AFFORDABILITY CHECKS EXPOSE FLAW IN BRITISH RACING'S BUSINESS MODEL

Racing's finances will be hit by the implementation of affordability checks | Racingfotos.com

By Paul Hayward

These are challenging times for British punters. If you win too much, your bookmaker could shut you down. If you lose too much, the state might send Big Brother in.

This pincer of control and interference in online betting is weirdly at odds with the UK's economic culture, which favours deregulation and free markets - often to society's cost. The way power works, you will hear a lot more about the Gambling Commission's proposed affordability checks than you will bookmaking conglomerates restricting how much punters can stake - and the sums they can win.

Arbitrary bookmaking 'limits' drive successful punters to distraction. Turned away from one betting window, they're on an eternal trudge to find another. We've all heard stories of gamblers wanting to place £500 on a horse and being told they can have only £50 at the advertised price. Laissez-faire would be a generous description of how mass-market sports betting is controlled. But affordability checks? The world is up in arms.

The roots of the outrage are twofold.

A PINHOOKER'S PARADISE - WHAT ARE THE BIG NAMES LOOKING FOR AT GOFFS?

By Brian Sheerin

Top pinhookers John Foley, Kitty Fitzpatrick and Luke Coen have shared some of the dos and don'ts ahead of the eagerly-anticipated Goffs November Foal Sale where some of the sharpest minds in the game will battle it out for over 1,000 lots throughout the four days.

Coen has not been in this game as long as Foley or Fitzpatrick but he proved age can be no barrier to turning major pinhooking profit when an Invincible Spirit (Ire) filly that he sourced for just €23,000 at this sale last year rocked into 115,000gns at Book 3 at Tattersalls.

Asked if he had come back down to earth, the 24-year-old, who said he'd be using some of the profits to renovate a house he bought along with his partner Charlotte, quipped, "There's no two ways about it--you're always trying to find the next one."

Punters, bureaucrats and the Racing Post (an uber-campaigner against the Gambling Commission's plans) are right to point out that all of us gamble every day, on stocks and shares, mortgage rate changes, savings account returns, the National Lottery, Premium Bonds and any number of monetary judgment calls.

In all cases those markets are 'regulated,' but government taps on the shoulder are rare. Yet, in horserace betting, the UK government, via the Gambling Commission, has developed a curiously fierce interest in vulnerable citizens, while also laying waste to many of the public services on which people on low incomes depend.

Media outlets like to call this the Nanny State. But under modern Conservatism, the nanny was fired years ago. Britain is an economic free-for-all. In the original white paper on gambling, though, we encounter language redolent of the country's wrecked social contract. It proposes intervention "if a customer's gambling is likely to be unaffordable and harmful" and identifies three types of risk: "binge gambling, significant unaffordable losses over time, and financially vulnerable customers".

Personal freedom aside, this is where the industry's panic spikes – the realisation that affordability checks will undermine a funding system that was never fit for purpose.

Paul Hayward

Who knew compassion still had a say in Westminster? Racing, though, sees only illogicality, arbitrary intervention, and great harm to something that's already up against it: the sport's business model, the transfer of breadcrumbs from the betting industry to the racing game that supplies its 'product.'

Personal freedom aside, this is where the industry's panic spikes - the realisation that affordability checks will undermine a funding system that was never fit for purpose. Cont.

It was the Jockey Club who, in the 1960s, missed the chance to set up a totalisator system to guarantee a fair return to the sport. Instead, they opened the door to a predatory bookmaking industry.

Six decades later, it falls to Nevin Truesdale, the current, impressive head of the Jockey Club, to fix his name to a petition demanding a change in the Gambling Commission's thinking. The petition calls the plans "inappropriate and discriminatory." The word "catastrophic" is frequently used to describe the damage to racing's finances - £250 million over five years, it is claimed, if punters resort to black markets or abandon betting on racing altogether.

Never has the sport mobilised so furiously against an external threat. Many racing folk would seemingly rather invite an Epsom-invading animal rights protestor round for tea than the Gambling Commission, who claim that only 3% of online betting accounts will be subject to 'frictionless' affordability checks on their online accounts, with only 0.3% facing the more stringent monitoring. A £125 loss over a 30-day period looks to the racing industry however like a pitifully low starting point for the gambling police to go in.

The Culture secretary Lucy Frazer told the Racing Post: "This government is not in the business of telling people how they can and can't spend their money."

"But we know, for some, gambling leads to a dangerous cycle of addiction that can feel impossible to escape. We have a duty of care to those at the greatest risk of devastating and life-changing financial losses." Yet racing says only 2.8% of punters meet the threshold of problem gambling. The many are being restricted, they say, to protect the very few.

Late last week, the anti-Gambling Commission petition had attracted 85,000 signatures. A social media debate ensued (when does it not?) Some called it a show of strength. Others saw it as a faltering quest to reach the 100,000 signatures needed to force a Parliamentary debate; almost as proof of apathy.

My feeling is that the proposed government constraints defy logic and misunderstand horserace betting and bettors. They are also a cop out, because they dodge the need to tackle the main culprit - the betting industry, the siren on the rocks, with its tsunami advertising and simultaneous 'limits' on winnings.

As for racing's panic around the cost of these proposals, consider the most salient statistics of all. In the UK 0.6% of betting turnover is returned to racing. In Ireland - 1.5%; in France 8.6%, America 14.5% and Japan 16.6%. British racing's business model is the flaw that "affordability checks" threaten to exacerbate. Then again, that horse has already bolted.

That Invincible Spirit filly, who was sourced to go into training with Joseph O'Brien, was reported to have boasted one of the most attractive walks of any yearling on offer at Book 3 by some shrewd judges. That would tally, given it's a good-walking horse that Coen searches out above anything else when sourcing young talent.

