ACOMA DRAWS RAIL IN COACHING CLUB

A compact field of five was entered yesterday for Saturday's 92nd running of the G1 Coaching Club American Oaks at Belmont Park. Trainer David Carroll will saddle the lightly raced Acoma (Empire Maker), who will be looking for her fourth straight win in her fifth career start. After finishing third behind the talented Storm Mesa in her debut at Fair Grounds in March,

Acoma EquiSport

Acoma reeled off a Keeneland maiden win in April and a Churchill allowance win in May, both at 1 1/16 miles, before adding a win in the May 31 GIII Dogwood S. at one mile last time out. "She's bred to run all day," trainer David Carroll said of the filly. Carroll admitted connections were tempted to run Acoma in the G1 Mother Goose S., but decided to taken an easier route. "She's done everything right for us so far, and we looked hard at the Mother Goose," the Irishman explained. "But we didn't want to go Mother Goose, Coaching Club and Alabama. She is still developing and that would have been a lot to ask." The less demanding schedule has paid off, according to Carroll. "We settled on the Dogwood and now we have a fresh filly," he confirmed. "The Dogwood was a one-turn mile and she ran a good time [1:34 2/5]. We entered the Dogwood thinking it was a good chance to get her some black type. She won that race; now she has a chance to win the Coaching Club, which is a pretty big race on its own." Owned by Helen C Alexander and Helen Groves, Acoma will break from the rail. Trainer Saeed bin Suroor will be represented by the powerful duo of Music Note (A.P. Indy) and Little Belle (A.P. Indy), who will break from post five and two, respectively.

RED ROCKS STAYS STATESIDE

Paul Reddam's Red Rocks (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) will remain in the States following his defeat of Curlin in Saturday's G1 Man O'War S., it was announced yesterday. Mark Hennig will take over training duties on the five-year-old, who will be aimed at the G1 Sword Dancer Invitational at Saratoga Aug. 16 before a tilt at the G1 Breeders' Cup Turf at Santa Anita Oct. 25. "It is what is good for the horse and there is nothing left to suit him here [in Europe]," explained Brian Meehan. "He's been a wonderful horse for us and we will still be involved, but the big plan has always been the Breeders' Cup."

ARTISTE ROYAL SIDELINED

Two-time Grade I winner Artiste Royal (Ire) (Danehill) has been forced to the sidelines by a splint bone injury, according to Daily Racing Form. The seven-year-old is coming off a victory in the June 7 G1 Charles Whittingham Memorial H. Owned by David and Jill Heerensperger and trained by Neil Drysdale, Artiste Royal also won last year's G1 Clement L Hirsch Turf Championship. To date, the Irish-bred bay has hit the board in 18 of 25 starts, with six wins and earnings of $773,886.

TAMAYUZ TO JACQUES LE MAROIS Sheikh Hamdan bin Rashid Al Maktoum's Tamayuz (GB) (Nayef) will be prepared for the G1 Prix Jacques le Marois, trainer Freddy Head confirmed yesterday. Having beaten Raven's Pass in Sunday's G1 Prix Jean Prat at Chantilly, the homebred will tackle Deauville's Aug. 17 highlight. "He came out of his race very well and I've been very happy with him," Head told PA Sport. "I was very pleased with him last time and he's a top-class horse. I think he will go for the Prix Jacques le Marois in Deauville next and we have no real plan for after that just yet. I think we will stick to a mile with him, but we'll see what he does next and then make a decision for what we do with him."

MARCHAND FOR THREE-PEAT Carla Giral's G1 July Cup hero Marchand d'Or (Fr) (Marchand de Sable) will bid for a third consecutive renewal of Deauville's G1 Prix Maurice de Gheest, trainer Freddy Head confirmed yesterday. Following a head success over US Ranger in Newmarket's six-furlong contest, the five-year-old is expected to defend his title in the Aug. 10 sprint before a possible tilt at the Sept. 6 G1 Haydock Sprint Cup in which he was second last year. "He is a gelding, so we will keep him in training next year and we'll probably have the same plan and go for the same races again," Head told PA Sport. "Marchand d'Or is very, very well after Newmarket and he will go next in the Maurice de Gheest. If he is well, we might come back to England for another try at Haydock. He is very consistent and is great to train."

