

HOLLAND ENDS "TOUGH" BREEZE-UP YEAR ON HIGH AT ARQANA

Arthur Hoyeau signs for the top lot at Arqana | Zuzanna Lupa

By Brian Sheerin

A €210,000 daughter of Too Darn Hot (GB) headlined what was a predictably tricky two-year-old section to the Summer Sale at Arqana as the curtain definitively came down on the 2024 breeze-up season.

It was Brendan Holland's Grove Stud who consigned the day one top lot, who was bought by bloodstock agent Arthur Hoyeau on behalf of MyRaceHorse.

"She's been bought for MyRaceHorse and will go to the United States," said Hoyeau. "She's a very interesting filly with lots of qualities and has the perfect profile to go to the States. She breezed well yesterday and we've had very positive feedback on her preparation. We're very happy."

The Tuesday sale-topper was sourced by Holland from the Book 1 session of the Tattersalls October Yearling Sale for 80,000gns. She is out of the winning mare Formidable Kitt (GB), who belongs to the well-known Chasemore Farm family and is a half-sister to black-type performers Arthur Kitt (GB) (Camelot {GB}) and Eartha Kitt (GB) (Pivotal {GB}).

Formidable Kitt has already produced a classy type herself through Kitteridge (GB) (Camelot {GB}), who won her maiden at Newcastle before gaining black-type when third in the Listed Pretty Polly Stakes at Newmarket earlier this year. Cont. p3

WHITE BIRCH FACES CRUCIAL GALLOP BEFORE ECLIPSE DECISION IS MADE

The participation of White Birch (GB) (Ulysses {Ire}) in Saturday's Coral-Eclipse at Sandown hinges on how the Group 1 scorer comes through a crucial gallop on Wednesday, according to George Murphy, assistant trainer to his father John.

White Birch got the better of Aidan O'Brien's Auguste Rodin (Ire) (Deep Impact {Jpn}) in the Tattersalls Gold Cup at the Curragh on his most recent start but missed the rematch in the Prince Of Wales's Stakes at Royal Ascot.

He will face another Ballydoyle big gun in this year's Derby winner City Of Troy (Justify) if declared for Saturday, but Murphy explained that there are some hoops to jump through at home first.

Murphy said, "The plan is to go to Sandown and he will have a breeze tomorrow [Wednesday] and he will have his blood done in the morning again, with a decision made after midday. Hopefully we will be able to go and we're really looking forward to it." Cont. p4

Lot 47: a Too Darn Hot filly led the way at Arqana on Tuesday
Zuzanna Lupa

Explaining how he ended up bringing lot 47 to the Summer Sale at Arqana, Holland said, "She wasn't ready for an earlier sale so we gave her the time and thankfully it has worked out. I didn't even enter her in any earlier sale than this. We were pretty confident coming here that she would go down well and, since we have bought her, we couldn't have wished for the sire to have progressed like he has. He's been having Classic winners and of course this filly's sister got black-type this year as well, so the whole thing has fallen into place."

He added, "It's unusual that something of this quality gets presented here at this sale. It was slightly by default but I just felt that she had a strong pedigree and, if she needed the time, she needed the time. We'd no choice but to come here and it has worked out in everybody's favour."

Renowned breeze-up handler Willie Browne of Mocklershill also featured among the top lots when selling a Kodiak (GB) colt for €52,000 to trainer Yann Barberot. Like Holland, Browne described this year's trade as respectable rather than memorable.

He said, "We sold a Kodiak on behalf of a client but he actually lost money. Blarney got a touch there today, and fair play to him, but we were under no illusions whatsoever coming over here for this sale."

Browne added, "Tattersalls Ireland was a complete one-off this year. They had the people there to bolster up that sale and, consequently, they had a 90 per cent clearance rate. That was night and day compared to all of the other breeze-up sales this year. Outside of Fairyhouse, there was no middle and no bottom to the breeze-up market this year."

"I had two or three horses who made a substantial amount of money and that steadied the ship but I wouldn't have made any money. Relatively speaking, I did okay. I didn't do too much damage but it has been a really tough year for a lot of people. I'd say I only washed my face."