Explaining his approach, he said, "They have to walk. I find it hard to look past that if they don't. Now, the Invincible Spirit filly set the bar fairly high—she's some walk. Listen, she was a bit of a gamble as well being a May foal, but she just had a huge walk."

Foley and Fitzpatrick have been associated with many top-notchers and they've also weathered the odd storm or two. It's fair to say that Foley, who operates under the banner of Ballyvolane Stud, had a rather contrasting start to his pinhooking career to Coen. But it didn't stop the 40-year-old. Far from it in fact.

He explained, "When I left college, I bought a couple of foals. I was very green at the time but one of them made money and the other didn't. I put the money back in and have been building for almost 20 years to where we are now.

"There was about five years in a row at the start when I lost money and I was very lucky to be able to stay at it. I got a great education in those few years about what not to buy. I lost plenty of money and made plenty of mistakes but that was the best education I could ever have gotten."

Foley added, "It's not a simple game. We breed a few as well so we have a good mix between the homebreds and the ones we buy. Nobody gets it right all the time; some of the best judges out there, they can lose money on a lot of their pinhooks. It's a game of numbers. Some will work and more won't. The ones who don't, you just hope your losses are small and, for the ones that do, you hope the gain is big." Cont.

Kitty Fitzpatrick | Tattersalls

"You're not going to win on them all. If you think you are, you are in for a rude awakening."

Fitzpatrick runs Loughmore Stables along with her husband and well-known bookmaker Daragh. Loughmore has produced plenty of high-class horses over both codes, including the 2017 G2 Norfolk S. winner Santry (Ire) (Harbour Watch {Ire}), and the Limerick native explained her approach.

She said, "There is a type we go after. We like a good-bodied, good-moving horse. They have to be pretty correct and have a good shape. We also like to buy something that looks as though it will come to hand early enough. Then for some of the later sales, we could buy something that could take a bit more time, but always looking for something with a bit of strength, size and action. If you have that, you can get away with plenty."

There may be over 1,000 foals on offer at Goffs, but Foley and Coen explained how they will trawl through the barns in search of that diamond in the rough. Fitzpatrick operates slightly differently.

She said, "We look at a lot of foals but we don't look at them all. There are certain sires we mightn't be too keen on if we haven't had much luck with them in the past. We might leave foals by them off the list. We'd look at all the first-season sires to get our eye in but we wouldn't look at stock out of older mares, either. If the pedigree was very bad, we'd leave those off the list as well. There's no set rules to it but we definitely look at the catalogue beforehand and, while we look at a lot, we don't look at everything."

Foley's Ballyvolane Stud has produced at least one Group performer for each of the past eight years or so.

Sir Busker (Ire) (Sir Prancealot {Ire}), Maljoom (Ire) (Caravaggio) and Cayenne Pepper (Ire) (Australia {GB}) have been either pinhooked or bred by Foley and he's of the opinion that there's no substitute for hard work in achieving such results.

He said, "I try to look at as many foals as I can get through in a day. I don't spend too long looking at them. You have to be polite to people but you know very quickly if you like a foal or not and, if you don't, there's no point in wasting anyone's time. I always try and think who might buy this horse off me as a yearling or where can I sell it. I try to think what it could make as a yearling and work my valuations off that. Invariably, I have the foals undervalued and, like everyone else, I struggle to buy the nice ones. Maybe my valuations are a little bit lower than what they should be but that's because I'm a pessimist by nature. I'm always looking at as many as I can and buying as good as I can for as little as I have to."

Foley added, "Everyone is after the same type of horse. You are looking for a horse with a good shape and a nice outlook. Take this week for example, ninety per cent of people will be on the same horses. But there's touches to be had at every level. You can moan about how difficult it is and be as pessimistic as you want but, the bottom line is, there are touches to be had at every level if you are willing to do leg work."

Coen agrees that there is no better way to train your eye than getting out there and rolling up your sleeves. A nephew of the well-known trainer Andrew Slattery, Coen's life has been a soundtrack to horses, but nobody could accuse him of not making the most of his upbringing.

He said, "As much as having people who are willing to help you, the best way to learn is to have a look at a couple of hundred foals a day yourself. That will get your eye in and you will learn pretty quickly what you like and what you don't. Then you can follow them through to a yearling and on the racetrack if you can't afford them, which a lot of young people can't."

He added, "I'm never afraid to buy a chancy one that some people wouldn't have liked. A lot of people would have binned the Invincible Spirit filly because of her pedigree. When you're buying foals, there's three things you need to be thinking; in an ideal world you buy the model, then it's pedigree and lastly it's the sire. But, when you're dealing with a small budget, you have to forgive one of those things at times. The model can never be the one that you forgive, in my opinion anyway."

He added, "I would look at a lot of foals. I worked for Rob Tierney there in Mountarmstrong and he would have always gone by the rule of a mare having a minimum of a fifty per cent strike-rate. That would be one of the things I'd go by. I'd never buy a foal out of an older mare, either. I think for the yearling market, the buyers seem to like a younger pedigree, be that a younger sire or a younger mare." Cont.

Luke Coen: enjoyed a dream start to his pinhooking career | Tattersalls

"We have a few mares ourselves and we only have 30 boxes for yearlings. I kind of do my own thing. I'm normally on my own or I might have one person with me. We don't have a big team. At Goffs, I'll start at one end and just try and get through the barns as quickly as I can.

"We normally have a pretty big list after first looks because we try to be as forgiving as possible. We try and have a second look then and whittle the list down a little more. The ones we like, we follow them in."

He added, "If it feels right and we think there's value there, we try to buy them and if they're not, we don't. A lot more will get left behind then we buy and I don't follow them to see if people made money out of them or to see who was right and who was wrong. You just have to work on your own intuition."

