THREE CHIMNEYS TO STAND SMARTY JONES

After weeks of speculation and negotiation, Roy and Patricia Chapman have chosen Three Chimneys Farm near Midway, Kentucky, as the future home for their dual Classic winner Smarty Jones (Elusive Quality). The farm, owned by Robert Clay, will purchase and syndicate a 50-percent interest in the future stallion and the Chapmans will retain 50 percent. No price was disclosed. "It will truly be our privilege to provide Smarty Jones his home upon retirement and to maximize his opportunities to be a success as a stallion," commented Three Chimneys' President Dan Rosenberg. "He is an extraordinary racehorse, by a world-record setting miler, and he is directly descended from La Troienne. We're excited about him as a stallion. I can't wait to see what Smarty does next on the racetrack, but I also can't wait to see his babies."

The Long and Winding Road...

With the assistance of Bridlewood Farm's George Isaacs, the Chapmans visited 10 farms in Central Kentucky in the week following Smarty Jones' loss in the Belmont S. and the choices were narrowed to three this past week. On Thursday it was announced that a decision had been reached. Mrs. Chapman admitted that the process had been a taxing one. "Everyone in Kentucky was so nice to us that this became a difficult decision," she explained. "But Three Chimneys was such a great fit. They are used to having the public visit their horses like Seattle Slew, Silver Charm and Point Given. They believe in limiting a stallion's book of mares and they are experienced in standing an important horse and making him a success as a sire. It's really just a great fit." A stud fee has yet to be announced.

MACHIAVELLIAN DIES

Machiavellian (Mr. Prospector--Coup de Folie, by Halo), the sire of two Dubai World Cup winners, was euthanized yesterday. The 17-year-old stallion was withdrawn from stud duties early in the spring while suffering from laminitis. Europe's champion juvenile of 1989, Machiavellian captured the G1 Prix Morny and G1 Prix de la Salamandre and was second in the 1990 G1 English 2000 Guineas. He stood his entire stud career at Darley's Dalham Hall Stud in Newmarket, England. On the racetrack, he has been represented by

Machiavellian www.darley.co.uk

Group/Grade I winners Storming Home (GB), Medicean (GB), Street Cry (Ire), Almutawakel (GB), Best of the Bests (Ire), Right Approach (GB), Invermark (GB), Rebecca Sharp (GB), Vettori (Ire), Patavellian (Ire) and Titus Livius (Fr). Almutawakel captured the 1999 running of the Dubai World Cup, while Street Cry won the 2002 renewal of the prestigious event. Machiavellian has sired 47 stakes winners and the earners of over $28 million. "He's been a terrific stallion, one whose influence will be with us for years to come through his sons and daughters," said Liam O'Rourke, managing director of Dalham Hall Stud. "But above all else, he was a lovely animal."

SEE THE LIGHT

Facing 10 rivals in tomorrow's G1 Irish Derby at The Curragh the Weinstock Family's North Light (Ire) (Danehill) will try to become the third colt to complete the Irish/Epsom Derby double in the last four years. Despite heavy rain at the Kildare venue on Tuesday, connections of the English Classic hero expressed themselves satisfied with the conditions ahead of the attempt. "It was fine, lovely ground and I was very happy with it," Ballymacoll Stud Manager Peter Reynolds told PA Sport after walking the course. "The colt won on soft ground at York [in the G2 Dante S.], but that doesn't mean he necessarily needs easy conditions. If it got very soft that might not be a good thing as he's such a good-actioned horse." cont. p2

Will the Beat Go On?...

Trainer John Servis, in conjunction with the Chapmans, has mapped out a three-race summer/fall schedule to get Smarty Jones to his ultimate goal, the GI Breeders' Cup Classic at Lone Star Oct. 30. The Chapmans had previously indicated their desire to keep the colt in training at four and yesterday's agreement leaves open that possibility. "In no way does this signal Smarty's retirement," Roy Chapman confirmed. Three Chimneys has agreed to allow the Chapmans to retain control of all racing decisions regarding Smarty Jones and the decision to retire the colt will be the Chapmans' alone. The chestnut will be bred to no more than 110 mares and there is also a stipulation in the agreement that Smarty Jones will not be shuttled to the Southern Hemisphere for breeding purposes.

Just the Latest Classic Winner at Three Chimneys...

Smarty Jones is not the only dual Classic winner that will be residing at Three Chimneys. The home of the late Seattle Slew for the final 17 years of his career, the farm also houses 2001 Horse of the Year, the Preakness and Belmont winner Point Given as well as Silver Charm, who saw his Triple Crown bid crumble in the 1997 Belmont S. Three Chimneys owner Robert Clay is looking forward to the addition of Smarty Jones. "We are grateful for this awesome responsibility," he commented. "This is a very special horse in so many ways. The Chapmans and the Servises have earned the gratitude of the entire racing world by the way they have served the needs of the press, and the public and Smarty Jones all at the same time. We hope, and plan, to do just as good a job as they have done." And Smarty's adoring fans are cordially invited. "We have always welcomed fans to Three Chimneys Farm and look forward to sharing Smarty Jones with his public."

