horses so regularly in Australia as to free up boxes for newer or better horses. This is simply a falsehood. Think about it for yourself: how much happier and healthier do you feel when you have been on vacation, eating good food and spending plenty of hours in the warmth and sunlight? Horses feel exactly the same. If you don't believe me, come and spend a season in my Randwick or Flemington stable, and see for yourself. We all need a break from time to time and we all take great benefit from a spell or a holiday. Cont. p10

Personally, I can tell you that whether I visit Sicily, Dallas or Switzerland (where I went to a race meeting conducted on snow), I come back fresh as a daisy. By the time the holiday is up, I am eager to get straight back to work. Horses act the same way. When they get to their spelling farm, they kick up their heels and have a jolly good time. By the time they come back in, they are ready to work.

Safety Check rarely puts in a bad race, a trend that extends all the way back to his 2-year-old campaign, when he made nine starts in Britain and finished off the board just twice.

The chestnut made his Dubai carnival debut last year, but after running second in the UAE 2000 Guineas Trial failed to factor in two subsequent starts on the all-weather, including a well-beaten 10th in the G2 UAE Derby over 9 1/2 furlongs. Safety Check put in another uncharacteristically poor effort when returning to the turf in a Newmarket handicap going a mile in July, but returned to his winning ways when dropped back to seven furlongs at Goodwood two weeks later. Two starts later he recorded another victory over the same distance at Ascot, and he rounded out the season with a sixth in Newbury's Listed Dubai Duty Free Cup. Safety Check came home 2 3/4 lengths the best in a Meydan handicap going seven furlongs on the lawn Jan. 8, and the margin was four lengths when he took the G2 Al Fahidi Fort over the same distance Jan. 22. Trainer Charlie Appleby revealed after yesterday's race that Safety Check is now finished for the carnival.

"This horse has just really thrived since arriving in Dubai," said Appleby. "I still feel he is better over [seven furlongs] but he has certainly seen out the trip well tonight. William gave him a perfect ride and that will be him finished for the Carnival. He deserves a break so we will get him back to England and probably aim him at Glorious Goodwood, where the G3 Lennox S. looks a suitable target."

Local Time suffered her lone defeat on debut over the Lingfield all-weather in July, when she was fourth going six furlongs. She then recorded back-to-back scores over the Kempton all-weather when stepped up to seven and eight furlongs, respectively, in a maiden Aug. 6 and a conditions event Sept. 10. Wheeling back to seven furlongs for her turf debut in the Oct. 4 G3 Oh So Sharp S., Local Time kept her win streak alive when scoring by a neck. The margin was just a short head when Local Time resumed in the UAE 1000 Guineas trial in her first try on the dirt here Jan. 15, but she left no doubt as to her dominance when waltzing away with the Guineas itself three weeks later.

While all her immediate high-performing relatives excelled on the turf, Local Time's third dam produced the GI Yellow Ribbon Invitational winner Aube Indienne (Fr) (Bluebird).

In a race where the draw is key, Fontiton has landed on the rail, a spot connections would surely prefer to a wide gate, but she will need to be on her toes to break fast and find a good early position.

Smerdon vocalized after the Feb. 14 Blue Diamond Preludes that he considered Sampeah and Pride of Dubai the biggest threats to his favorite. A win by Sampeah would make it back-to-back Blue Diamonds for Sheikh Mohammed and three overall, and the bay--who scored first-out at Rosehill Nov. 29--certainly boosted his credentials with a fast-finishing third in G3 B.D. Prelude for colts. He is one of two--the other being Bantam--to be saddled by Godolphin trainer John O'Shea in his first year on the job, and a victory would be a fitting next chapter in what has been a remarkable juvenile season for that team. Sampeah adds blinkers, and jockey Chad Schofield told RacingNetwork.com.au he thought that could move his mount forward.

"I think with the blinkers it will really switch him on early and he'll be able to hold a spot," the rider said. "I think he's a very good horse and the blinkers will really improve him. I think he'll be a lot closer to the speed. If he can do that and finish the way he did in the Prelude he's going to be a key runner."

