NAHOODH BAGS FALMOUTH SUCCESS

Nahoodh (Ire) (Clodovil {Ire}), defeated in both the English and Irish 1000 Guineas in May, rebounded from a Royal Ascot reverse last time to land a career high in the G1 Falmouth S. at Newmarket. Surviving a stewards' enquiry before being confirmed the 10-1 winner, she quickened smartly and passed every rival in the closing stages to best Cheveley Park Stud's Infallible (GB) (Pivotal {GB}) by 1 3/4 lengths. The victory provided trainer Mark Johnston with his first group-race success of the campaign. Cont. p2

HEATSEEKER TO HILL 'N' DALE

Will de Burgh's Heatseeker (Ire) (Giant's Causeway--Rusty Back, by Defensive Play) will enter stud in 2009 at John G. Sikura's Hill 'n' Dale Farm in Lexington, Kentucky, after the farm purchased a "significant interest" in the five-year-old. "We feel Hill 'n' Dale is a great fit for Heatseeker," de Burgh said. "They have a staff of great horsemen and always service their customers in a first-class manner.

We have watched the success of Stormy Atlantic and the rest of their stallion roster and have been very impressed by the entire operation." Winner of his first two career starts and third to George Washington (Ire) in the 2005 G1 National S.,

under the care of trainer Jerry Hollendorfer, posting a breakthrough victory in last year's GIII Native Diver H. at Hollywood Park. Following his victory over Go Between and Champs Elysees (GB) in the GI Santa Anita H. Mar. 1, he was a dead-game runner-up to Tiago in the GII Oaklawn H. Apr. 5 and closed his career with a 5 1/4-length romp over that rival in the GII Californian S. at Hollywood Park May 31. The chestnut was scratched on the eve of the GI Hollywood Gold Cup June 28 and his retirement was announced two days later. "Heatseeker was a racehorse of great versatility and always ran in elite company," said Hill 'n' Dale President John Sikura. "He had a ton of speed and could carry this speed over any distance of ground. He is a robust, clean-legged horse with great power and balance from a pedigree that boasts 35 stakes horses and quite a few champions in the first three dams. We think he is a tremendous stallion prospect who should have enormous international appeal." Produced by a half-sister to GISW Spanish Fern, Heatseeker is also from the family of champions Mutakkarim (GB), Haafhd (GB) and Al Bahathri.

Successful for previous owner Jaber Abdullah in last August's G2 Lowther S. at York, Nahoodh tuned up for her sophomore campaign with a 10th in the Apr. 19 G3 Fred Darling S. at Newbury. The grey filly suffered late traffic problems that compromised her chance of Classic glory in the G1 1000 Guineas at Newmarket May 4, winding up fifth, then posted a lackluster effort in the colors of her new owner in the Irish equivalent at The Curragh May 25. Transferred to Mark Johnston's Middleham yard before a crack at the June 20 G1 Coronation S. at Royal Ascot, she ran sixth after adopting front-running tactics at Royal Ascot, but employed a waiting game to register a lifetime best here. Restrained in rear from flagfall, Nahoodh inched closer approaching the final quarter mile and was an ominous presence when arriving on the scene, full of run, at the distance. She settled the contest in a matter of strides soon after and quickened impressively up the climb to provoke jockey Frankie Dettori into punching the air at the line. "When we first got her we thought if we were going [have success], then we need to do something different," trainer Mark Johnston told PA Sport. "Our first approach was to let her bowl along, and I thought she ran well enough at Ascot, but Frankie said, 'come back to seven furlongs.' We didn't decide tactics for today, but we have been trying to get her to settle and relax. We were looking for a seven-furlong race, but the lure of a Group 1 was too much. She obviously gets a mile and there are richer pickings at that trip, so she will probably stay at a mile." Click for the Racing Post chart, the brisnet.com PPs or the free brisnet.com catalogue-style pedigree.

Rain, Rain Go Away...

The race lost some of its luster when likely favorite Darjina (Fr) (Zamindar) was a late withdrawal on an account of the rain-softened turf. Trainer Alain de Royer-Dupre deliberated long and hard before ultimately scratching last term's G1 Poule d'Essai des Pouliches victress, who may now point to the Sept. 9 G1 Prix du Moulin at Longchamp. "We love her too much to risk her," de Royer-Dupre told Racing Post.

Notable Showing...

The Cheveley Park Stud colors filled the board, courtesy of homebreds Infallible and Heaven Sent, much to the satisfaction of managing director Chris Richardson. "They've run blinders," Richardson told PA Sport. He added, "With Infallible, we might well consider dropping her back in trip and looking at options over six and seven furlongs. Heaven Sent has run a great race too, but the filly who won looked unlucky in the 1000 Guineas earlier this year, so that's just the way it goes."