☆ IRISH DERBY ☆

DAY FLIES, MAY NOT RUN Significant drying of the ground may mean the defection of Juddmonte Farms' G1 Prix du Jockey-Club fourth Day Flight (GB) (Sadler's Wells). Khalid Abdullah's Racing Manager Teddy Grimthorpe told PA Sport yesterday, "Day Flight is on his way to Ireland, but we will certainly be looking at the ground before we give him the green light to run. The ground was too firm for him at Chantilly. He doesn't want any jar on Sunday, but we are encouraged by a favorable forecast, which suggests that considerable rain will arrive. As long as that happens everything will be fine for him. However, if it did come up very fast he definitely wouldn't run." With Godolphin's Rule of Law (Kingmambo), Neil Jones' Let The Lion Roar (GB) (Sadler's Wells) and the Sangster Family's Percussionist (Ire) (Sadler's Wells) in the line-up, the race will feature the first four across the line at Espom. On the home front, Dermot Weld will be represented by English and Irish 2000 Guineas place-getter Grey Swallow (Ire) (Daylami {Ire}), while Aidan O'Brien is responsible for a team of five, including last Friday's G2 King Edward VII S. scorer Five Dynasties (Danehill) and last Thursday's Listed Hampton Court S. winner Moscow Ballet (Sadler's Wells).

MOTHER GOOSE S.-GI, $300,000, 3yo, f, 1 1/8m

PP	HORSE	SIRE	TRAINER	ODDS
1	Daydreaming	A.P. Indy	McGaughey	8-1
2	Stellar Jayne	Wild Rush	Lukas	15-1
3	Island Sand	Tabasco Cat	Jones	2-1
4	Ashado	Saint Ballado	Pletcher	8-5
5	Miss Coronado	Coronado's Quest	Frankel	8-1
6	Society Selection	Coronado's Quest	H Jerkens	3-1

What this afternoon's first leg of New York's Triple Tiara may lack in numbers, it surely makes up in quality, as three Grade I winners, including the top two home in the Apr. 30 GI Kentucky Oaks, face the starter. A leading two-year-old filly of her generation, Ashado took the GI Spinaway S. and finished runner-up to champion Halfbridled in the GI Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies before ending the year with a nose victory in the GII Demoiselle S. The dark bay returned from her four-month vacation to take the GII Fair Grounds Oaks in New Orleans Mar. 6 and was second to Madcap Escapade in the GI Ashland S. Apr. 3 prior to winning the Oaks by 1 1/4 lengths over Island Sand. The latter, purchased privately before her win in Aqueduct's Busanda S. Jan. 25, was second to House of Fortune in the Apr. 9 GII Fantasy S. at Oaklawn in her first start for her new trainer Larry Jones, who was hardly disappointed in his filly's Oaks performance in her next effort. "She didn't break real sharp from the gate," he explained. "She hopped and kind of got squeezed back and shuffled back a lot further than we wanted to be. There was a very good chance we weren't going to beat Ashado that day, but we had a very good trip once we got out and got to run." In her most recent effort, Island Sand made a victorious return to the Big Apple, taking the June 4 GI Acorn S. by 1 3/4 lengths over a hard-charging Society Selection. The latter, upset winner of last year's GI Frizette S. at this track, has been consistent this term, with a win in the GIII Comely S. Apr. 9 from four trips to the post.

Chorist stamped herself as one of the best older fillies in training in 2003 with a highly impressive success in the G3 Blandford S. over course and distance in September and returns to contest the first running of this race as a Group 1 contest. She had knocked heads with subsequent G1 Prix de l'Opera winner Zee Zee Top (GB) when second in the Listed Middleton S. at York last May before taking the Listed Hoppings S. at Newcastle the following month. She beat this year's G2 Windsor Forest S. scorer Favourable Terms (GB) in the G3 Golden Daffodil S. at Chepstow last July before disappointing when last of eight in the G1 Yorkshire Oaks at York the following month. Her Blandford rout was followed by another disappointment when third in the G3 Princess Royal S. at Ascot in October, but that mile and a half stretched her stamina and she demonstrated her speed when winning the Listed Pipalong S. over a mile on her return at Pontefract last time June 7. Alexander Goldrun has developed into Ireland's best sophomore filly, following successes in the Listed Park Express S. at this track Mar. 21 and G3 1000 Guineas Trial at Leopardstown May 9 with a fine one-length second to Attraction (GB) in the G1 Irish 1000 Guineas back here May 23. She met another top-class rival in Lattice (Ire) when a fine fourth in a strong renewal of the G1 Prix de Diane (French Oaks) at Chantilly last time June 13 and rates a major threat. Soldera put up a much improved performance when third behind Favourable Terms in the G2 Windsor Forest at Royal Ascot last time June 16, but has to progress again to trouble the main duo.