A win by Pride of Dubai would also mark a Blue Diamond repeat, in this instance for trainer Peter Snowden, who saddled Godolphin's Earthquake (Aus) (Exceed and Excel {Aus}) to victory last year just months before going public in a new training establishment with his son Paul. Pride of Dubai was third behind 'TDN Rising Star' Ottoman (Aus) (Exceed and Excel {Aus}) on debut at Rosehill Dec. 20, and came running late to split Of The Brave and Sampeah when second in the Prelude.

Of The Brave has been the subject of great controversy this week with his trainer, Mark Riley, successfully having a three-year ban from racing for a TC02 positive postponed in order to saddle him. While Of The Brave's trainer has turned heads for the wrong reason, there is no denying the natural ability of his stable star; Of The Brave was a cozy debut winner in the Listed Inglis Debutant S. over this course Oct. 11, and won the Prelude off the layoff in his only other start two weeks ago.

Thurlow has been an early success story for Qatar Racing in Australia. Purchased for A$150,000 by David Redvers at last year's Inglis Easter sale, the chestnut checked in third on debut in the G3 Emirates Airline Plate at Flemington Nov. 4 and has since won two straight: the Listed Santa's Magical Kingdom S. 11 days later, and the Feb. 7 G3 Chairman's S., both going 1000 meters at Sandown.

A rather unknown but interesting proposition here is the Coolmore partners' Lake Geneva. The bay filly put in a huge effort when second after traveling wide throughout in her lone start in the G3 Widden S. at Rosehill Jan. 31.

With eight runners in tomorrow's G1 Chipping Norton S., trainer Chris Waller saddles more than half the field; and as is always the case with Sydney's champion

Chris Waller
Racing and Sports

trainer, he has more than a few live chances. He's Your Man (Fr) (Cape Cross {Ire}) hit his best stride in October, taking the G1 Epsom H. over this distance before finishing a narrow second in the G1 Mackinnon S. at the Melbourne Cup Carnival. He resumed with a strong first-up sixth in the too-short 1400 meter Apollo S. at Randwick Feb. 14, which has produced eight of the runners here. Another live Waller shot is Weary (Fr) (Astronomer Royal), who made an immediate impact upon arriving from Europe a year ago. He won the G3 Doncaster Prelude back in the Australian autumn and was placed in both the G1 Doncaster Mile and G1 All Aged S. Weary proved rather disappointing in three starts during the spring, but seems to have bounced back, with a win to his credit in the G2 Expressway S. Jan. 31 and a third in the Apollo.

Likely to be favored here is the Apollo winner Contributer (Ire) (High Chaparral {Ire}), a Godolphin import who has made a favorable impression in his three Australian outings. The 5-year-old won the G3 David Jones Cup first-up at Caulfield Oct. 18, and was a non-disgraced eighth, beaten four lengths, in the G1 Emirates S. three weeks later. The Apollo, which he won by 1 1/2 lengths, was his first run of the season. Splitting Contributer and Weary in the Apollo was the Team Hawkes-trained Ninth Legion (Aus) (Fastnet Rock {Aus}), a consistent performer who won the Listed Carrington S. first-up Jan. 24.

This event also features a pair of smart mares. The dual Group 1 winner Lucia Valentina (NZ) (Savabeel {Aus}) will go postward as one of the favorites off her encouraging fourth in the Apollo which, as is the case with most of these runners, was far too short a distance for her. Three-time Group 1 winner Silent Achiever (NZ) (O'Reilly {NZ}) was fifth in the Apollo and searches for her first win since taking last autumn's G1 Ranvet S. and G1 The BMW.

LUCKY NUMBER FIVE FOR DISSIDENT?

Star sprinter-miler Dissident (Aus) (Sebring {Aus}) is the clear standout in tonight's G1 Futurity S. going 1400 meters at Caulfield, and the 4-year-old looks to record his second straight--and fifth overall--win at the highest level after taking the G1 C.F.