Change of Scenery...

New Zealand's latest wonder filly Seachange (NZ) (Cape Cross {Ire}--Just Cruising {Aus}, by Broad Reach {Aus}) will now head to the breeding shed to commence a new career. Coming back from a 12th in the June 21 G1 Golden Jubilee S. at Royal Ascot, she ran a commendable fourth here. "If we hadn't seen so much rain we would have been closer, but we probably wouldn't have won," trainer Graeme Sanders told PA Sport. "I'm very proud of her. She was only put in the [G1] July Cup on Friday as a precaution, and will now be retired." Booked to Zabeel (NZ), Seachange compiled a record of 28-14-4-2 and earnings of over $1.25 million. She captured seven Group 1 events in her native land and reigned as champion three-year-old filly before being named Horse of the Year last season. Seachange is also a half-sister to Keepa Cruisin (NZ) (Keeper {Aus}), a Group 1 winner in New Zealand last summer.

HEAR MY SONG

Please Sing (GB) (Royal Applause {GB}) was undone when becoming upset in the stalls at the start of the June 20 G3 Albany S. at Royal Ascot, but bounced back in style to claim the G2 Cherry Hinton S. at Newmarket yesterday. Swooping late in the juvenile distaffers event, the 14-1 chance collared pacesetter Art Princess (Officer) nearing the line to register a 3/4-length success. "She worked well before Royal Ascot and we were disappointed with her run there," admitted jockey Eddie Creighton. "Luckily enough, she bounced back well today and won nicely. She's a nice filly."

Please Sing broke through on debut in a May 27 Leicester maiden, but was fractious before the June 20 Albany next time and finished a disappointing 11th in that Royal Ascot contest. Relishing the wet conditions in this return, she was settled in sixth after the early exchanges of this second pattern-race start. The bay was pushed along passing the two pole and sliced through the pack before swooping late to deny game pacesetter Art Princess nearing the line. "We thought she'd win at [Royal] Ascot," said conditioner Mick Channon. "She's a good filly and has proved it now, so we're delighted. I thought the [soft] ground would suit her, and it all went right for her this time." Click for the Racing Post chart, the brisnet.com PPs or the free brisnet.com catalogue-style pedigree.

"It was his best run in a Group 1 by far, and bodes well for the rest of the season. It's a bit frustrating when you know he's got to come with a wet sail, and he comes with bundles in the tank at the end. He takes a little bit of stoking up and, 50 yards past the line, he probably would have been there." Heading the opposition is Saturday's impressive G2 Lancashire Oaks heroine Anna Pavlova, who bids to become the first of her sex to win this since Height of Fashion (Fr) in 1982. "She was very impressive and we are happy with her," trainer Richard Fahey commented. "We are a little bit worried about coming back quick again, but the ground is going to be right for her and we have got to make hay. We have not hammered her on quick ground and that's why she's still around--she seems fine and soon recovered from Saturday." Godolphin rely on last year's G1 Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe third Sagara and Happy Boy, who both need to improve off unplaced efforts at Royal Ascot in the June 19 G1 Gold Cup and June 21 G2 Hardwicke S., respectively. Last year's G1 St Leger winner Lucarno bids to emulate Shantou, who returned to take this in 1997, a year after his Doncaster Classic victory. John Gosden, who was responsible for that past star, will be hoping that Lucarno can rebound from a sixth in the June 29 G1 Grand Prix de Saint-Cloud.

Papal Bull returns to defend his title. He proved with a fast-finishing fourth in his latest, the June 6 G1 Coronation Cup, that he remains a force to be reckoned with. That Epsom outing was his first since finishing seventh in the G1 Japan Cup in Tokyo in November, and the five-year-old will be bidding to provide Sir Michael Stoute with a seventh renewal. "He ran well at Epsom and we were very pleased with that," the Papal Bull syndicate's spokesman Gary Patchett said.

Prolific bids to build on his fine third behind South Central in the G2 Norfolk S. at Royal Ascot June 19, having won impressively on debut on the Rowley Mile here May 15 and finished runner-up to the smart Danehill Destiny (GB) in a conditions event at Windsor June 2. "He came out of Royal Ascot really well," Highclere Thoroughbred Racing's Harry Herbert told PA Sport. "It was a blisteringly fast pace over five furlongs and he ran very well to finish a close-up third. I think he told us then what we sort of expected, that he would potentially be much more effective over six furlongs. If it got soft, we may reconsider, but I suppose that's unlikely. He's a very good-actioned horse, so good or faster ground is what he ideally requires." Peter Chapple-Hyam, who has won two of the last four renewals with Captain Hurricane (GB) and Winker Watson (GB), puts forward Sayif, a short-head second on debut at Windsor on his sole start May 19. "He is stepping up in grade and it will be tough for him, but he has improved in his work since Windsor and will handle the ground if it is on the soft side," Chapple-Hyam said. "We think he is a nice prospect, and are looking forward to seeing what he can do." Richard Fahey relies on the York maiden winner Viva Ronaldo, who beat subsequent scorer Every Second (GB) convincingly in that June 13 contest. "Viva Ronaldo is in great order and is a busy little horse at home and on the track," Fahey said. "He actually wants a trip, but he doesn't know it yet, so we are stepping him up. The form is solid and he stays well-looking at his action, I feel the ground won't be a problem."

