BOBBING FOR THE APPLETON

Buffalo Man (El Prado {Ire}) was able to take advantage of soft early splits to come from just off the pace and collect his first graded stakes victory in Sunday's

Adam Coglianese

GIII Appleton H. at Gulfstream Park. Settled in a stalking position behind GIII Miami Mile BC H. winner Jet Propulsion (Double Honor), who carved out pedestrian early fractions of :23.17, :47.90 and 1:12.03, the Canadian-bred colt took aim and caught that rival at the sixteenth pole. With a head of steam, the 3-1 co-favorite was good enough to post a 1/2-length victory over the slow-closing effort of Elusive Fort (SAf) (Fort Wood), with the early pacesetter another half-length back in third. Also sent off at 3-1, Host (Chi) (Hussonet), who was making his last start stateside before heading to Australia for stud duty, was far off the early pace in 10th, was forced wide turning for home and closed well, but could only finish fourth, a head short of the show spot. cont. p2

SANTA ANITA LOSES TWO MORE DAYS

After getting a brief reprieve to host Saturday's Sunshine Millions program, the weather gods raged once again Saturday night into Sunday, forcing Santa Anita Park officials to cancel Sunday's and Monday's race cards. Originally scheduled for Sunday's card was the GI Santa Monica H., featuring the return of GI Breeders' Cup Distaff runner-up Hystericalady and defending champ Pussycat Doll. The seven-furlong event has been rescheduled for Saturday, Feb. 2. Continued rain and thunderstorms passing through the area on Sunday--and with a forecast of much of the same--prompted the decision to cancel racing, bringing to seven the number of racing days lost during the current meet. The Arcadia oval, which installed the Cushion Track surface in 2007, has been facing drainage problems with the new surface. However, Santa Anita Park President Ron Charles feels confident that the problem will be corrected with the addition of the Australian-based Pro-Ride polymer binder. "All the material is here," said Charles. "We just can't take a chance of putting it down and the track not being consistent. It is such an important process. Everyone who has seen it--the trainers, the jockeys--are so optimistic that this will absolutely not only fix our drainage problem, but give us a kinder and safer race track." According to Charles, racing will proceed from Thursday, Jan. 31 through Sunday, Feb. 3, closing Sunday night for renovation. It is hoped that racing can resume Friday, Feb. 8 or Saturday, Feb. 9.

at Santa Anita, exited the race in good order, according to trainer Carla Gaines. "She's fine--I think she was just a victim of a slow pace [splits of :25.06, :50.58, 1:14.53 and 1:37.72] and maybe a little bit of a misjudged ride," she explained. "The next stride after the wire, she was in front." Gaines added, "But you know what? [Quite a Bride] ran great. She got the jump on me, and that was that." As for the five-year-old's next start, Gaines said, "We'll have to see how she comes out and figure out from there."

PYRO LIKELY FOR RISEN STAR Pyro (Pulpit), runner-up to War Pass in the GI Breeders' Cup Juvenile at Monmouth Park Oct. 27, looks likely to make his seasonal debut in the GIII Risen Star S. at the Fair Grounds Feb. 9. "He picked it up nicely this week, and he has a couple of works before the race," trainer Steve Asmussen told Daily Racing Form. Asmussen indicated that the Feb. 18 Southwest S. was also a possibility. The three-year-old worked Thursday, going five furlongs in 1:00.60. In the 1 1/16-mile Risen Star, the bay is expected to be joined by stablemate Z Fortune (Siphon {Brz}), winner of the Jan. 12 GIII Lecomte S.

Plight of the Buffalo...

A winner in his first two career starts at Monmouth Park at two, Buffalo Man came from off the pace to finish a close-up third in the GIII Sapling S. A well-beaten eighth behind winner Scat Daddy in the GI Champagne S. at Belmont Park, the bay closed out his juvenile season with an impressive 7 3/4-length score going 1m70yds in the Meadowland's Storm Cat S. Cut back to six furlongs for his three-year-old debut in the Spectacular Bid S. over this track last January, he followed up with a score in the 1 1/16-mile restricted OBS Championship Feb. 12. Given some time off following an ankle injury, the $190,000 Adena Springs sale purchase returned to action with a second in the one mile Wild Again S. at the Big A. Nov. 1 before finishing seventh after displacing his palate in the nine-furlong GIII Discovery H. Nov. 24. Tried on the grass for the first time most recently in the 7 1/2-panel Peter Axthelm S. at Calder Dec. 29, the Canadian-bred closed from well off the pace to be beaten only a half length by Fearless Eagle (Invisible Ink).

Owner/breeder Albert Fried, Jr. and trainer Richard Schosberg have been a hot team in the last few months and came up with another New York-bred stakes winner here. Run With the Lark was given plenty of time to clear the NW2X level for statebreds, and finally did so by a wide margin over this strip in early December. Ninth to Naughty New Yorker in the Alex M. Robb H. Dec. 30, he rebounded with a good runner-up effort facing open allowance foes Jan. 16. A 7-1 outsider in his return to stakes company, the gelding, with Noberto Arroyo, Jr. in the irons, allowed R Clear Victory a free and easy lead through the opening three-quarters, but reeled in that foe in upper stretch and, after dueling with that one in the lane, was going away late.