Holland agreed with Browne's summary that a lot of handlers felt the going tough, particularly in the middle to lower end of the market, and stressed that there is a finite number of horses that can pass through the breeze-up system in a given year.

"It [the market] feels tough and the consensus is that it was tough this year," Holland explained. "The amount of money spent at the breeze-up sales this year was certainly on a par to last year but there was a slight increase in the number of horses offered. There was a similar amount of horses sold so that number has remained static. Like any other market, the breeze-up sector is a finite market and everyone within the sector and within the industry needs to be mindful of that."

The Summer Sale at Arqana will not be the only alternative that breeze-up consignors will have when it comes to offering horses that either missed a slot or failed to find a suitor at one of the earlier sales. Goffs is set to enter the market in 2025 while Goresbride has stated its intention to return to the breeze-up sector as well.

Suddenly, from one breeze-up sale in Ireland, there could potentially be three, and Holland revealed that the Breeze-Up Consignors Association will be meeting to discuss this very proposition in the coming weeks.

Asked how he would be approaching the yearling sales in light of this year's trade and considering the new dimension to next year's breeze-up circuit, Holland said, "I have no intention of changing anything drastically. We try to do things better every year. My numbers have stayed the same for over 10 years now-I never sell more than 25 horses. I'm the same as everyone else, I just try to buy the best horse I can for the money I have."

He added, "But there is plenty to think about ahead of next year. We are getting very close [to the limit of horses passing through the system] and there were roughly 1,100 breeze-up horses offered before this sale today and 750 of them were sold.

"Those numbers are very similar to last year. Everyone is thinking about it [the two new sales] and it will be discussed formally amongst ourselves as an association in the coming weeks."

Of the 93 breeze-up horses offered on Tuesday, just 46 were sold, representing a clearance rate of 49%. The National Hunt part of the session put a much better look on the figures and, all told, 158 of the 255 horses offered were sold for an aggregate of €5,218,000 which was down 11% on last year despite the fact that there 32 more lots offered. The clearance rate was 62%, down 18% on last year, while the average was up 1% to €33,025 and the median up marginally from €22,000 to €22,500.

EUROPEAN NEWS

White Birch will have to concede 10lb to City Of Troy as well as the other three-year-olds in the mix, which include Clive Cox's Ghostwriter (Ire) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}), Brian Meehan's Royal Ascot scorer Jayarebe (Fr) (Zoffany {Ire}) and Roger Teal's Poule d'Essai des Poulains runner-up Dancing Gemini (Ire) (Camelot {GB}).

The latter is set to be partnered by Kieran Shoemark for the first time at Sandown, with Dylan Browne McMonagle--who has been in the saddle for Dancing Gemini's two previous starts this season--likely to be claimed by Joseph O'Brien for the ride on Al Riffa (Fr) (Wootton Bassett {GB}).

"Al Riffa is committed for Joseph and we knew he had an entry, so we've basically worked around the idea that we won't be getting Dylan," Teal explained. "We set out to use a jockey familiar with our tracks, which will help us, though Dylan's a very good jockey and I'm sure he's going to be champion in Ireland.

"It will help to have someone who is streetwise and has a bit of knowledge of the track, so that decision was made. Oisin Murphy was due to take the ride, but Mr Gosden has made an entry up in the Lancashire Oaks and Oisin is under contract to go out there. We've taken the chance on Kieran and we think he ticks a lot of the boxes."

RAMATUELLE AND BUCANERO FUERTE BOTH EXPECTED TO SKIP PRIX JEAN PRAT

Ramatuelle | Scoop Dyga

Connections of Ramatuelle are targeting an autumn campaign with the daughter of Justify after she finished third in the G1 Coronation Stakes at Royal Ascot, deciding against a tilt at the G1 Prix Jean Prat at Deauville on Sunday.

Trained by Christopher Head, Ramatuelle won the G2 Prix Robert Papin as a two-year-old and has since finished placed at the top level on three occasions. Runner-up to Vandeeke (GB) (Havana Grey {GB}) in last year's Prix Morny at Deauville, she preceded her Royal Ascot effort with another third-place finish in the 1,000 Guineas at Newmarket.