PASS GOES FOR JEAN PRAT Stonerside Stable's Raven's Pass (Elusive Quality) will tackle Sunday's G1 Abu Dhabi Sorouh Prix Jean Prat at Chantilly, trainer John Gosden confirmed yesterday. Runner-up in the G1 St James's Palace Stakes at Royal Ascot June 17, the homebred will face a maximum of 23 rivals in the mile contest after the latest forfeit stage promised a large field. "Raven's Pass worked nicely this morning and we are planning to run him, and Jimmy Fortune will ride," Gosden told Racing Post. "We are perfectly happy with the ground at the moment, but wouldn't want it to come up soft." Among the opponents could be the G1 Poule d'Essai des Pouliches first and second Falco (Pivotal {GB}) and Rio de la Plata (Rahy), while the Comic Strip Heroes's G2 Norfolk S. and G2 July S. winner Winker Watson (GB) (Piccolo {GB}) is set to make his seasonal debut for Peter Chapple-Hyam. Other notables among the home team include the Niarchos Family's G3 Prix Paul de Moussac hero Arcadia's Angle (Aldebaran), Sheikh Hamdan bin Rashid Al Maktoum's G3 Prix de Fontainebleau winner Tamayuz (GB) (Nayef) and Baron Edouard de Rothschild's G3 Prix Daphnis winner Indian Daffodil (Ire) (Hernando {Fr}).

A # will distinguish first-time stakes-winners, a @ will indicate first-time graded stakes-winners, a ▲ will denote a first-time Grade/Group 1 winner, a + will indicate first-time starters, an (S) will be used for state-bred races, a (C) will be used for maiden-claiming races and an (R) will be used for other restricted races.

NTRA REPORT FROM CAPITOL HILL

UPDATE ON NTRA'S NEWEST TAX ISSUE

The NTRA will introduce legislation this year to eliminate or substantially increase the threshold for Federal tax withholding on pari-mutuel winnings from the current $5,000 level. This "withholding conformity" legislation would put pari-mutuel wagering on par with other forms of gaming where there is no withholding and benefit not only horseplayers, but racetracks, horsemen and owners through increased handle and purses.

With the limited number of days remaining in the current Congressional session, the NTRA will focus on educating members of the House Ways and Means Committee about this tax issue that touches the entire industry.

In concert with this legislation, the NTRA soon will announce the Horseplayers' Coalition Advisory Panel. The Panel will help the association organize grass roots communications in support of passage of the withholding conformity bill. Earlier this year, the NTRA launched the Horseplayers' Coalition to engage horseplayers and race fans in the legislative process.

Please visit www.HorseplayersCoalition.com for updates on this and other issues affecting racetracks and their customers.

O'BRIEN NAMES OAKS QUARTET Aidan O'Brien will saddle at least four runners in Sunday's G1 Darley Irish Oaks at The Curragh, headed by Susan Magnier, Michael Tabor and Derrick Smith's G1 Epsom Oaks runner-up Moonstone (GB) (Dalakhani {Ire}). Ballydoyle will also be represented by the G3 Blue Wind S. winner Adored (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) and G3 Noblesse S. heroine Ice Queen (Ire) (Danahill Dancer {Ire}), as well as last Wednesday's Leopardstown maiden winner Gentle on my Mind (Ire) (Sadler's Wells). O'Brien told PA Sport, "Moonstone is in great form and has come on a good bit since Epsom. We're hoping for a big run from her."