Should he run in this spot, Master David would be making his first start on the turf since breaking his maiden over the surface at Thirsk last Sept. 13. The winner of the Sham S. in February and runner-up in the GI Wood Memorial, the chestnut was 12th in the Kentucky Derby, third in the GII Peter Pan S. three weeks later and seventh in the June 5 GI Belmont S. He also holds an entry for the GIII Virginia Derby July 10 and could wait for that spot. The event has attracted a strong supporting cast, including Icy Atlantic and Commendation, first and second, respectively, in the GIII Jersey Derby at Monmouth Park May 31, as well as Timo, a three-time stakes winner on the turf.

Trained by Jason Orman, the bay colt carries a three-race winning streak into this event, including a four-length victory in the GIII Will Rogers S. at this track May 22. He is reunited this afternoon with jockey Mike Smith, who guided the colt to his Mar. 27 maiden score at Santa Anita. Greek Sun is perfect in two career starts, but makes his first appearance since winning the Hill Rise S. at Santa Anita Dec. 29.

KEEPING It Real
By Andy Belfiore

Kentucky Equine Educational Partnership, created to educate the people of Kentucky about the horse industry and to unite the horsemen in the state, held its first official meeting May 26 with an estimated 600 people in attendance. Former Kentucky Governor Brereton Jones, one of the guiding lights behind KEEP, explains how the organization got started and how it will benefit the Kentucky horse industry.

Q: What was the catalyst behind the creation of KEEP?
Gov. Brereton C. Jones: Several people collectively came up with the idea. We were talking about how sad it was that the Kentucky horse lobby is one of the weakest lobbies in the state and we decided we needed to do something about that. We realized that the lobby was weak because we were not united with all of the various breeds. Thoroughbreds make up less than half the horses in the state--there are actually more Quarter Horses in Kentucky than Thoroughbreds. We wanted to unite the industry, because strength comes from numbers. We also wanted to start a grass roots campaign to educate the people of Kentucky about our industry. The key to all success in life is education.

Q: Why do the citizens of Kentucky need to be educated about the horse industry?
Jones: Once the people of Kentucky understand the economic importance of the horse industry, when they are made aware of the jobs and the economic opportunities it provides, they will become supportive of the industry. Right now, the average citizen thinks that horse people are all wealthy, with big houses and big farms, and that they don't need any special help or considerations. The truth is, the average person in our industry is not wealthy. The jobs directly and indirectly tied to what is a $4 billion-plus industry are overlooked by the majority of people.

Q: How will the KEEP message be spread?
Jones: We are going to educate people through a grass roots effort. We will have a chairperson in each of our 120 counties and we are in the process of developing a video that will demonstrate the importance of our industry. We are also creating a Speakers' Bureau--our speakers will appear before every Lion's Club, every Rotary Club, every Kiwanis Club, every civic group in the state. We will tell them our story, and they will understand why their lives will be better off if they preserve, protect and defend the horse industry.

Q: Why is KEEP vital to the industry?

Jones: First and foremost, we need it to educate the people of Kentucky. We also need to rally the horsemen. One of the great things about our state is that pride runs deep in the souls of Kentuckians, and that generates a lot of positive thinking, which is necessary to succeed in any endeavor. By the same token, it can sometimes inspire complacency and a feeling that we are the best and always will be the best, but that won't always be true if we aren't willing to roll up our sleeves and do the work to meet the competition. History has a way of repeating itself. In 1960, the Standardbred industry in Kentucky was extremely strong. It was the Standardbred capitol of America. But several other states set out to steal the industry from Kentucky. They established breeders' awards and stallion awards, and Kentucky did not meet the competition. In 1960, there were 206 Standardbred stallions in Kentucky--today, there are six. Other states are in the process of trying to duplicate that in the Thoroughbred industry, and it would be extremely sad if that were allowed to happen.

Q: How will the support of horsemen and of the citizens of Kentucky translate into prosperity for the horse industry in the state?

Jones: We need to go from being the weakest lobby to being the strongest. When we can get the support of the horsemen and the citizens, we can go to talk to the senators and the representatives with the support of the people who put them in office. Those people will help lobby for the legislation we need. That should be extremely effective.

Q: Are you pleased by the response to KEEP from the horse industry?