The three-year-old is now set to drop back to seven furlongs when she makes her next intended appearance in the G1 Prix de la Foret at Longchamp on Sunday, October 6, with an outing at the Breeders' Cup also on the agenda for later in the year.

"The owners want to respect her and make the best programme ever for her," said Head. "We are going to wait for the Prix de la Foret and then the Breeders' Cup. That's the idea [to drop her back to seven furlongs] and obviously the Breeders' Cup at the end of the season on the mile is pretty much going to suit her profile.

"I think it is the best bet we can get with her for the season. She is full of speed and the mile might be a bit tricky for her at the end. So, everything says she's better at that type of distance."

The Adrian Murray-trained Bucanero Fuerte (GB) (Wootton Bassett {GB}) will be another absentee from the Sunday's Prix Jean Prat, having failed to recover in time from the setback which ruled him out of Royal Ascot. Cont. p5

A Group 1 winner as a juvenile when landing the Phoenix Stakes at the Curragh, Bucanero Fuerte was last seen winning the G3 Lacken Stakes on his first start of the campaign at Naas in May, with signs of travel sickness forcing him to miss Ascot when he was among the favourites for the G1 Commonwealth Cup.

"We're thinking of the July Cup at Newmarket," Murray said of future plans for the colt. "He won't be ready for France [Prix Jean Prat]. We're aiming for Newmarket but whether we will have him ready in time, I don't know.

"He will have lost a good bit of weight and we're having to build him back up. We're hoping to have him there, but there's no guarantee. We have a lot of options for him if we don't get him to Newmarket."

RIDING A DREAM ACADEMY JOINS THE BRITISH RACING SCHOOL

Graduates from the Riding A Dream Academy

The Riding A Dream Academy, which was set up in 2021, has been integrated into the British Racing School (BRS) in Newmarket.

Initially supported by the Racing Foundation and with a mission to help young people from ethnic or disadvantaged communities to become involved in British racing, the academy will continue to support these groups through its riding-based programmes. These include taster days, residential weeks and a year-long Scholarship.

Khadijah Mellah, co-founder of the Academy said, "We are very grateful to the British Racing School who have delivered all of our programmes through their world-class team of instructors. Together, we have introduced hundreds of young people from underrepresented communities into racing, with many now working in the sport. By working even more closely, I am excited about the scope we will have to introduce even more young people to this amazing sport."

The director of the academy, Naomi Lawson, will now be based at BRS. She said, "We are incredibly excited to be formally joining The British Racing School which has been absolutely instrumental in the success of the Academy. The partnership marks an exciting new chapter for the Academy, offering unparalleled opportunities to grow the numbers of young people we work with from underrepresented communities, whilst continuing to support racing in becoming more diverse and inclusive."

IRISH DERBY DAY RECORDS HIGHEST EVER TURNOVER ON WORLD POOL

World Pool turnover on the G1 Dubai Duty Free Irish Derby and Irish Derby Day as a whole posted new records on Sunday.

Turnover from World Pool bet types on the Irish Derby rose four percent on last year to hit HK$35.4 million (€4.2 million). Across the nine races, the total value of bets placed reached HK$235 million (€28 million), up on last year's figure of HK$220.7 million (€26.3 million) on what was World Pool's second year in operation on Irish Derby Day.

Michael Fitzsimons, Executive Director, Wagering Products at the Hong Kong Jockey Club (HKJC), said, "Once again we were treated to some brilliant racing on Irish Derby Day and it was fantastic to have all nine races from the Curragh available to our global customers as part of World Pool. The Irish Derby is a highlight of the Irish Flat season and we were pleased to see improved turnover on the race, 12 months on from World Pool's first involvement on Irish Derby Day, as well as over the day as a whole."

Former Ralph Beckett trainee La Isla Mujeres ran fifth in May's Listed Orby Stakes at the Curragh when making her first start for the Paddy Twomey yard on seasonal return and stepped forward to claim a first stakes rosette here. Accepting a tow in second for the most of this third outing at black-type level, she thundered forward off the home turn to assume control approaching the quarter-mile pole and was driven clear in the closing stages to register a career high with a 3 1/2-length buffer.