Share this story

There are no set rules to making this game pay. Lucky, as what a boring little world--and market--we would have if that was the case. According to Foley, however, there is no substitution for a bit of intuition, while strength in numbers is a major help to those operating on a larger scale.

Foley said, "I try to buy somewhere between 10 and 15 foals in a year."

NO MOORE FOR NAMUR? NO PROBLEM IN MILE CHAMPIONSHIP by Alan Carasso

Ryan Moore, third in a hit-and-run mission aboard Point Lonsdale (Ire) (Australia {GB}) in Friday's G2 Bahrain International Trophy for his boss Aidan O'Brien, was stood down from the remainder of his Sunday rides at Kyoto after suffering a back injury in a spill in the second race on the program. That left the connections of Carrot Farm's Namur (Jpn) (Harbinger {GB}) in need of a jockey and with all the other Japanese big guns understandably already spoken for, they landed on journeyman Kota Fujioka, 13th in the jockeys' premiership, but not in the same league as Moore. It all proved to be of little consequence, as Fujioka found all the gaps at the right time and produced the 4-year-old filly in the dying strides to take out the G1 Mile Championship S.

Drawn widest in 16, the field's only female participant was likely to go back no matter her barrier, so that a hop at the break was unlikely to be too damaging. Allowed to find her stride at the tail of the field in the presence of favoured Schnell Meister (Ger) (Kingman {GB})--who played up twice in the gate--Namur and Fujioka were content to save their best for last, as international dual-surface group winner Bathrat Leon (Jpn) (Kizuna {Jpn}) found the front after the opening 200 metres. In a good rhythm and still in no hurry down the side of the track, Namur was more or less the back marker with plenty to do as Bathrat Leon turned them into the straight.

While Schnell Meister was atypically flat-footed at that stage, Namur was anything but that, weaving her way through into contention while appearing to try to savage Red Mon Reve (Jpn) (Lord Kanaloe {Jpn}) to her outside at the 200-metre marker. Able to sustain her stinging rally, Namur flashed home to provide the Carrot Farm syndicate with its first Mile Championship victory since 2008. Soul Rush (Jpn) (Rulership {Jpn}), ground-saving and about midfield for the first half of the race, found a split four off the inside at the 300 metres and looked home, only to be swamped late, while Justin Cafe (Jpn) (Epiphaneia {Jpn}) ran on well for third at odds. The winner covered her final 600m in a race-best :33 flat. Schnell Meister finished a never-nearer seventh, while defending champ and second pick Serifos (Jpn) (Daiwa Major {Jpn}), wide the trip, loomed a threat inside the final furlong, but peaked on his run and came home eighth.

“The break didn't go very smoothly, but she was in good rhythm once settling into the race and responded well, so I knew we could get a good run as long as I did my job of getting her into a good spot at the straight,” said Fujioka, winning just his second Group 1 on the JRA. “From there she really showed her strength.”

Third in last year's G1 Yushun Himba and second in the G1 Shuka Sho, Namur was seventh to Songline (Jpn) (Kizuna {Jpn}) in the G1 Victoria Mile in May and 16th to that foe in the G1 Yasuda Kinen the following month.

Cont.

She hinted at a return to her best form with a 1 1/4-length defeat of Red Mon Reve in the 1600-metre G2 Fuji S. at headquarters Oct. 21.

As for Moore, his injuries have been deemed not serious and he is expected to take up his ride aboard defending champion Vela Azul (Jpn) (Eishin Flash {Jpn}) in next Sunday's G1 Japan Cup.

Pedigree Notes:

Namur is the sixth Group 1 winner for the G1 King George VI & Queen Elizabeth S. romper Harbinger, who is also responsible for 2017 Mile Championship hero Persian Knight (Jpn) as well as the redoubtable Deirdre (Jpn), victorious in the G1 Nassau S. on her world travels in 2019.

Namur is possessed of a pedigree which has also grown international legs over the past few seasons. The bay is one of four winners from four to race out of her Group 3-placed dam, whose 3-year-old daughter Ravel (Jpn) (Kitsan Black {Jpn}) was a winner at Group 2 level at two and was fourth to Liberty Island (Jpn) (Duramente {Jpn}) in this year's G1 Yushun Himba. Sambre et Meuse's 2-year-old filly Arsenaal (Jpn) (Epiphaneia {Jpn}) was a debut winner going 1600 metres on turf at Tokyo Nov. 11.

Sambre et Meuse was produced by Vite Marcher, the dam of 2021 GI Breeders' Cup Distaff upsetter Marche Lorraine (Jpn) (Orfevre {Jpn}), the multiple listed winner Badenweiler (Jpn) (Duramente {Jpn}) and the 2-year-old colt Marcha Real (Jpn) (Real Impact {Jpn}), a Kyoto maiden winner Nov. 11. Third dam Kyoei March won the 1997 Oka Sho and was second to Taiki Shuttle (Devil's Bag) in the Mile Championship later that season.

Sambre et Meuse is also the dam of a yearling filly by US champion Bricks and Mortar (Giant's Causeway) but was barren to Harbinger for 2023.

LUCKY SWEYNESSE BACK TO WINNING

WAYS IN JOCKEY CLUB SPRINT by Alan Carasso

“He got the job done.”

Hardly a ringing post-race endorsement from jockey Zac Purton after champion Lucky Sweynesse (NZ) (Sweynesse {Aus}) snapped a baby two-race skid in Sunday's G2 BOCHK Private Banking Jockey Club Sprint at Sha Tin. But a win is a win is a win, as he became the first horse since Gold-Fun (Ire) (Le Vie dei Colori {GB}) in 2015 to take the race under the five-pound penalty assigned to Group 1 winners. He'll next look to win his first G1 Longines Hong Kong Sprint after finishing a very unlucky sixth at odds-on last December.