ELUSIVE QUALITY COLT TOPS TATTS

WEDNESDAY An unnamed two-year-old Elusive Quality colt--a half-brother to top U.S. sprinter and successful sire Yes It's True--who missed his engagement at Tattersalls' Guineas Breeze-Up Sale in May, topped yesterday's second session of the company's July Sale in Newmarket. French agent Christophe

Elusive Quality darleystallions.com

Nouvellet signed the 55,000gns ticket for the bay colt, who went through the ring as lot 401. "He's for an existing client, and will either race in Europe or be shipped to the U.S.," said Nouvellet. "As a half-brother to Yes It's True, he could turn out to be a valuable horse." A $90,000 KEESEP yearling, the session topper was consigned from Jim McCartan's Co. Westmeath-based Gaybrook Lodge Stud. One lot later, a Cherokee Run colt out of a half-sister to champion New Approach (Ire) changed hands for 52,000gns when offered from Sherbourne Lodge. The bay had been slated to go under the hammer at the Craven Breeze-Up. But BBA Ireland agent Eamonn Reilly was the winning bidder yesterday. "He's going to Karl Burke and actually did a very good breeze, but had to be withdrawn from the Craven Breeze-Up in April," Reilly said. Three-year-old London Times (Ire) (Lomitas {GB}), lot 369, was sold for 50,000gns to owner Roger Brookhouse as a hurdling prospect, while Qatar-based trainer Ibrahim Saeed Al-Malki paid the same amount for sophomore Ramaad (GB) (Dr Fong), a maiden winner for Hamdan Al Maktoum. He went through the ring as lot 454. "He will come out to Qatar in October, and I hope he might be good enough to run at the Dubai Carnival," said Al-Malki, who oversees a 30-strong stable. The sales continues today with sessions at 9:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Complete results are available on www.tattersalls.com.

TATTERSALLS JULY - THURSDAY

602 Redolent (Ire), c, 3, Redback (GB)--Esterlina (Ire),
by Highest Honor (Fr)

Consigned by East Everleigh Stables

One of the picks of the horses in training on offer this week, Redolent was third in last year's G1 Criterium International. He recently registered an impressive win in the Listed Heron S. and finished runner-up in the G3 Grosser Preis der Wirtschaft at Dortmund.

610 Reel Gift (GB), f, 3, Reel Buddy--Its Another Gift (GB),
by Primo Dominie (GB)

Consigned by East Everleigh Stables

Another talented performer from the Richard Hannon yard, this half-sister to two stakes performers found only Visit (GB) too strong in last year's G3 Princess Margaret S. at Ascot.

626 Gaspar van Wittel, c, 3, Danehill Dancer (Ire)--
Akuna Bay, by Mr. Prospector

Consigned by Rathmoy Stables

Third in last year's G3 Solario S., this close relative to the recent Royal Ascot winner Sugar Ray (Ire) also finished runner-up in the Listed Easter S. in April. His second dam is the 1988 G1 Irish St Leger winner Dark Lomond (Ire), who also produced G1SP Gothic Dream (Ire).

734 Great Hawk, h, 5, El Prado (Ire)--Laser Hawk,
by Silver Hawk

Consigned by Freemason Lodge Stables

Nurtured by Sir Michael Stoute to date, this grandson of the top-class Picture Tube showed he retained ability with a third in the G3 Winter Derby on Lingfield's Polytrack in March.

THE MINOR DETAILS

Last November, Halsey Minor sat quietly toward the right side of Fasig-Tipton's Newtown Paddock sales pavilion. Alongside him was bloodstock agent Debbie Easter, who took care of the bidding duties as one of the stars of the Selected November Mixed Sale, the brilliant dual Grade I winner Dream Rush (Wild Rush), entered the ring. Easter saw off all challengers to land the coveted three-year-old for $3.3 million, the third-highest price of the evening. Halsey Minor had purchased his first horse.

Immediately after the sale, Minor, who looks younger than his 43 years, let Easter do the talking as several reporters made their way over to get quotes.

He was quiet as Easter explained Dream Rush's appeal and that she might well be kept in training to do what she didn't in 2007, win the Breeders' Cup Filly & Mare Sprint.

At that point, it would have been easy to cast Minor as a neophyte, a successful entrepreneur who made gobs of money in the dot-com boom of the 1990s and was taking on an expensive new hobby in racing.

Well, yes and no.

Minor did, in fact, make plenty of money as the founder of one of the earliest success stories on the internet, the website CNET, which focused on technology news and featured product reviews on tech devices such as laptop computers and digital cameras. Minor began CNET in 1992 and took the company public three years later when it was valued at $3 billion, according to one industry report. He left CNET at its peak in 2000, a year after it joined the elite NASDAQ 100, and moved on to other challenges. Today, Minor, who splits his time between San Francisco and Los Angeles, has an interest in a broad number of tech-based businesses, many collected under the banner of his venture capital firm Minor Ventures. He's a principal of the successful new site salesforce.com, and another of his companies is launching a multi-user internet-based game this fall. Oh, and to top it off, Minor's currently building a five-star hotel in the historic downtown section of his hometown of Charlottesville, Virginia.