Orr S. over this track and trip two weeks ago. Dissident won another Group 1 over this course and distance in the G1 Memsie S. in August, after which he added the G1 Makybe Diva S. over a furlong further at

Dissident

Flemington. Dissident was second in the G1 Sir Rupert Clarke back over this track and trip Sept. 28, and after finishing sixth in the G1 Caulfield S. over 2000 meters Oct. 11, was put away for the season. Now owned by a syndicate including Newgate Farm and the China Horse Club, Dissident was third first-up in the G2 Australia S. prior to his Orr score.

Entirely Platinum (NZ) (Pentire {GB}) finished second in the Orr first-up and should be fitter for this run. He is three-for-four at second asking. Bull Point (Aus) (Fastnet Rock {Aus}) has been a quirky performer, but at his best can hit the board against these. He searches for his first win since taking the G3 Manfred S. over this course last February, and was an encouraging fifth first-up in the G3 Southern Cross S. at Randwick two weeks ago. The 5-year-old mare Driefontein (Aus) (Fastnet Rock {Aus}) rarely puts in a poor performance. After finishing fourth in the Magic Millions Cup Jan. 10, she has been second in the G2 Expressway S. Jan. 31 and the Southern Cross two weeks ago.

DEJA VU FOR DIAMOND WINNER?

Godolphin's Earthquake (Aus) (Exceed and Excel {Aus}) enjoyed her finest moment on this card a year ago when taking the G1 Blue Diamond S., and she will look to extend her unbeaten record at Caulfield in today's G1 Oakleigh Plate. Earthquake went unbeaten through her first four starts last year, including the

G3 Blue Diamond Prelude for fillies here, the Blue Diamond and Rosehill's G2 Reisling S., and she was second in the G1 Golden Slipper. She notched a pair of thirds in Group 2 company in Sydney to kick off her 3-year-old campaign, and won the G3 Thoroughbred Club S. when returning to Caulfield Oct. 11. She was eighth in the G1 Coolmore Stud S. against males to wrap up her spring campaign, and has won a pair of Canterbury trials in the lead-up to this, and also enjoys a light impost. Vain Queen (Aus) (Artie Schiller) was a smart winner of the G3 Mumm S. at Flemington when last seen Nov. 6. Her connections considered a first-up run in the G1 Lightning S. last weekend, meaning she must be in good form, and she races well fresh. Flamberge (Aus) (Exceed and Excel {Aus}) pushed Chautauqua (Aus) (Encosta de Lago {Aus}), one of the top-rated sprinters in the country, to a short neck when second in the G2 Rubiton S. first-up here two weeks ago. He will need a little luck, however, to overcome a wide barrier and one of the heavier weight assignments. Fast 'N' Rocking (Aus) (Fastnet Rock {Aus}) has been consistent since being gelded after his 3-year-old campaign, finishing out of the top three just once in five starts during the spring, including a win in the G3 Kevin Heffernan S. Nov. 15. The 4-year-old warmed up with a third to It Is Written (Aus) (Written Tycoon {Aus}) in the Listed Abell S. Feb. 6. Shamal Wind (Aus) (Dubawi {Ire}) is another who rarely puts in a bad run, and she won the Listed WJ Adams S. Jan. 26.

QATAR'S BOLD AMBITION

By Emma Berry

All over Doha, there is a sense of big things to come. Vast buildings are flanked by works in progress that will eventually become bigger buildings still as more and more of the surrounding desert is tamed and turned into towers.

By the time thousands of football fans descend on Qatar for the FIFA World Cup in 2022, the country will look immensely different to the way it does now, and the same will be true for Qatar's racing facilities. The obvious ambition of the country itself is emulated by the Qatar Racing and Equestrian Club (QREC), which this week hosted its three biggest race days of the season, culminating in HH The Emir Trophies and Sword Day yesterday at Al Rayyan racecourse. Cont. p16

The Al Rayyan Racecourse VIP lounge
Emma Berry

For this year's International Equestrian Sword Festival--the 24th of its kind--the QREC had invited visitors from across the racing world to witness its fast-growing commitment to horse racing, both at home and internationally.

QREC's General Manager Sami Jassim Al Boenain explained, "people know Qatar through our sponsorship of overseas events, like the Qatar Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe, and through QIPCO and now with the new sponsorship at Glorious Goodwood. So we want to show the international racing community how we do racing in Qatar and to see our country and where we come from--our lifestyle and culture."