Never the quickest into stride, the 5-year-old was under a busy ride early as Victor the Winner (Aus) (Toronado {Ire}), who enjoyed a 20-pound pull in the weights when defeating the champ in the featured Class 1 on opening day of the season Sept. 10, enjoyed a reasonably soft time of things up front.

Steered out wide for the drive, Lucky Sweynesse had aim on the pacesetter, but needed the length of the straight to finally claw past, scoring by a short head. Wellington (Aus) (All Too Hard {Aus}), last year's international Sprint winner and having his first run for Jamie Richards and first since finishing down the field when well-backed in the G1 Queen Elizabeth II Jubilee S. at Royal Ascot, ran meritoriously in third.

“He’s sort of getting back to his best,” Purton added. “He’s not quite there yet but he took another step in the right direction today and he’s going to need to be better next time.”

Among those pointing for the Hong Kong Sprint are Highfield Princess (Fr) (Night of Thunder {Ire}), who became a four-time Group 1 winner in the G1 Prix de l'Abbaye, and Aesop's Fables (Ire) (No Nay Never), a latest third in the GI Breeders' Cup Turf Sprint after finishing third in the Abbaye.

A 'Beauty'-ful Quinella in the Jockey Club Mile

California Spangle (Ire) (Starspangledbanner {Aus}) was the piping-hot $1.70 (7-10) favourite when the gates flew back for Sunday's G2 BOCHK Private Wealth Jockey Club Mile, but he called it a day at the 200-meter point, and Beauty Eternal (Aus) (Starspangledbanner {Aus}) and Beauty Joy (Aus) (Sebring {Aus}) were left to settle things, with the former just lasting for a Purton race-to-race double.

The defending G1 Longines Hong Kong Mile winner, California Spangle jumped alertly, but was made to work a bit for it early, as Healthy Happy (Aus) (Zoustar {Aus}) kicked up at the fence to prevent him from securing the inside as the sectional times were well inside standard. Last year's BMW Hong Kong Derby winner Voyage Bubble (Aus) (Deep Field {Aus}) went up outside to apply the pressure entering the final half-mile, and Purton had Beauty Eternal in his slipstream, with Beauty Joy last. Eased out to deliver his challenge outside Voyage Bubble at the top of the straight, Beauty Eternal--carrying the Beauty Generation (NZ) colours--looked like he might run away from them, but Derek Leung, who needed to resort to slaps down the neck of Beauty Joy with his hand after his whip went flying, kept after his mount and just missed in a tight photo.

"It's probably the first time he's had to dig deep when something has come at him like that and find and he'll take some confidence out of it," said Purton, also the regular rider of Beauty Generation.

John Size, who won four on the program including a landmark 1,500th in Hong Kong, said: "They went a decent tempo and he came into the race nicely. He had no horse to run at and he was there to get shot down. To his credit, he was able to kick and win the race. He probably learned a bit more about racing today."

'Arron' Validates Fownes's Confidence in JC Cup

Trainer Caspar Fownes has long been of the opinion that Straight Arron (Aus) (Fastnet Rock {Aus}) was capable of achieving a rating in the vicinity of 120 in Hong Kong, a number that would put him among the top three middle-distance runners locally. His current mark of 106 is set for a significant hike after a visually impressive victory in a slowly run renewal of the G2 BOCHK Jockey Club Cup.

Second-last out of the straight for the first time, Straight Arron raced in the company of champion stayer Russian Emperor (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) at the tail as Money Catcher (NZ) (Ferlax {NZ}) did his thing up front. When Glorious Dragon (Ire) (Teofilo {Ire}) went for an early run 1300 metres out in an attempt to inject some pace into an otherwise paceless affair, Vincent Ho followed suit aboard Straight Arron to race just behind centerfield into the final half-mile. Pulled out and around Glorious Dragon with 500 metres to travel, Straight Arron came five wide into the straight and motored past soft-trip favourite Sword Point (Aus) (American Pharoah) for a breakthrough Hong Kong success.

A Group 3 winner in Australia for Chris Waller, Straight Arron still has plenty to find with the likes of Romantic Warrior (Ire) (Acclamation {GB}), whom he'll face in the G1 Longines Hong Kong Cup in three weeks' time. Cont.

WHAT 60 MINUTES GOT WRONG, AND WHAT IT GOT RIGHT

by Bill Finley

After the venerable and influential news shows 60 Minutes aired a piece on horse racing last week, people within the industry were understandably upset. The story was ugly, filled with graphic and grisly coverage of horses breaking down, and portrayed racing as a sport where drugs, corruption and horse fatalities had reached the point of being out of control.

“Horse racing is an industry where extremely devoted people labor because of one common thing: we all love horses, especially thoroughbred horses,” Denali Stud’s Craig Bandoroff wrote to 60 Minutes. “That did not come across in the piece. Granted your story was about our problem but some senses of balance would have been appropriate. I was very disappointed in both the piece and 60 Minutes in general. It makes me question the integrity and balance of the pieces I have seen over these many years.”