But if you think that Minor is a new fan of racing, just testing out the waters, think again. Minor's interest in the sport is far from a passing fad. As a youngster in Virginia, his mother Susie bred and trained show horses, and his sister Raleigh became an accomplished

Halsey Minor

equestrian in her own right. Minor grew up following racing and was nine when another Virginia-bred, Secretariat, was re-writing the record books.

When talking about racing today, Minor, who has three children, ages 9, 10, and 11, from his first marriage, and a six-month-old from his second, as well as a six-year-old stepson, speaks with knowledge and passion about the issues facing the sport. Six years ago, he proposed, in a guest article in The Blood-Horse, the formation of a National Horse Racing League, an idea which featured, among other things, a Triple Crown-type event for four-year-olds.

"At that point, I figured that before I started buying horses, I ought to try and help fix some of the problems facing racing," explained Minor. While his dreams of a Racing League have yet to come to fruition, Minor did decide last year that the timing was right to jump into the game as an owner. He acquired a proven commodity in Dream Rush, and earlier this spring privately purchased the promising three-year-old colt Fierce Wind (Dixie Union) following his victory in the Sam F. Davis S. in mid-February. Sent off at 7-1 in the GI Florida Derby, Fierce Wind was in a good stalking position early, but stopped abruptly and struggled home 10th.

"We found out later that he bled," said Minor. "We think it was related to allergies and, hopefully, we've got it figured out now. I really like him a lot; I think he's going to be a really good horse. He's scheduled to go back into training in a week or so and he should be back for the three-year-old races in the fall."

Fierce Wind began his career with trainer Nick Zito, who saddled him in the Florida Derby, but has since been moved to Rick Violette Jr.'s barn. Violette developed Dream Rush last year and Minor has retained him as trainer.

Saturday, Dream Rush will go for her third win at the highest level at Calder in the GI Princess Rooney H. In her first start wearing the Minor Stables colors, Dream Rush tired late and finished second to Looky Yonder in the May 25 GI Vagrancy H. at Belmont. Minor was happy with her effort, and points out that she was spotting the winner weight that day.

"It's one of the things I hate about racing," Minor said about handicap races. "We take our stars and try to make them mediocre; we actually try and make them the lowest common denominator. Would the NBA put ankle weights on Michael Jordan because he was better than everyone else? Would they shorten Tiger Woods's golf clubs? It's ludicrous. It's why I'm running Dream Rush down at Calder; I knew that if I ran her in New York, they were going to heap the weight on her."

In addition to his racing prospects, Minor has a farm in Charlottesville named Fox Ridge, where he keeps his small but growing broodmare band (he purchased two broodmares last fall). He'd like to see the operation expand, but says that depends on success on the track.

"I don't want to have large numbers for the sake of having large numbers," he said. "If I can do well and build up the number of mares I have, great."

Minor also said he'd like to one day develop a stallion operation, but realizes the current state of the industry in Virginia precludes that.

"We have a lot of work to do here before that's possible," he said.

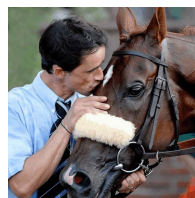

In addition to having Debbie Easter as an advisor, Minor also takes advantage of the horsemanship skills of his mother and sister, both of whom attend sales to short-list for Minor.

"They make a really good team--Debbie's a great complement--and we have a really great staff at Fox Ridge, as well," said Minor.

Last December, Minor, purchased another farm in Virginia, the historic 400-acre Carter's Grove plantation, for a reported $15.3 million, and has talked about the possibility of using the operation as a breeding facility.

But while Minor aspires to success as a Thoroughbred owner and breeder, what he really wants, he says, is to use his business acumen to help reinvigorate the sport.

"I work in San Francisco, and I sometimes drive past [Bay Meadows] in San Mateo," he said. "It used to be a really nice track, and soon it's going to be an office building. I watched it happen in my backyard, and what I'd really hate to see is for racing to be in such shape that all it's worth is the real estate the tracks sit on. Racing has reached the point where no one can look in the mirror and say there isn't a problem. It's an industry that has been allowed to decay. I'm useful enough and I have sufficient means and I'm sufficiently hard-headed enough to help drive whatever reforms are necessary. I mean, I'd love to win the Kentucky Derby just as much as the next guy, but what would make me happiest is to see 25,000 people, 25- to 40-year-olds, sitting in the stands at the tracks on the weekends." -L Marquardt