"She had some nice form last year and I knew she'd come on plenty for her first run [of the year]," the winning trainer commented. "They are a good farm and she was bought as a potential broodmare to add to their band. It was important she got black type and she has, which is fantastic. She's a Listed winner now, so we'll have a look at a fillies Group 3 somewhere, probably a mile-and-a-half. She has a bit of pedigree and plenty of ability, so we'll pick our spots carefully." Q & A WITH LEIF AARON ON THE GROWTH OF FLASH SALES

Click here for our chat with Leif Aaron on Cloudy Dancer and the growth of the Fasig-Tipton Digital platform | ThoroStride

Fasig-Tipton Digital has been hitting the mark with flash sales as of late. While the auction house is selective when it comes to picking out the right kind of horse to offer in these exclusive auctions, the two flash sales that they've conducted so far this year have been shining success stories for the sellers and for Fasig-Tipton.

Mensa, the first 2-year-old winner for his freshman sire Complexity, set a record as the most expensive offering to sell on Fasig-Tipton Digital when he was purchased by John Stewart's Resolute Bloodstock for $740,000 on Apr. 29. Last week, Cloudy Dancer (GB) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}) became the subject of a second flash sale after her son Shareholder (Not This Time) won the G2 Norfolk Stakes at the Royal Ascot meeting. The 8-year-old mare sold on Friday, June 28 for $430,000 to David Hutson.

The TDN is in the process of launching a new weekly podcast, The Racing Business Hour. Hosted by Bill Finley and Katie Petrunyak, the show will focus on news in racing that has a direct impact on businesses within the industry. As part of our pilot episode, we brought in Fasig-Tipton's Director of Digital Sales Leif Aaron to discuss the growth of flash sales within the digital sales arena. The 2-year-old filly is consigned by Hunter Valley Farm, agent.

TDN: What was the process like of getting in touch with Cloudy Dancer's owner, Skyfall Thoroughbreds LLC, and then getting the ball rolling to conduct a flash sale?

LA: Well Grant [Williamson] and Boyd [Browning] had gotten in touch with the owner about the possibility of doing a flash sale. I was actually on vacation with my family. They called me and said they were wanting to do this and asked me what I thought. I thought it was a great opportunity to show what our digital website is capable of to capitalize on an update. I was thrilled to have her on there and it ended up being very successful.

Shareholder at Royal Ascot | Horsephotos

LA: For a one-horse sale, it's not a tight turnaround. It is tough in a normal digital situation because we only give ourselves about a week to turn around a catalogue. We will have 100 to 150 head in a catalogue and we only have a week to turn that around. That is a ton of work as far as collecting paperwork, getting good pictures and video, getting all the vetting done and all of that, so when you take that and you turn it into one horse, it seems very easy compared to what it's like to do a monthly digital auction.

TDN: Cloudy Dancer drew 2,432 views over the four days of bidding. That's a huge number, but how do you ensure that you're getting the right people and the right type of buyers visiting the website and checking

TDN: Bidding opened up on Cloudy Dancer just five days after Shareholder's Norfolk win. Was that a tight turnaround to get everything in motion?

LA: I think the best part for me about Digital is that it's still Fasig-Tipton, the oldest auction house in North America.

Leif Aaron in 2022 | Fasig-Tipton

So there's a huge emailing list we have and we use the TDN to get the word out. Getting this in front of the people that we think need to have it is easy, but when you take a guy like Mr. Hutson who hasn't been as active as he had been in the past, none of us would have expected him to be the purchaser of the horse. So that's kind of the beauty of digital is that it's bringing in a whole new segment of the market that we're not expecting. We have our expectations of the buyers that will come to the sales, but when you go digital, we've had a whole other group of people come in that have never done business with Fasig-Tipton. So it's exciting to see growth in the auction business in general, which is great for everyone.

TDN: We've all grown so accustomed to the digital sales arena, but it was only a little over two years ago that you launched Fasig-Tipton Digital. What have you learned and how has the platform evolved since you first started?