Bandaroff and everyone else upset by the story had a right to be. The story did lack balance. It told just one side while ignoring the progress that the sport has made to get its problems under control and that most people in the sport are decent people who would never dream of using performance-enhancing drugs on their horses or doing anything that would put them in danger. Cont. p3

TDN RISING STAR NYSOS BLITZES BOB HOPE

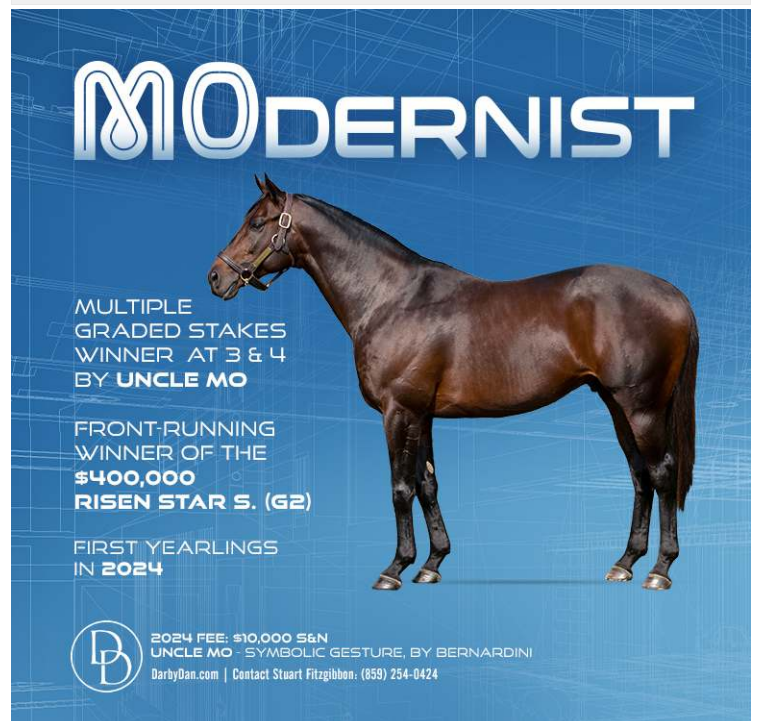

by Christina Bossinakis

Shaping up to be nothing more than a public workout, TDN Rising Star Nysos (Nyquist) appeared to scare off much of his competition in the GIII Bob Hope S. Holding true to form, the Baoma Corp. runner roared home a much-the-best winner in Sunday’s feature at Del Mar. Getting blinkers off while trying to remain undefeated, the colt wasn’t particularly hurried exiting Post 5, settling kindly at the back of the short four-horse field as Tejon Pass (Justify) and Mission Beach (Curlin) cut out a :22.34 opening quarter while Stronghold (Ghostzapper) and the 1-5 piping hot favorite stationed themselves within two lengths on the outside. With Tejon Pass soon beginning his retreat, Nysos collared the remaining pair through a half in :44.97. Passing the quarter pole, Mission Beach started to fall away as well while Nysos and Stronghold locked horns, poised for what appeared to be an epic stretch battle. Bob Hope cont. p6

But to portray this as a hatchet job on horse racing isn't fair either. There really is a lot wrong with this sport and nothing 60 Minutes had to say about horse racing was necessarily inaccurate. Sometimes, it's tough to have to stare at yourself in the mirror.

We'll get to that. But first the areas where 60 Minutes took short cuts that allowed them to ignore the other side of the story:

The sport has made meaningful progress when it comes to breakdowns. In 2009, the first year the Jockey Club kept statistics, the fatality rate was 2.00 horses per 1,000 starters. In 2022, the number had dropped by 37.5%, down to 1.25 horses per 1,000 starters. This didn't happen by accident. The sport worked together to make tracks safer and to keep infirm horses off the track. None of this was ever mentioned.

"Why is the only news offered for this sport about tragedy or corruption?" breeder JoAnn Hayden emailed 60 Minutes. "Where were the statistics to show how drastically the fatality numbers have decreased and the protocols that have been implemented for the safety and welfare of our horses and jockeys and their track surfaces?"

"I accept that you have the right to present your gruesome facts and sound bites of cheaters and horrific footage of horses breaking down but you could have acknowledged the honest hardworking people in our industry and left us with HOPE. WE deserve better!"

60 Minutes also led you to believe that Bob Baffert falls into the same category as convicted criminals Jorge Navarro and Jason Servis. While the fact that he has had many medication positives is regrettable, he's never been caught using performance-enhancing drugs. Yet, since Baffert is the sport's most high profile trainer and has had his share of problems, he was an easy target.

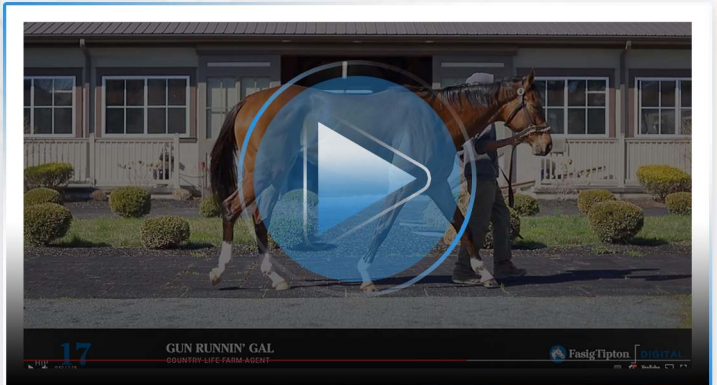

"For decades, the sport entirely overseen by state racing commissions has struggled to stop repeat drug violations, notably by the sport's most high-profile trainer, Bob Baffert," host Cecilia Vega said. She did not mention that most of Baffert's violations are for overages of therapeutic medications.

There was also a theme throughout the segment that the use of drugs is what has led to the high rate of breakdowns. There's no doubt that some horses have broken down because the drugs in their systems allowed them to run through pain, but breakdowns and drugs are two separate issues.

But 60 Minute's main point--that the sport's drug problems and safety issues are a serious problem--was spot on. Blaming the messenger doesn't help.

“Horse racing has reached its moment of reckoning and we wanted to know, can the sport really be reformed or is it too late?” Vega said as she opened the story. There was nothing hyperbolic about this statement. It is the question that hovers ominously over our sport and should have everyone worried about its future.

“How long is it going to take to clean this up?” Vega asked HISA CEO Lisa Lazarus. “It will probably take years to be fully confident that we’ve got a fully clean sport,” she responded.