Yankee Bravo kicked off his career the right way for trainer Ann Duffield, scoring by six lengths at Redcar in England Sept. 6. Moved to Paddy Gallagher's barn for his next start, the result was the end same, although the Kentucky-bred colt had to work a lot harder to collect a half-length victory in the one-mile Eddie Logan S. at Santa Anita Dec. 29. Well supported while adding a sixteenth of a mile, the dark bay stumbled at the start, spotting the field a few strides. Undaunted, the muscular colt ranged up to leader Victory Pete in the stretch, and proved best while under a drive. In spite of himself, Cafe Tortoni made it up for second, while Victory Pete held on for third.

Backed down to even-money favoritism here, the $90,000 KEESEP yearling and $210,000 FTFEB juvenile stalked the early pace in third, took over a sixteenth out and drove home a four-length winner over Trilliant (Tribal Rule). ## WRITERS UP

RACING'S POLICY ON WEARING ADS JUST SILLY

By Bill Finley, courtesy ESPN.com

When Jeremy Rose appeared on the track for the 2005 Kentucky Derby with an advertisement for the gambling web site ParadisePoker.com on his pants, the industry reacted with collective wrath. Never mind that Rose's fee for wearing that advertisement was donated to pediatric cancer research. Rose had crossed Big Brother and Big Brother was going to make him pay. The jockey was fined $5,000 and handed a 15-day suspension.

It was a heavy-handed penalty, too heavy-handed for Rose, the rider of Afleet Alex. He is fighting back. His attorney recently filed a petition in a Kentucky court to declare unconstitutional the state regulation governing the wearing of advertisements on jockeys' apparel. Lawyer Michael Goodwin contends that the rule violates Rose's right to free speech. Good for Jeremy Rose. Maybe now something can be done about racing's silly and counter-productive policies on jockeys wearing ads. cont. p8

Kentucky isn't alone. Most states have some sort of regulations in place that either prevents jockeys from wearing ads or restricting what they can wear. In Rose's case, Churchill Downs objected to a jockey promoting an Internet poker site, reasoning that it was a competitor of Yobet.com, which was, back then, affiliated with Churchill. Apparently, Rose didn't take the proper steps with the proper people to get approval for the improper ad. Kent Desormeaux and Corey Nakatani were also penalized for daring to wear something on their pants without getting all the i's dotted and t's crossed.

That's just for the pants. No one has tried to wear an advertisement on his or her silks. I guess jockeys and owners figure they'd never get away with that because of racing's very strict rules on what riders can and cannot put on their outfits.

The thing is, not only should the sport let jockeys wear whatever they want (as long as the ads don't violate the tenets of good taste), racing should encourage it.

Racing certainly can't go wrong by copying everything that NASCAR has done. There's not one NASCAR driver that doesn't have ads plastered all over their jumpsuits and cars. Not only are the drivers and the teams they represent making serious money off the ads, the ads are actually part of the appeal of the sport. They help children and adults alike to identify their favorite products with their favorite drivers and vice versa.

My eight-year-old son started to follow NASCAR because he likes M&M's. What eight-year-old kid doesn't? He noticed that David Gilliland's suit and car are adorned with large M & M's logos and he watches races to root for the M&M's car. Might he, and thousands of kids like him, be more interested in horse racing if there was an M & M's horse to root for in the Kentucky Derby?

That, of course, would mean that ads would have to be worn not only on jockey pants but also on jockey silks. And why shouldn't they? If I'm an owner, say Robert La Penta, what right does Churchill Downs, The Jockey Club or the Kentucky Horse Racing Authority have to tell me I can't put whatever I want on the jockey's silks should War Pass run in the Kentucky Derby. It's La Penta's silks and La Penta's horse. He might have to enter into an agreement with the jockey to make it fly, but why shouldn't he be able to cash in on the horse's fame?

TDN Euro is:

- Italy: Giorgio Barsotti

Why shouldn't War Pass' silks be adorned with an M&M's or Coca-Cola logo or even the message "Eat at Joe's Bar & Grille" in the Kentucky Derby or in any other race he participates in? Maybe, by being introduced to racing through placing ads on War Pass' silks, Coca-Cola, M&M's or whomever might want to get further involved in the sport, maybe by sponsoring races or taking out corporate tents at the Derby or Breeders' Cup.

It's well known that owning racehorses is, by and large, a losing proposition. If you gave owners the chance to make a few extra bucks by selling some ad space, maybe owners, overall, could fare better financially. Maybe that would induce a few more people to get involved in ownership, which, of course, would be good for the game.

At the very least, what harm could it possibly do to let jockeys wear whatever ads they want on their pants or to allow owners to take in a few bucks by allowing ads on the silks? And it might just do this sport some good. Go get 'em, Jeremy.