LA: We have taken baby steps and learned the best way to set the catalogues up with what is going to sell during certain times of the year. We've gotten to the point now where we know it's hard to sell a broodmare or broodmare prospect in June if she doesn't have an update. In general, mindframes are starting to move towards racehorses. I would have told you in the beginning that I think young stock--weanlings and yearlings--would never be able to be sold online. They would always be in person. But now we're seeing a boom of those kinds of horses being sold online.

It has evolved at a very rapid pace. I mean, exponential growth. We've already sold more horses this year than we did last year. When we first started doing it, it was about how often can we have a sale with a critical mass of horses? Now we don't have a choice. Cont.

If we don't have a sale, people are saying, 'Why aren't you having a sale this month?' Which is a blessing for us, there's no doubt about that.

The whole point in doing this all along was to offer our clients another avenue to sell horses and to make it more liquid. I think from the sellers to the buyers to us, it has been beneficial for everyone involved and I think that's why it is working so well. We have the highest average in digital sales in the world. We also have the highest clearance rate. I think the thing I'm most proud of this year is that we've boasted a 90% clearance rate and we've sold over 500 head of horses. There is just not another segment of the market that is as strong as that. I think when you do things that are of benefit to your client, that's why it works. This was put out here for them to use and they have. We're very appreciative of that and I think the clients are too. I have a lot of people that are returning customers.

TDN: So now you have monthly digital sales, flash sales, and of course the "old school" in-person sales. If you're approaching an owner about potentially selling through Fasig-Tipton, under what circumstances are you going to recommend a flash sale, a monthly digital sale, or waiting until the next in-person sale comes around?

LA: So I'll say this: flash sales are extremely difficult. It's very difficult to get a huge update no matter who you are. To get that horse winning the Norfolk like he did, to look like he could possibly be one of the best 2-year-olds in Europe, that's hard to get. It's even harder to find an owner that is realistic about what the value of the horse may be. So we've been approached quite a few times about different flash sales where owners had astronomical expectations, but that's the one thing for me that's so important is if you do a flash sale, it has to work. Cont.

That's a lot of pressure, but if we put up flash sales and they RNA every time, no one is going to return to that. So for us, it's getting that recipe right of a huge update, a realistic owner and a buying base that is willing to participate. That's why we have so few of them is because all of those buttons have to be pressed in order for us to take that task on and that's why the ones we've had have been so successful.

When it comes to deciding between a flash sale and a monthly sale, you know when you have a flash sale horse. It's a huge update and it doesn't come around that often. With the monthly digital sales, it depends on the time of year. Right now, I would say you want any racehorse you can put online. With our July Selected Horses of Racing Age Sale coming up, a lot of people feel more comfortable selling in that arena and that's great. I'm glad that Fasig-Tipton has options for people to choose from going in person to going digital.

STAKES-WINNING MARES HIGHLIGHT INGLIS DIGITAL USA JULY SALE CATALOGUE

Canadian champion sprinter Hazelbrook (Bayern), in foal to Triple Crown winner Justify, and multiple stakes winner Lucky Girl (Ire) (Exceed and Excel {Aus}) highlight the inaugural Inglis Digital USA July Sale.

“We are excited to feature these two impressive entries in our inaugural sale as Inglis Digital USA,” said CEO Liza Hendriks. “The global demand for both buying and selling has been substantial, highlighting the international appeal of these two mares.

“They are the first of many high-quality listings to come, and we look forward to showcasing more in our July Sale and future sales.”

The 6-year-old Hazelbrook, carrying her first foal, won the 2022 GIII Hendrie Stakes and GIII Ontario Fashion Stakes before earning the Sovereign Award that season as Canada's top female sprinter.

“Hazelbrook is a very commercial physical, balanced, and strong. Looking deeper into her race record, you will see that she had tremendous raw ability; she was a champion sprinter. She ran a five and a half Rogozin, which would match many Grade I horses,” said Tom Ryan. “Breeding a mare of her ability to a stallion with no limitations in Justify made perfect sense to me. Speed and versatility crossed with the high cruising speed that Justify possessed and is reproducing globally.”