Jones: We have had a great response so far, much greater than we could have expected. We have a strong representation already, and we are reaching out even farther. We already have a board of 20 people from a variety of different horse breeds--the last two spots were filled by a member of the American Saddlebred Association and a member of the U.S. Equine Federation--and we have had hundreds of e-mails from people wanting to join.

Brereton and Libby Jones
www.airdriestud.com

Q: What can horsemen do to help?

Jones: We need the horsemen to contribute their time and their money. They can donate their time in many ways. Our Speakers' Bureau will be in every county in the state, we will be giving thousands of speeches to show the economic significance of the horse industry and to answer questions. Volunteering to deliver those speeches is just one way horsemen could help. We also need financial contributions. Organizing our grass roots campaign will involve significant expenses, and we will also need to go on television and radio to get behind specific pieces of legislation that are important to us. It is very much like a grass roots political campaign.

Q: How can people get in touch with KEEP?

Jones: We have a website at www.equinealliance.com, and, after July 1, we will have a staff in place. Next week, we will announce our executive director, our equine director and our operating director. We will be setting up an office at the Kentucky Horse Park. Our mailing address is P.O. Box 1597, Lexington, KY 40588.

Azeri Said to Have Bled in Phipps:

Azeri (Jade Hunter), last of four in last weekend's GI Ogden Phipps H. at Belmont Park, bled "fairly significantly" during the race, trainer D. Wayne Lukas said. The Horse of the Year in 2002 and champion older female the last two seasons, the six-year-old mare was having her fourth start for the Lukas barn since being transferred to the Hall of Fame trainer over the winter. "I don't know if that's been her history or not," Lukas told the Louisville Courier-Journal. "When I got her, I got her cold. I think it's fixable and we'll be all right." The conditioner said Azeri could be pointed for the GI Go For Wand H. at Saratoga Aug. 1, a race which is also expected to attract Phipps winner Sightseek (Distant View).

The chestnut filly was purchased privately last week by William Heiligbrodt and Walter New and was transferred to the barn of David Fawkes. Aclassysassylassy graduated by 12 lengths in her lone trip to the post June 5, covering the 4 1/2 furlongs in :52 4/5, just one tick slower than the time needed by Yes It's Gold.

PA Slots Issue Likely to Pass State Senate:

After reaching an agreement "in principle" Wednesday to legalize slot machines in the state of Pennsylvania, it was reported yesterday that up to 29 state senators are prepared to vote in favor of the legislation when it comes up next week. A total of 26 votes are needed for passage, but as many as 30 "yea" votes could be counted should a Pittsburgh-area legislator, who wants an OTB facility for the city, votes in favor. The plan agreed to Wednesday night calls for 3,000 slot machines to be placed at up to 12 sites in the state, eight of which may be race tracks, and up to five at off-track facilities.

Cooksey Calls it a Career:

Jockey Patricia "P.J." Cooksey, who in recent years has overcome a battle with breast cancer and injuries suffered in a nasty spill at Keeneland in 2003, has retired from the saddle following Thursday's live racing program at Churchill Downs. The 46-year-old, the second-leading female rider in history, completed her career with a third-place finish in the second race. "It's the old bittersweet--but I feel like the bitter is a lot worse than the sweet," Cooksey said, fighting back tears. "I'm sad, I'm real sad." Having registered her first career victory in 1979 at West Virginia's Waterford Park, she retires with 2,137 victories from 18,266 career mounts.

RHYTHM RACES ON

Cheveley Park Stud's Russian Rhythm (Kingmambo) will continue her racing career after examinations revealed that a leg injury is not as serious as first thought. Rumors had suggested that the four-year-old could be retired, but the four-time Group 1 winner will return to training after a scan revealed that she has merely suffered a strain to her off-fore suspensory ligament. After remarking that the scan revealed "no serious lesion," Cheveley Park Stud's Managing Director Chris Richardson told the Racing Post, "We are expecting her to start trotting next week. Wear and tear does sometimes occur and, with any sort of hiccup, you can only really play things day by day, but at this point there has been no mention or discussion of retiring her."

JOCKEY SERIOUSLY INJURED

French jockey Anthony Carre remains in a critical condition at Paris' Georges Pompidou hospital after suffering serious head injuries a fall at Maisons-Laffitte Wednesday. Carre was transported to the hospital in the company of the police after attempts to airlift him by helicopter were abandoned due to high winds. The 19-year-old was thrown from his mount Midsou (Fr) during the Prix de Pringy, an incident that brought current champion jockey Christophe Soumillon a 15-day suspension. Soumillon, a close friend of Carre, will miss Newmarket's July meeting and the G1 Grand Prix de Paris as a consequence of the ban.