Al Rayyan racecourse just outside Doha is the scene for the week's sporting entertainment and is also a training track for many of the country's 700 racehorses--a mixed population of Arabians and Thoroughbreds, with the majority of the latter having been imported from Britain, Ireland and France.

The Emir, HH Sheikh Tamim Bin Hamad Al Thani, is the patron of the QREC but is a last-minute absentee from the race day named in his honor. However, his brother, Sheikh Joaan, arrives at the races in time to see his Al Shaqab-owned Dubday (GB) (Dubawi (Ire) land back-to-back runnings of the major Thoroughbred race on the card, the HH The Emir's Trophy, which is classified locally as a Group 1 contest.

Dubday extends the already commanding lead of Jassim Al Ghazali in the Qatari trainers' championship--his five winners on the day putting him on 108 for the season, with English-born Al Shahania trainer Julian Smart his closest pursuer with 30--and the winner's connections have bold ambitions for him to fly the flag for Qatar on the international stage in the months to come. Dubday may next be seen in the G2 Dubai Gold Cup on the Dubai World Cup card, with Al Shaqab's Racing Manager Harry Herbert also outlining plans for potential appearances at Royal Ascot and in the Qatar Goodwood Cup.

Al Boenain outlined plans for a new racecourse in Qatar, which is likely to be a step up in size from the friendly and easily navigable Al Rayyan, though not on the extraordinary scale of Meydan.

"We are looking for a bigger grandstand and a new track for the future and that's in progress now," says Al Boenain. "We are still planning it. First, the location is very important and secondly we need to have a good design for it. We want to make it a friendly track so people are close to the horses and can see the horses and feel like they are at the races. We've visited beautiful racetracks all over the world and we are looking for a design which will keep the spirit of racing for people coming to the track."

He continued, "We are not looking for a huge track -- Qatar's population is not that big and we don't want to build a racetrack for just one day--we want to build one that suits all our racing season. We want to keep this racetrack [Al Rayyan] but also build something else so we have options--a different track gives different opportunities to the horses."

A new racecourse is not the only racing-related project on the go in Qatar. Phase one of a new breeding farm to the north of the country, named Al Zabara, has now been completed, with the eventual facilities set to include a stallion yard and an auction house.

"It will accommodate about 600 horses," says Al Boenain. "We have all the latest technology and all the facilities needed to breed the best horses here in Qatar--mostly Arabians.

"There's also a plan for a training center which could take up to 3,000 horses," he added. "There are many plans for the future and it's good to have all the people here from all over the world to see what we would like to achieve. Qatar is developing very fast."

Indeed, visitors to last year's festival testify that the country has already changed noticeably in 12 months. The guest list this time around included a number of Al Shaqab's European trainers--Criquette Head, Richard Hannon, Kevin Ryan, John Quinn, William Haggas, Luca Cumani, Sir Michael Stoute and John Gosden among them, while Todd Pletcher was also in attendance. The Australian party included Paul Messara and Jon Freyer of Arrowfield Stud and Bob Scarborough, Chairman of Moonee Valley Racing Club, while IFHA Chairman Louis Romanet headed a sizeable French contingent and MV Magnier and Richard Henry represented Coolmore.

Through its various royal family members and other prominent owners, Qatar is already well represented with runners around the globe and this week it has succeeded in its ambition to show racing's international representatives its serious intention for the country to become a significant racing nation in its own right.

- Two-time champion steeplechase jockey succeeds J.R. Walsh at the Pons family's Maryland training center.
- "Lots of steeplechase jockeys have made a successful transition into training," said McCarron. "Barclay Tagg, Tom Skiffington, Jimmy Murphy, and Jonathan Sheppard all rode over fences before becoming trainers. I hope to follow in their footsteps."
- Christy Holden, broodmare manager at the Pons's Country Life Farm, has been promoted to General Manager of both farms.
- "By hiring Matt and promoting Christy, we offer our customers knowledgeable horse people with excellent communication skills," said Josh Pons.