☆ LETTERS TO THE EDITOR ☆

I was just reading the piece in the June 28th Blood-Horse on IEAH stables saying no to drugs. America is not facing up to the reality that racing has its bad name purely resulting from their unwillingness to introduce zero tolerance on the drugs issue. Iavarone states "all horses will be free on race day"!!--what about in between race days? Rick Dutrow begs him to allow Salix. One has to ask questions as to Mr. Dutrow's training methods, or of the constitutions of American racehorses, if a lot of his horses are bleeders. Bleeders, while not uncommon in Europe, are rare by comparison to the States. Another excuse I see bandied about is the so called difficulty in testing. Why not ask any European racing authority? By continuing with your heads in the sand on this issue, you will do untold damage to American racing in general, and Thoroughbreds in particular.

RACING'S UPSIDE-DOWN DISTRIBUTION MODEL Favoring "where the bet is made" over "where the show is produced."

In 1978, the Interstate Horseracing Act (IHA) became law. It legalized wagering across state lines. This gift of distribution could have taken Thoroughbred racing to a level unimaginable today; however, there was a catch.

Racing would get nationwide expansion of its monopoly on legal wagering, BUT the law would take away control of its product and distribution by empowering the weakest segment of racing with "approval." It was a curse.

"Approval" was added at both ends of the simulcast for fear the big tracks in our largest markets would become so successful they would relegate the small tracks in our smaller markets to minor league status. You know, the way the New York Yankees and Los Angeles Dodgers have relegated smaller markets to minor league status and destroyed the sport of baseball. Well, maybe that's not a good example, or maybe it is.

Racing, an established sport, would suddenly have no limits on revenue based on the number of seats in its facilities. Just implementing a basic distribution model would make Thoroughbred racing the most successful enterprise in the entertainment industry.

You may have an opinion on how racing screwed this up, but I think the learning curve on understanding what happened is pretty steep. It goes back to 1978.

The IHA granted simulcast approval to "horsemen" and defined horsemen as "owners and trainers." The trainers' organization helped write the law.

After the IHA became law, a war exploded between the big tracks and little tracks. It was an uneven fight, because the small tracks' resident horsemen were armed with the IHA hammer of "approval" of the big tracks' simulcast signal.

The price offered to the big host tracks for their races was ridiculous--3%. That 3% was to be split between the host track and the host track purse account. The receiving tracks would keep the rest from a takeout of 18%-21%. Screw NYRA and the California tracks, this is a "buyers' market."

At that time, the big tracks were doing fairly well with on-track attendance and handle. So, without concern for the national sport, NYRA and the other big tracks took the short-term view and caved--3% would be the price for the next 30 years.

An "upside down" distribution model was going to give the lion's share of off-track wagering to "where the bet is made," not "where the show is produced." The small tracks had won. Sociology majors in Iowa cheered. Hooray, hooray, we are going to kill the sport in our major markets.

Thoroughbred racing broke a basic marketing law...you must control your product and its distribution.

But, who is Thoroughbred racing? Is it the track facilities? No, the facilities do not control any sport. Is it the paper tigers in The Jockey Club? No, they were put on the shelf by anti-trust laws. How about the trainers who control the horsemen's associations? Well, to some degree they are, but don't they work for.... oh yeah, the racehorse owners.

What's up with the racehorse owners? Are they not aware it's their game?

The Upside-Down Decision

In 1978, two legal gambling entities were expanding distribution about the same time: Lotteries and Horse Racing.

The lotteries chose a basic distribution-pricing model. Lotteries get the lion's share and pay a small 5% commission to the convenience stores and gas stations that punch in the numbers and take the lottery bet. This model gives the lotteries the incentive to plan and promote their game and has seen lottery sales grow to over $50 billion a year. The 5% commission the lotteries pay to the "bet takers" amounts to more than $700 million each year, so it is good for them as well.

The lotteries were starting out from scratch. Conversely, racing was an established multi-billion dollar enterprise ready to explode with revenue from the government's gift of national distribution. How could it possibly be screwed up?

Turning the distribution pricing model upside-down will screw it up and that is exactly what the small tracks and horsemen did in 1978. They used the IHA approval hammer to force a model on off-track wagers that favors "where the bet is made," instead of a real world model that favors "where the show is produced."

So, instead of national handle of $50 billion like the lotteries, we have a declining handle of $15 billion. Why? Because, giving all the money to the off-track bet takers robs the host track of any incentive to produce the show. Oh.