“How big of a problem is doping in horse racing?” Vega asked Jockey Club Chairman Stuart Janney III. “It’s a big problem,” he said. “It strikes at the integrity of the sport. It’s not good for the horses. There’s nothing about it that is acceptable.”

In between the interviews with Janney and Lazarus, the audience was told of the 12 deaths surrounding the running of this year’s GI Kentucky Derby, that there were two deaths leading up to the Breeders’ Cup and that 13 horses died during the Saratoga meet. It delved into the stories of Servis and Navarro and played wiretaps of the two of them discussing their doping routines. It played a particularly sickening excerpt of a wiretapped conversation that caught harness trainer Nick Surick talking about all the horses that Navarro killed and broke down that he “made disappear.”

These things happened and by exposing them to the some 9 million people that watch 60 Minutes each week the sport looked terrible and likely inched closer to losing its social license to operate.

At least the segment didn’t portray the situation as hopeless. It gave time to Janney, Lazarus, FBI agent Shaun Richards and Meadowlands owner Jeff Gural, all of whom expressed the opinion that HISA is a huge improvement over the old way of doing things, when state racing commissions were responsible for drug testing and penalizing violators, and that things are heading in the right direction.

This was an exchange between Vega and Janney:

Vega: “Can you describe what horse racing regulation has been like in the last 50 years?”

Janney: “A failure...and increasingly so.”

Vega: “It’s gotten worse?”

Janney: “It’s gotten worse, and quite frankly states have not done their job.”

Will HISA usher in the changes we so badly need? Janney obviously thinks so. So far, the results have been mixed, but it’s too early in the game to say whether or not it’s going to make a real difference or not.

The problems are real. Though fewer horses are breaking down, the numbers remain unacceptably high. And every time a trainer winning at 30% moves up a horse by four or five lengths in the first race after a claim you’d have to have your head buried in the sand to think there isn’t something nefarious going on here and that it involves performance-enhancing drugs.

Yes, 60 Minutes could have tried harder to have a more balanced report, and maybe that just didn’t fit its agenda. Yes, we are doing better. But let’s not pretend that our problems aren’t serious one that desperately need to be addressed. That was the gist of the 60 Minutes piece, and they didn’t get that part wrong.

Inching ahead of Stronghold turning for home, Nysos was given the green light by Flavien Prat and the Bob Baffert trainee took off, cruising home an uncontested 8 3/4-length winner over Stronghold.

“With this being his second time out, you never know how they are going to react to it all but he was a real pro,” said Prat, accompanying the colt for the first time. “He broke well and relaxed well and showed rein on the lane. He kind of took a breather [early on] but I didn’t want to get myself you know head and head with everybody else.”

Let go at 6-1 odds for his career debut at Santa Anita Oct. 21, the OBS graduate made short work of nine rivals while earning TDN Rising Stardom in the six-furlong event.

“He’s a real quiet colt,” said Baffert. “He was real quiet in the paddock but Prat said once he got behind the gate, he just turned it on.”

Nysos | Benoit

Explaining the decision to lose the hood following the colt’s tour-de-force debut win, Baffert added, “I took the blinkers off of him, so he would relax. Last time, he went out there [on the lead] and I didn’t want to see that again. He handled it like a pro and did everything right. It’s tough for a horse, after a big race to come back and do it again.”

Pedigree Notes:

Holding the distinction for being the first TDN Rising Star for his sire, Nysos gives the son of Uncle Mo his 10th graded/group winner. The winner’s unraced dam, Zetta Z, is already responsible for stakes placed Attabe (Distorted Humor). The mare sold for $35,000 carrying a Street Sense filly at Keeneland November in 2021. After foaling a colt by Yaupon this season, she was bred back to Cyberknife. The OBS graduate’s third dam is GI Breeders’ Cup Distaff heroine Unbridled Elaine (Unbridled’s Song), the dam of a trio of graded stakes winners, including MGSW Etched (Forestry).

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

JASON LITT

In horse racing, performance matters. I am a bloodstock agent and my performance is measured by the winning post. If I don't perform, I no longer have the credibility to earn a living buying racehorses. The Jockey Club was founded "not only to encourage the development of the thoroughbred horse, but to establish racing on such a footing that it may command the interests as well as the confidence and favourable opinion of the public."

I moved to Kentucky to work in the horse business in 2000. Since then:

- The foal crop has reduced from 35,000 per annum to 17,000¹
- The risk of fatal injuries in America remains significantly greater than other major racing nations²
- Public confidence in horse racing is alarmingly low; a mere 22% positive public impression³

By every measure, our industry leaders have spectacularly failed to perform.

So today, I echo the call from Max Hodge for the industry to assume its own control. And I also raise the stakes:

Jason Litt | Keeneland

1. Call out the accountability and performance of all industry alphabet groups.
2. Make transparency the new normal so we can start to earn back the favourable opinion of the public.
3. Create a safe environment for horses, jockeys, and employees.

It is time for our industry's leaders to be held accountable for their performance. Just like the rest of us.

Dr. Caleb Harms Medical Fund

Donate Now

 Equine Medical Associates is organizing this fundraiser.

Equine Medical Associates, PSC asks that you join us in support of one of our associate veterinarians.

Over the past 6 weeks, Dr. Caleb Harms has developed what is being called a hypersensitivity pneumonitis / organizing pneumonia that has aggressively compromised his lung function. Unfortunately, no inciting cause has been identified and response to treatment has been atypical and limited.

Last week, he was placed in the lung transplant program. This can be a long and lengthy process, but it also provides time to see if any improvement might occur. He and his family continue to pray for a miracle but are preparing for the next step if required.

In the meantime, he is being treated at the UK Albert Chandler Hospital. Caleb is up for the fight, whatever that may look like—one day at a time.

Please join us in giving what you can and continue to keep them in your thoughts and prayers.