VINERY SHIFTS HORSES FROM ASMUSSEN

Tom Ludt, general manager of the Vinery, confirmed yesterday that the farm has decided to move its 19 horses in training with Steve Asmussen and has dispersed them among other trainers. "I get along with Steve, it's just that Vinery wants to make a change," Ludt explained. "By no means do I think that we won't have horses in the future with Steve. We do what we feel is in our best interests and we do what we have to do. We've been heavily concentrated with Steve and we're just spreading out. We're not trying to make it harder, we're just trying to win as much as possible." Trainers that have received or will receive horses from Vinery include Larry Jones and Mike Trombetta in the Midlantic, Doug O'Neill in California and Josie Carroll and Mike Stidham in the Midwest. Jones is the new conditioner of Vinery's Sovereign Award winner Kodiak Kowboy (Posse), while Trombetta takes over training duties on Lantana Mob (Posse), who goes in the GII Carry Back S. this weekend at Calder. Ludt emphasized that Asmussen's recent drug positive in Texas has little to do with the decision, adding that the stable allowed horses to remain with the conditioner when he served concurrent suspensions in 2006 and into 2007.

KHRC TO WORK QUICKLY ON STEROIDS The newly revamped Kentucky Horse Racing Commission met for the first time Wednesday, and its chairman, Robert M. Beck, Jr., pledged that the organization would make rapid progress on issues involving medication in the Commonwealth. "We've got a lot of work to do, and we're going to get started very quickly," the chairman said during Wednesday's meeting. "I don't want any grass growing under our feet." The meeting was the first of the reconstituted KHRC and ocured six days after Kentucky Governor Steve Beshear (D) replaced six of the committee's 15 members, including Connie Whitfield-Harriman, wire of U.S. Representative Ed Whitfield (R). Mrs. Whitfield-Harriman was also the chair of the Kentucky Equine Drug Research Council, which is responsible for making recommendations on drug rules. The council is in the process of considering how to regulate the administration of anabolic steroids, and Kentucky, like many other racing jurisdictions, is facing pressure to institute a set of rules before the end of the year. Their ability to do so is in some doubt, as the state horsemen's group has questioned testing procedures and is encouraging the racing commission to resist adopting a hard and fast rule until September, at which time research for testing on blood plasma will be complete.

During the meeting Wednesday, the six new appointees were sworn in. They include prominent horseman Tracy Farmer; Francis Thomas Conway, a Louisville trial attorney; former commission member Frank L. Jones; horse owner and attorney Burr James Travis, III; Michael Anthony Pitino, son of University of Louisville basketball coach Rick Pitino and himself a horse owner; and Wade Houston, a former coach at U of L and father of former NBA star Allan Houston.

THG APPLAUDS ELLIS DECISION Bolstered by the recent decision by Ellis Park President Ron Geary to share more equally the revenue generated by ADW companies with horsemen, the Thoroughbred Horsemen's Group released a statement yesterday, stressing their view that both tracks and horsemen stand to benefit from this newer business model. Bob Reeves, president of the THG, also praised the unity and steadfastness demonstrated by horsemen. "No one has ever seen horsemen with the resolution they have right now to fix what everyone knows is a broken simulcast model," said Reeves, whose group counts as members 18 horsemen's organizations spread over 16 jurisdictions and holding contracts with 52 racetracks around North America. "We're seeking the right answers for both the racetracks and the horsemen. We need places to run our horses just like the racetracks need horses to run." Reeves also urged representatives of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations, whose vice president Chris Scherf was highly critical of the THG model, to sit down with members of THG to discuss ways to improve the economics of simulcasting. "The horsemen have been waiting on our racetrack partners to fix the account wagering problem," Reeves said. "We urge the TRA leadership to sit down and talk with us; we would welcome such an opportunity. Someone needed to start this process of changing the simulcast model; horsemen are the pioneers. Horsemen are doing all the heavy lifting on this issue, but we want the racetracks to be better for our efforts, too."

ESPNews to Televisе Man o'War:

Officials at ESPN have announced that the network will provide live television coverage of Saturday's GI Man o'War S. on its ESPNews channel. The $500,000 event will mark the turf debut of reigning Horse of the Year Curlin (Smart Strike), who is embarking on an ambitious course which could lead to a start in the G1 Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe Oct. 5. The chestnut colt is likely to face 2004 GI Breeders' Cup Turf hero Better Talk Now (Talkin Man); Red Rocks (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}), the 2006 winner of that race; and Grand Couturier (GB) (Grand Lodge), victorious in last year's GI Sword Dancer Invitational at Saratoga.