There are a lot of excuses and rationales for why this was done. But, it really happened because the off-track "bet takers" felt they owned their customers and if their customers were going to bet on races from other tracks, they were going to get the lion's share of the wagers. What started as a welfare program for small tracks has turned into the nightmare it is today.

The Internet has shown us no one owns and controls the customer. Customers today are free and mobile. As with Internet sales, the host track will need to continue paying taxes to the states "where the bet is made," while we convert to a model that favors the host track "where the show is produced."

How do you get rid of this secret cancer on the sport? You cut it out. You change to a distribution model like the lotteries. Who loses? Only those not involved in live racing. This will eliminate the leakage of $540 million in purses, rebates, kickbacks called source market fees, etc., all of which are the result of gaming the distribution model that gives the lion's share to "where the bet is made."

Giving It Away - Taking It Back

The current off-track model is giving our product away for 3% to companies that make 15-18% and have nothing to do with live racing and it is forcing our track partners to start businesses that game the current model. The world has changed and it is long past time to take back control of racing's product and its distribution.

We can say we started off with a pricing strategy of giving the product away to gain acceptance and now we are instituting a new pricing model to bring real value to our sport. While this is a lie, it must become the truth.

The people who put this buyers' market in place will not change it. Fighting with them would take longer than the sport can afford. The best way is to correct the mistake made in the Interstate Horseracing Act (IHA). The law grants off-track approval to "horsemen," which it defines as owners and trainers.

In 1978, approval by "horsemen" was pretty simple. It was between racetracks. Today, the issues of distribution are very complex and hold the future of the sport. There is not one reason for trainers to be making these IHA decisions for racehorse owners. Not one.

We need to amend the IHA from "horsemen" to "racehorse owners," which will mandate racehorse owners in each state organize similar to Thoroughbred Owners of California (TOC). TOC has racehorse owners more engaged in racing issues than any other state. Under their model, funding is provided for the HBPA to continue their good work on backstretch issues. The state organizations will result in a national Racehorse Owners Association to provide expertise and leadership. People with real world business experience will put a proper distribution model in place. Cont. p5

A lot of us are stakeholders in the industry, however there are only two private stakeholders in the racing segment: track owners and racehorse owners. I like the full term "racehorse owners," because commercial breeders are Thoroughbred "owners," but not all are stakeholders in racing.

Here's the nut of the problem. Under the current off-track model, the host track cannot control its own destiny. Thus track management cannot plan for a future of live racing. So, the smart thing for them to do under the current model is to convert the track facility to encourage wagers on other tracks' races, reduce live racing expenses and seating and start alternative gaming. The result looks a lot like the new Gulfstream Park.

We still have great facilities in our major markets. We can fill them up when we reestablish an incentive to package, present and market the live racing show. Attendance at the live event is the barometer for the health of every sport and it can be restored to Thoroughbred racing.

The new Thoroughbred Horsemen's Group (THG) is well meaning and I personally like the people involved, but the solution THG is offering regarding ADW's is a band-aid on a cut jugular. It will do little to slow the flow of $540 million bleeding out of live racing because THG's members support the model favoring "where the bet is made."

One of the ADW's has said they can operate at a profit on 5% of handle. I believe them. If ADW's account for $2 billion this year, a 5% commission paid to them as bet takers would amount to $100 million. That is a reasonable fee in a business that will grow quickly.

What is the downside of changing from a model that favors "where the bet is made" to one that favors "where the show is produced"?

There will be some bet taking outlets that cannot, or choose not, to continue. The good news is that technology and ADW's will allow their customers to continue to wager on Thoroughbred racing.

Gross handle means nothing to the sport of Thoroughbred racing if there is not enough going to the host tracks and racehorse owners putting on the live show.

Once this problem is fixed, we will have a foundation for host tracks and racehorse owners to turn the sport around quickly. The consumer research I have seen and conducted for racing shows a clear path to grow the sport. However, I can assure you, there is no way to turn the sport around without changing the off-track model away from "where the bet is made." Its failure is painfully proven.

The day Thoroughbred racing changes to a distribution model favoring "where the show is produced," is the day our sport has more future than past.

Congress is desperate to have our sport clean itself up. There's a lot of money, jobs and a sport we love on the line. The tracks cannot do it. Racehorse owners must engage and, if Congress will correct the IHA, our sport will soon be on the right track.