INDUSTRY INFO

ABR Announces Equine Art Challenge:

America's Best Racing announced the inaugural Equine Art Challenge yesterday in a release. Artists of all ages and skill levels are invited to compete for a $400 first prize and the chance to have their work exhibited at a major racing event in ABR's open-call, juried online art competition of works related to horses and horse racing. The top 10 finalists as chosen by the independent panel of judges--consisting of an artist, an arts writer and a curator--will have their work exhibited at AmericasBestRacing.net and the winner will be profiled in an ABR feature. The winning works will be selected by guest jurors Miranda Lash, Curator of Contemporary Art at the Speed Art Museum in Louisville, Ky.; Cameron Shaw, Executive Director and Founding Editor of Pelican Bomb, a contemporary visual arts organization based in New Orleans; and Edward Waites, a successful young equine sculptor based in England. Entries are being accepted through June 8. The top 10 finalists will be displayed at www.AmericasBestRacing.net from July 6-17 and the winner will be announced July 21. "I'll never forget the day, nearly eight years ago, when a woman named Lisa called from Frank Aubrey Insurance and asked us if we had room for a horse named Williamstown," recalled Old Friends founder and president Michael Blowen. "I was thrilled. I had visited Williamstown years earlier at Saratoga when Peter Vestal trained him. Over the years, his kind owner, Peter Willmott visited Williamstown many times and was a generous supporter... Like his sire, Seattle Slew, Williamstown knew he could be very imperious. But he earned it, and he'll be missed."

Volatile was a 16 1/2-length winner on debut over the all-weather in his native Sweden Sept. 17, and shipped to Newmarket a month later to be a respectable third, beaten 1 3/4 lengths, on the turf in the G3 Cornwallis S. to round out his European campaign. A flat fifth in the UAE 2000 Guineas Trial on the dirt Jan. 15, Volatile was a much-improved second, beaten a half-length, when returned to the turf for the Meydan Classic Trial over this track and trip three weeks ago. Running third, about two lengths off the pace, on the rail early, Volatile found a clear opening at the top of the lane. He worked his way to the lead inside the final 100 meters under a drive from William Buick to earn his first black-type score. "I am absolutely delighted," said winning trainer Jessica Long after recording her first victory in the UAE. "We were hopeful of a big run as he ran really well behind Mastermind in the 1400 meter trial for this race and we hoped the extra 200 meters was in our favor. William has given him a great ride and this is a massive result for our yard and Sweden." Click for the Racing Post result. VIDEO.

Despite the highest draw in the field of 14, Dubday called upon his class to win the Emir's Trophy for the second year running and remain undefeated in six tries since being imported to Qatar. A runner-up in Group 3 company in Germany in 2013, the strong-looking chestnut repaid some of his lofty sales tag with a victory in the Qatar Derby in his local debut and

Frankie Dettori and Harry Herbert with Dubday and the winning connections

announced his true presence with a 3/4-length defeat of Peter Anders in this race 12 months back. Disaster struck in the G1 Dubai Sheema Classic when he encountered trouble behind the stricken Mars (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) into the first turn, became detached from the field and was eased three furlongs out. First-up winner of a local Group 2 over 2000 meters Dec. 4, Dubday defeated former John Oxx trainee Ponfeigh by a half-length in the Qatar Gold Trophy over 2200 meters Feb. 5 and had that rival to deal with in the closing stages yesterday as well. Ridden along from the gates to gain some sort of position, Dubday settled behind midfield and about three away from the rail, but with cover as they turned up the back straight. He began to improve midway on the turn and was steered out into the clear at the 400-meter marker as Peter Anders led narrowly from Ponfeigh. The grey rival poked his head in front late, but Dubday was able to dig deep to get home first. The victory was the fifth on the program for trainer Jassim Al Ghazali, while Al Shaqab Racing also landed the QR3-million (US$823,872) Emir's Sword for Arabians, Qatar's richest race, in the day's finale. Dubday will likely make his next appearance on Dubai World Cup night in the G2 Dubai Gold Cup. Dubday is the sixth consecutive Arqana graduate to win the Emir's Trophy. VIDEO.