Hollywood to Adjust Cushion Track:

Hollywood Park's spring/summer meeting wraps up Sunday, and the main track of the Inglewood oval is scheduled to be closed to training for a few days so that the all-weather surface can be improved, according to Daily Racing Form. Approximately 20 tons of fiber and rubber will be added to the Cushion Track surface; trainers had informed track management of an increase in injuries in recent weeks. "One injury is one injury too many," Jack Liebau, Hollywood's president, told DRF. "The track is not performing as well as it did. We'll try to get it back as good as it was." Liebau indicated that the track would be closed for "two or three days." First installed in 2006, the Cushion Track surface had wax added to its composition a year ago, and again in April. That could be the case again this time. "We may re-wax; it depends on some tests this week or next," Liebau added. While California's transition to synthetic surfaces had been expected to be easier to maintain than traditional dirt, Liebau noted that the opposite was in fact true. "It's clear in my mind these synthetic track need maintenance," Liebau told the publication. "The maintenance is probably more intense on these tracks than on a dirt track." Trainer Jeff Mullins had been a proponent of after the Cushion Track was first laid down, but he is more wary now. "It's a far cry from what it was when they put in," Mullins told DRF. "We've had freakish kinds of injuries. I don't have the confidence in the track as I did when they first put it in."

ASK ON COURSE FOR ASCOT Patrick Fahey's Ask (GB) (Sadler's Wells) is being aimed at the G1 King George VI and Queen Elizabeth S. at Ascot, for which 17 remained after the latest forfeit stage. Last year's G1 Canadian International runner-up was fifth in the June 18 G1 Prince of Wales's S. at the Berkshire venue last time, and the owner's Racing Manager Simon Christian is hoping that the extra quarter mile of the July 26 contest will play in his favor. "Ask is an intended runner, I believe, and I'm sure he will be suited by going back to 12 furlongs," Christian told PA Sport. "Obviously, he's proven over a mile and a half and gets the trip very well. He's won over the trip at the track, so hopefully he'll run up to his best form there." Duke of Marmalade (Ire) (Danehill) heads a Ballydoyle team of seven, including Saturday's G1 Eclipse winner Mount Nelson (GB) (Rock of Gibraltar {Ire}), while Jaber Abdullah's Youmzain (Ire) (Sinndar {Ire}) looks likely to offer the chief opposition to the County Tipperary outfit. SOUL CITY (IRE) (c, 2, Elusive City--Savage {Ire} {GSP-Ger, $140,358}, by Polish Patriot), a first-up fourth at Windsor June 9, raced on the front from the outset of this second go. Coming under pressure as the pack loomed large at the quarter-mile marker, the 7-2 chalk refused to buckle under a drive and kept on in game fashion to outlast Swindler (Ire) (Sinndar {Ire}) by a neck. A €45,000 GOFNOV weanling and €88,000 GOFMIL yearling, the half-brother to Sentinelese (Ire) (Cape Cross {Ire}), SW-Fr, $173,091, marks the sixth winner for his freshman sire (by Elusive Quality). Lifetime Record: 2-1-0-0, £9,959.

MEYDAN CITY (c, 3, Kingmambo--Crown of Crimson {SW, $161,426}, by Seattle Slew), forever a standout as the list-topping $11.7-million yearling at Keeneland's 2006 September sale, showed promise when a debut third here June 21, but was let go at a generous 7-1 for this comeback. Settled at the back of the pack before easing onto the heels of the leaders at the two pole, the bay was ridden to the front at the furlong marker and kept on strongly thereafter to hold the renewed effort of Woodcutter (Ire) (Daylami {Ire}) by a cozy 3/4 of a length. "He's a big, heavy horse and we have given him time as he was very backward last year," said winning conditioner Saeed bin Suroor. "We didn't want to rush him and this year he is much better, physically and mentally. He has improved from his last race; the ground suited him, and I'm sure he'll improve more for this race. He'll be able to go a mile and a half no problem." Meydan City's price makes him the second-highest-priced yearling of all time. He is out of Crown of Crimson, who captured Churchill's Pocahontas S. at two. She is a 3/4-sister to multiple Grade I winner Excellent Meeting (General Meeting), who bankrolled over $1.4 million in two seasons of racing. Crown of Crimson's first foal, the winning Kingmambo colt Ashaawes, brought $2.85 million at KEESEP in 2004. The mare died after producing a Storm Cat colt in 2006. Click for the Racing Post chart. Lifetime Record: 2-1-0-1, £10,484.

DEPOSER (IRE) (c, 2, Kheleyf--Bezant {Ire}, by Zamindar), runner-up on debut at Warwick June 26, was bet down to 4-7. The bay broke well before racing freely in the front rank. After battling for a lead from Shangani (GB) (Ishiguru), he rolled by that rival passing the quarter pole and was pushed out to record a comfortable 3 1/2-length success. The 13,000gns TATDEC weanling and 19,000gns DONAUG yearling chalked up the 13th winner for his freshman sire (by Green Desert). Lifetime Record: 2-1-1-0, £3,294.