EXTRA PERKS FOR GOING LONG AT SPA The New York Racing Association will increase purses for open company route races on the dirt and turf at Saratoga Race Course, based on the number of horses in a race. For dirt races at nine furlongs and longer, NYRA will provide incremental increases for every betting interest over six that start. Purses for maiden special weight races will be raised $5,000 per every entry over six, while non-winners of one, two and three will increase $8,000 and money allowances and overnight stakes will increase $10,000. Under the new structure, an open allowance race for non-winners of two at nine furlongs with 10 betting interests will increase $32,000, from the current purse of $70,000 to $102,000. "These purse increases provide a huge incentive for owners and trainers at NYRA tracks and across the country to run their horses at Saratoga and fill these distance races," explained Paul Campo, NYRA Vice President and Director of Racing. "Our fans benefit since higher purses attract better horses and create exciting wagering opportunities. And, of course, large fields generate higher handle, and that's good for NYRA and all of our stakeholders." The initiative has already drawn the approval of some horsemen. "This is an innovative and exciting experiment that will reward the connections of horses that are born and bred to go a distance of ground," said trainer Rick Violette, Jr., president of the New York Thoroughbred Horsemen's Association. "There is sometimes just criticism for our reliance on pure speed and, hopefully, this could start a trend towards rewarding endurance as well."

KEENELAND, TURFWAY ANNOUNCE NEW SHOE POLICY Keeneland and Turfway Park, in a joint statement, yesterday announced a new shoe policy banning the use of toe grabs at both tracks beginning Sept. 1. "We applaud the efforts of the Jockey Club Thoroughbred Safety Committee, TOBA's Thoroughbred Action Committee and the Kentucky Horse Racing Commission to address safety in racing," Keeneland's Director of Racing Rogers Beasley and Turfway President Bob Elliston said in a statement. "Their unanimous support for a ban on the use of toe grabs is a significant step toward improving the welfare of horses." The policy, which applies to all horses training and racing, states, "No toe grabs, caulks, stickers, inserts, blocks and turndowns, trailers or heel extensions, will be allowed on front or hind shoes. Only flat, Queen's Plate, Queen's Plate XT or equivalent may be used on the Polytrack or turf."

Appelbaum and Carlos Morales. The colt was sent through the OBSMAR sale, and put buyers on notice with a snappy :10 1/5 breeze (video). The work caught the eye of trainer John Kimmel, who saw off all challengers to land the big bay for $525,000 on behalf of Eli Gindi, a new owner involved in the real estate market. "Well, there wasn't much not to like," Kimmel said at the time.

"Physically, he has tremendous balance, scope, a great walk, and good bone to him. He looked good on the racetrack. He's as good on his physical parameters--x-rays, scoping--as anything I've had. He reminds me of a horse like Premium Tap. And Lemon Drop Kid is coming around as a sire." Named Break Water Edison, the colt opened up at 6-5 odds for his debut in this, but drifted up to 2-1 by post time. Ridden hard from post three to take a narrow lead, he battled a rival into submission rounding the turn, opened a clear lead under a vigorous hand ride, then was geared down in the final stages under Alan Garcia to win by 4 3/4 lengths. Precursor (A.P. Indy) was second best, with 57-1 bomb Western Legend (El Corredor) rallying for show honors. Lifetime Record: 1-1-0-0, $31,200. MAJESTIC FELINE (f, 2, Johar--Buy the Cat, by Storm Cat) was looking to become the first winner for her freshman sire (by Gone West). A $15,000 KEESEP yearling, the half to Saki to Me (Fusaichi Pegasus), MSW, $158,695, ran an even fifth as the even-money pick sprinting 4 1/2 panels at Presque Isle May 30. Stretching out and moving to the sod for this second try, the Ramsey colorbearer, off as a 7-1 chance, was under a hold as she shadowed the leaders in third while racing wide. Shook up by Victor Lebron two furlongs out, Majestic Feline took some time to get going, but eventually inched away to record the 1 1/2-length success. Favored Shadow of Storm (Storm Cat) was second. Majestic Feline was produced by Buy the Cat, a winning daughter of GISW Buy the Firm (Affirmed) and a full to GSW Storm Broker and half to SW Royal Arrow (Dayjur). Majestic Feline's sire Johar, a son of the Grade I-winning Lear Fan mare Windsharp, stands at Mill Ridge. Trained by Richard Mandella for the Thoroughbred Corp., Johar captured the GI Hollywood Derby in 2002 and dead-heated for the win in the following year's GI Breeders' Cup Turf. CAT ON THE UP