PIN A 'TDN RISING STAR' ON LESLIE'S ROSE AFTER STRONG MAIDEN WIN by J.N. Campbell

Leslie's Rose | Coglianesse

In the Aqueduct Sunday opener, Leslie's Rose (Into Mischief) took to the track in what amounted to a professional debut as she won impressively against a field of five others. The sharp start to her career garnered her 'TDN Rising Star' honors for the effort.

Overlooked a touch at the windows as the 9-2 third choice, the Keeneland September grad exited the gate swiftly to set the pace up the backstretch. Despite a brief challenge around the far turn by chasers Value Area (More Than Ready) and heavy favorite Shoplifting (Into Mischief), when it was time for Irad Ortiz to push the button at the top of the lane, the bay filly responded readily. The Todd Pletcher trainee ran up the score in the end by 9 1/4 lengths.

Whisper Hill Farm purchased Leslie's Rose (hip 117) for $1.15 million at the 2022 Keeneland September Yearling Sale. The newly-minted 'Rising Star' is out of Wildwood Rose (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}), who is dam to three foals, two of which have raced and this is her first winner. Wildwood Rose's youngest offspring is a yearling filly by Good Magic.

The winner's dam is a half-sister to 'TDN Rising Star' and GI Besilu Stables Florida Derby champ Materiality (Afleet Alex) and to GI Kentucky Oaks runner-up My Miss Sophia (Unbridled's Song), dam to full sibs 'TDN Rising Star' Annapolis (War Front) and MSP Nevisian Sunrise. Leslie's Rose is multiple-leading sire Into Mischief's 42nd 'TDN Rising Star'.

Note: In the Sunday edition of Insights, Leslie's Rose's half-sister Bo Derek's last race was misattributed. The filly's last race was January 2023, not in October as previously stated.

MITOLE'S CARBONE DEBUTS TO 'RISING STARDOM' AT CHURCHILL by Stefanie Grimm

A first-time starter for Steve Asmussen, Carbone (Mitole) put in a professional debut effort to earn a 'TDN Rising Star' tag Sunday under the Twinspires.

Facing a mixed field of runners, including a pair of rivals exiting a key race from Keeneland in October, the William and Corinne Heiligbrodt homebred caught a flyer from his outside gate and quickly got the jump on his rivals, opening up a length on Goldbrick (Goldencents). Paced through fractions of :22.13 and :45.77, Carbone turned back Goldbrick around the far turn and drew off nicely under Ricardo Santana Jr. to defeat this field handily by eight lengths in a final time of 1:09.84 at odds of 5/2.

Carbone is owned, trained and ridden by each of the same connections as his freshman sire (by Eskendereya) who now picks up a third 'TDN Rising Star' and 25th winner from his first crop. Treasure In Heaven saw her yearling Instagrando colt bring $250,000 from OXO Equine as a weanling at last year's FTKNOV sale and she foaled a Yaupon filly this spring before returning to Yaupon for 2024.

Chili Flag debuted in her native France as a 2-year-old and picked up a stakes placing in her third start. Kept in Europe as a 3-year-old, she added another win last May before shipping across the pond to join Chad Brown's barn earlier this year. Never off the board since making her North American debut at Gulfstream Feb. 25, the 4-year-old posted a win at Belmont July 9 and was just narrowly defeated in each of her two starts since. 4-1 for her American stakes debut, she was quickly guided to the rail from an outer gate to race third just off early leader Faith in Humanity (Fr) (Lope de Vega {Ire}). Despite drifting out around the turn, Chili Flag came with a strong rally outside of the leaders, stuck a head in front a sixteenth from home and prevailed while driven out.

"Beautiful," said winning rider Irad Ortiz, Jr. of his mount's turn of foot. "She gets there without hitting her one time, and when I hit her, she responded and kept responding."

A 26th stakes winner for Cityscape (GB), Chili Flag was picked up out of last year's Arqana Saint-Cloud Sale and is out of a daughter of European champion 2-year-old filly Blue Duster (Danzig). Her dam's half-sister, Blue Symphony (GB), is responsible for MGSW/MGISP Fantasia (GB) (Sadler's Wells) along with GSW Pink Symphony (GB) (Monjeu {Ire}). Also Ran: Frontline Warrior, Sanderson, Wine Collector, Buffoon (Fr), Quokka, Ruddy Buddy, Blue Creek, Uncle Truly, Day Away. Scratched: Pandagate, Works for Me.

Spirit Prince finally got his picture taken Sunday at Aqueduct after four in-the-money attempts which included running third in both the GIII With Anticipation S. at Saratoga and in the GII Pilgrim S. during the Belmont at the Big A meet.

Last seen getting caught late in the Awad S. in Ozone Park Oct. 28, the gray colt was rewarded as the 5-2 choice here. Quick from the gate, Spirit Prince hustled to be a part of the pace, was taken back into third around the first turn and was forced to check heading into the backstretch. The Christophe Clement trainee took aim at a pair of longshot leaders, waited to pounce around the far turn and drove home a winner.

"I found him as a yearling and he was reasonably priced," said Clement. "He's been very consistent. Just the fact that he's been able to run five times--for a 2-year-old on the grass, that's an achievement in New York. So, it's fun!"

The winner has a yearling half-sister by Complexity who was purchased for $250,000 at this year's Keeneland September Sale by Mike Ryan. Her dam produced another Complexity colt this year and visited Girvin for next year. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by FanDuel TV.