RICK ABBOTT TO JUDGE MHBA YEARLING SHOW

Bloodstock agent Rick Abbott has been named the judge for the 90th annual Maryland Horse Breeders Association Yearling Show to be held July 21 at the Maryland State Fairgrounds in Timonium.

With his wife Dixie, Abbott operated Charlton Bloodstock for nearly 40 years, selling yearlings, weanlings and broodmares at the major sales around the country. Charlton, headquartered in Pennsylvania, was one of the region's top consignors for decades.

In addition to selling horses for clients, Charlton became a busy breeding farm, boarding and foaling mares and, early on, even standing a stallion or two.

"I've looked at a lot of yearlings over the years," Abbott said of his bloodstock career. "I feel honored to be asked to judge the 90th anniversary of this show."

The Abbotts retired in 2016, sending their final Charlton consignment to that fall's Fasig-Tipton Midlantic yearling sale.

In addition to the 20 KEEP Foundation/Race for Education Scholarship recipients, the Race for Education also awarded its annual Robert J. Frankel Scholarship to four students: Nathalie

The Robert J. Frankel Scholarship is available to a student attending a college or university in California or New York state, pursuing any field of study, whose family is employed in the Thoroughbred industry.

“Our partnership with the KEEP Foundation has allowed us to extend our reach and support to even more students,” said Elisabeth Jensen, Executive Director of The Race for Education. “We are grateful for the continued support of our industry which includes: the Alex G. INFORMATION SESSION MONDAY FOR FAYETTE INDUSTRIAL SOLAR PROPOSALS

Lexington-Fayette (Kentucky) Urban County Government's 12th District Councilmember Kathy Plomin will host an information session on the two industrial-scale solar farm proposals in rural Fayette County in the Haley Road/Winchester Road area next Monday from 6-7:30 p.m. at Macdeonia Christian Church, 4551 Winchester Road, Lexington. Members of the Lexington-Fayette or surrounding counties who are interested in learning more about these potential developments are encouraged to attend.

There will be important information on the status of the proposals, time for questions and public input, and information about how the public can weigh in with the LFUCG Planning Commission and the Public Service Commission.

Eastern Kentucky Power Cooperative (EKPC) has submitted a proposal for a 400-acre industrial solar development on Winchester Road. That proposal is currently moving through the Kentucky Public Service Commission, which regulates utilities in Kentucky, according to the Alliance. EKPC is a not-for-profit generation and transmission electric utility with headquarters in Winchester, Ky.

Silicon Ranch, a solar power company based in Nashville, has proposed a Zoning Ordinance Text Amendment to permit industrial-scale solar facilities in the agricultural zones of the county. That proposal is currently moving through the planning commission. Approval would allow industrial solar farms in any agricultural zone with a conditional use permit, to be evaluated by the Board of Adjustment under limited conditions, according to the Fayette Alliance.

For more information, visit the Fayette Alliance website.

ADDITIONAL 2024 THOROUGHBRED BREED IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM FUNDS ALLOCATED

Funds totaling an additional $66,588 have been allocated to the Thoroughbred Breed Improvement Program for 2024, according to a press release from the Alberta Thoroughbred Community Racing Association (ACTRA), the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society (CTHS), and the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association (HBPA).

"This allocation of additional funds marks a significant commitment to the enhancement of the Alberta Thoroughbred industry," said CTHS Alberta General Manager Jean Kruse. "We are confident that these investments will not only support the development of local breeding programs but also strengthen the competitiveness of Alberta-bred horses in the racing circuit."

The funds, available from Horse Racing Alberta, will be distributed as follows:

- $5,000 directed toward owners of horses of all ages foaled in Alberta which place in Community Stakes races, bringing the total funding for 2024 in this category to $25,000.
- $10,000 allocated to enhance Community Alberta-Bred Stakes purses, resulting in a total of $100,000 for these races.
- $51,588 split between Owners' Breeding Support and Breeders' Breeding Support, with each group receiving an additional $25,794.