TOUCHING (IRE) (f, 2, Kheleyf--Feminine Touch {Ire}, by Sadler's Wells), third on debut at Windsor June 30, started as the 3-1 favorite switched to the Polytrack. Up to lead early, the bay registered a 1 3/4-length win from Today's the Day (GB) (Alhaarth {Ire}) and was allowed to keep the contest by the stewards despite carrying that rival across the track in the closing stages. Happy Forever (Fr) (Dr Fong), the daughter of Happyanunoi (NZ), paid for her keenness in the early stages and could only manage fourth. Touching, a 34,000gns TATDEC weanling, 31,000gns TATOCT yearling and 45,000gns TATGNS juvenile, continued the hot hand for her freshman sire (by Green Desert) by becoming his 14th individual winner. Hitting top gear a furlong later, the homebred swept to the front with 150 yards remaining and drew clear in convincing fashion to beat the long-time leader Fantosha (Johannesburg) by two lengths. Chaussons (Ire) (Indian Ridge {Ire}), the daughter of Petrushka (Ire), was too keen in the early stages and faded into 11th. Lifetime Record: 1-1-0-0, €11,056.

AUSTRALASIA

VIRUS SURFACES IN QUEENSLAND Just a week after the Australian racing and breeding industry celebrated news that the nation had officially eradicated Equine Influenza, four horses at a veterinary clinic south of Brisbane in Queensland have tested positive for Hendra Virus. One has died and one has been euthanized. In 1994, Hendra virus claimed the life of prominent Brisbane trainer Vic Rail and 21 horses, and was responsible for the death of a North Queensland man a year later. Biosecurity Queensland Chief Veterinary Officer Ron Glanville said 37 other horses at the Redlands clinic on Brisbane's outskirts were being tested. Primary Industries Minister Tim Mulherin said the outbreak was being treated as serious, and authorities were contacting people involved with the sick horses. Queensland Racing chief operations manager Malcolm Tuttle said, "We are not panicking. It is a serious virus, but it does not spread like equine influenza." Tuttle indicated he had been advised the first clinical signs of the virus were shown June 26.

A Deadly Puzzle...

Racing NSW chief steward Ray Murrhiy said in September 1994, when racing was shut down for three weeks, officials did not know what they were dealing with, whereas more was known now, and it was far less contagious than equine influenza. "Unlike equine influenza, it is slow moving and can be identified and isolated pretty swiftly," Murrhiy said. Symptoms include acute onset, respiratory distress, a frothy nasal discharge, elevated body temperature, elevated heart rate, congested membranes and sweating, and neurological signs, but in the latest case, the absence of respiratory symptoms has baffled vets. Biosecurity Queensland Chief Veterinary Officer Ron Glanville said the Hendra virus normally affects a horse's lungs after attacking blood vessels, but the latest cases caused brain damage.

Tropical Origin...

The virus was first isolated in 1994. Although originally classified as a Morbillivirus, the virus has now been reclassified and named Hendra virus (HeV), a member of a new genus (Henipavirus) in the family Paramyxoviridae. The virus first struck a Thoroughbred mare at Rail's Doomben stables in September 1994, causing very severe damage to the lungs with the accumulation of massive amounts of fluid. Rail and his strapper both became ill, but the latter survived. In October of the following year, a post-mortem of a North Queensland man revealed he had also died from Hendra virus, and two horses at the man's property were subsequently found to have died two months earlier from the same disease.

Australian Animal Health Laboratory (AAHL) studies have proven horses can be infected via the nasal/oral route, and can excrete the virus in the urine and saliva. The virus is carried by fruit bats, also known as flying foxes--nocturnal animals found in Queensland's tropical climate--but officials are uncertain exactly how it is transferred to horses, and then to humans.

Swift Action by Vets...

Vets at the Redlands clinic are working closely with Biosecurity Queensland to determine how the outbreak occurred. The clinic at the center of the outbreak placed itself into voluntary quarantine and notified authorities it suspected an unusual disease outbreak before initiating comprehensive disinfection procedures to ensure containment, according to James Gilkerson, president of Equine Veterinarians Australia and director of the University of Melbourne's Equine Infectious Disease Laboratory. "This is not like the situation with equine influenza virus which had a greater capacity to spread between horses," Gilkerson said. "The Hendra virus is not so contagious. Outbreaks of Hendra virus disease in horses are very uncommon, but the horse-owning public and the veterinary profession need to be vigilant. Symptoms are neurological rather than respiratory and affect the horse's balance and gait." He added, "While the disease is of concern because of its ability to be transmitted to humans, it is not highly contagious. The public health risk is generally limited to those who have exposure to the horse's body fluids." Gilkerson continued, "The detection of the Hendra virus highlights the need for stringent biosecurity procedures when handling animals with illnesses, and AVA applauds the swift action of the vets involved in this outbreak."