LOOSE WIRE (c, 3, Street Sense--Dance With Doves, by A.P. Indy) won going nine furlongs by 6 1/4 lengths in his Oct. 29 Woodbine maiden run. Well-backed as the 7-5 choice here, the bay colt got the jump from the rail on a longshot and led into the first turn. The favorite made it look easy up the backstretch but was challenged by Hall of Dreams (Lemon Drop Kid) at the top of the lane. The Kevin Attard trainee responded and cleared this condition by 1 1/2 lengths. The winner is a half-brother to Dance Again (Awesome Again), SW-Can, GSP-USA, $270,604 and Swoop and Strike (Smart Strike), GSP, $128,673. His dam is responsible for a yearling colt by Lookin At Lucky and foaled a filly by Nyquist this year before being bred to Maclean's Music for 2024. HURRICANE J (c, 3, Nyquist--Pantanal, by Congrats) won his first two starts as a juvenile but faded from the early pace to finish seventh behind champion 2-year-old Forte (Violence) in last year's GI Breeders' Cup Juvenile. Unplaced in two starts earlier this spring, Sunday's 5-2 shot transferred from Paulo Lobo to Jorge Delgado ahead of his Gulfstream debut. Sent to the lead, Hurricane J always held a safe advantage over this field, cruised through a half in :44.78 and was ridden out to win by 2 3/4 lengths over Real Talk (Gemologist). Cont.

Last spotted at Del Mar Aug. 31, she shipped east to join Bill Mott's barn as the 5-2 second choice Sunday. Last from the gate, the homebred checked back off of heels in a tightly-bunched group to trail while racing wide up the backstretch and into the far turn. Under a sustained drive, she drew in pacesetter Vanished (Speightstown) and was able to clear past a sixteenth from home to win by 1 1/4 lengths. The homebred tipped to the outside at the quarter pole and ran down KY Thirty Won (Speightstown) to get the money by 2 1/4 lengths. A half-sister to GIII Florida Oaks victress Quality Rocks (Rock Hard Ten), who herself produced Curlin's Girl (Curlin), this is Lost Innocence's first winner. She foaled a filly Apr. 11 by Mendelssohn and was bred to Corniche for 2024. Lifetime Record: 5-1-2-1, $80,400. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by FanDuel TV.

P MUTTER PICKLE (f, 2, Vino Rosso--Lost Raven {GSW, $359,050}, by Uncle Mo) made her debut as the 3-1 second choice here. The chestnut filly was quickest up the backstretch, continued to control the fractions around the far turn and at the quarter pole ran for fun to win by 8 1/4 lengths over Mel's Baby Sister (Cross Traffic). The winner, the 21st for Vino Rosso (by Curlin), has a yearling full-sister, who was purchased for $37,000 at the Fasig-Tipton October Yearling Sale by SJB Stable Trust. A half-sister to MGSW Lewis Bay (Bernardini), Lost Raven just went for $30,000 to Collinsworth Thoroughbred Racing at the Keeneland November Sale while in-foal to Idol. 5th-Del Mar, $63,500, Msw, 11-19, 2yo, f, 5fT, :57.37, fm, 3/4 length.

FEISTY MITOLE (f, 2, Mitole--Fiercely, by Hard Spun) tried twice to break her maiden over the dirt this past summer at Del Mar before switching to grass there Sept. 8 when she finished sixth. A well-beaten eighth after a tough start at Santa Anita Oct. 14, the bay landed back at the seaside oval as a 9-1 shot here. Firing cleanly at the bell, the Peter Miller trainee tracked a couple of longshots and favorite Ashley (Into Mischief) up the backstretch and tipped to the outside at the quarter pole. With a clear path to the wire, the filly rolled home a winner by 3/4 length over Alluring (Ghostzapper). The winner's dam produced a yearling filly by Tom's d'Etat and was bred to Complexity for next year. Feisty Mitole is the 26th winner for her first-crop sire (by Eskendereya). MATANZAS CREEK (c, 3, Empire Maker--Cuvee Uncorked {SW & MGSP, $149,200}, by Cuvee), fifth at a short price in his Santa Anita debut at 6 1/2 furlongs Oct. 22, took less money Sunday at 6-1 but bounced right to the front and showed the way in hand through a :45.69 opening half. Favored Judge Miller (Curlin) ran on late but was never within striking distance as Matanzas Creek won by 2 1/4 lengths. Cuvee Uncorked has not produced a foal since the winner but was bred to Greatest Honour for 2024. Sales History: $75,000 Ylg '21 KEESEP. FIONA'S MAGIC (f, 2, St Patrick's Day--Mollie's Magic, by Factum), second in her five-furlong debut July 1, carried a weight break into her second start while picking up the added furlong. Sharp from the jump, the 3-2 favorite set a contested pace outside of Derby Hangover (Violence) through a half in :45.28 before confidently turning that rival away and opening up at will to win by seven lengths on the wire. The sixth winner for her freshman sire (by Pioneerof the Nile), Fiona's Magic is a half to Cajun's Magic (Cajun Breeze), SW, $311,425. Mollie's Magic has a Khozan yearling colt and reported a full-brother to Cajun's Magic this year before returning to Cajun Breeze. FLYING LIAM (g, 3, Liam's Map--Fly Me to Dubai, by Into Mischief) hit the board at Monmouth in his second start but struggled over a muddy track at Belmont's Aqueduct meet last out Oct. 15. The 9-2 shot led the way Sunday and never let the field reel him in, going gate to wire graduate by 3 1/2 lengths over Betta Go Go Go (Kantharos). YOUKNOWNOTHING (f, 2, Candy Ride {Arg}--Ygritte, by Tapit) debuted as a 8-1 shot here. The $600,000 Fasig-Tipton Yearling Sale grad trailed the field early, made up a few spots along the backstretch, but really made some key moves by weaving through traffic around the far turn. Diving from the extreme outside to the three path at the top of the lane, the Christophe Clement trainee rolled past a pair of tiring leaders with a furlong left and won by a neck over fellow first timer Tape Runner (Audible). Ygritte, who was purchased for $300,000 at the '20 Keeneland November Sale by Determined Stud with the winner in-utero, is also responsible for a yearling filly by Quality Road.
