

PARX DIDN'T CLOSE DOWN ITS TURF COURSE AND A HORSE PAID THE PRICE

Crisper wins Alphabet Soup S. over Parx turf | Sarah Andrew

The Week in Review by Bill Finley

After a horse named Causes Trouble (Creative Cause) broke down in the Aug. 24 Parx Dash at Parx Race Course and had to be euthanized, a video circulated that showed that the turf course was in abysmal condition. The video showed that there were numerous holes in the turf course and that the grass itself looked like something you might see in a vacant lot. Just without the broken bottles. There were as many weeds as there were blades of grass.

"It's always been known as a bad course, but if I knew it was that bad, I never would have put my horse on that surface," John Fanelli, the co-owner of Creative Cause, said. "I was really upset about the condition of the course and when I saw it myself, I was in shock."

At the time Parx did the right thing and announced that turf racing had been halted pending a review of the turf course. HISA was called in to investigate. They evaluated the track Sept. 2 and 3, found several issues, and outlined a course to correct those issues. Those included: suspending turf racing until at least Sept. 16, thoroughly irrigating the course daily, monitor the moisture levels daily, aerate the starting gate lane opposite the infield gap, fertilize the course with a fast-release product, find a way to get rid of the geese, regularly mow the course, and tamp down the divots following each race. Cont. p3

CONNECTIONS WILL CONSIDER BOTH BREEDERS' CUP CLASSIC AND TURF FOR MARATHON SPECIALIST NEXT

by Bill Finley

After Next (Not This Time) romped in Saturday's Gill Greenwood Cup at Parx, trainer Doug Cowans said Sunday he will consider both the GI Breeders' Cup Classic and the GI Breeders' Cup Turf for the marathon specialist's next start.

"We're going to get the horse home," Cowans said. "He's on his way back right now from Philadelphia to Kentucky. We will let him get back to his routine and get through the first breeze, which will take place 15 to 17 days from now. From there, we'll see how the horse is and make a plan, whatever that is."

Since winning the 2022 Cape Henlopen S. at Delaware Park, a 1 5/8-mile race that came off the turf, Next has proven to be nearly unbeatable in dirt races run at 1 1/2 miles or longer. He won the 1 1/2-mile Greenwood Cup by 10 lengths and it was his seventh straight win. He won the seven races by an average margin of 13.39 lengths. Cont. p5

Well Done!

HISA returned on Sept. 13 and found that many of those corrections had been made, and that there was “noted improvement in the turf course's moisture and compaction consistency as well as an overall improvement of the grass condition.”

Parx resumed turf racing on Sept. 16. Two turf races were run, one on the 16th and the other in the 17th, without incident.

They couldn't even get to three in a row when it comes to safety. The Sept. 21 card featuring the GI Pennsylvania Derby and the GI Cotillion S., included two grass races, the Alphabet Soup S. for Pennsylvania-breds and the GIII Turf Monster S. The first of the two was the Alphabet Soup, run as the third race. Tragically, it was here that another horse broke down. Over the span of just four turf races, two horses died.

A few strides into the race, the naked eye told you there was something wrong. The field was kicking up clouds of dirt and not grass. Then it happened. Midway down the backstretch, a horse named Freedom Eagle (Hoppertunity) broke down, and, according to a source, had to be euthanized.

The race was won by the Tim Wooley-trained Crisper (Tapiture). This time it was Wooley that provided evidence that the turf course was an accident waiting to happen. He tweeted, on X, a picture of the turf course that showed that it was primarily a mixture of dirt and weeds.

“I'm very thankful that our horse won and came home safe, but this is what we ran on today at Parx,” he tweeted. “These tracks need to do better considering the purse money available.”

Shortly thereafter, Parx announced that the Turf Monster would be run on the dirt.

“Management moved Saturday's GIII Turf Monster Stakes from the turf course to the main track out of an abundance of caution,” read a brief press release sent out by track officials.

It was a day in which this racetrack should have enjoyed its finest hour. The grizzly bear (a.k.a. Thorpedo Anna (Fast Anna) scored a narrow, but game victory in the Cotillion. One race later, the youngest 89 year-old on the planet, D. Wayne Lukas, won the Pennsylvania Derby with GI Preakness S. winner Seize The Grey (Arrogate). It's always a great story whenever Lukas wins a big stakes. But after another horse died on the Parx turf course, it was hard to enjoy anything.

Pennsylvania Thoroughbred Horsemen's President Bob Hutt was highly critical of Parx management following the Aug. 24 breakdown. He said the reason why the course is in such poor shape is that management refuses to spend the money it would take to repair it. He contends that all that really matters to Parx management is the casino.

“[PARX COO] Joe Wilson, who the casino put in to feed us bread and water, is not cooperative and doesn't spend money on anything,” Hutt said. “The turf course had been a problem for 10 years. I call it durf, D-U-R-F. I sent a polite email to Joe Wilson asking him to not have any further turf racing because it's dangerous to the horses that are entrusted to our care and the jockeys. I begged him to stop. He didn't answer me. He never does.”

(That's par for the course. Wilson does not talk to the media. I have called him over the years at least 25 times and he has yet to return a phone call or answer an email).

Considering the time of year, it would seem highly unlikely that they will run any more turf races in 2024. At some point, though they have to deal with this, and the only two solutions are that they spend the money needed to fix the course or they simply stop using it for good. If they want to continue, status quo, with the turf course then HISA needs to step in and be a lot more forceful this time. The right answer would be to tell them the course cannot be used until the problems are fixed.

Top Gunner wins Parx Sprint in darkness Saturday night

Sarah Andrew

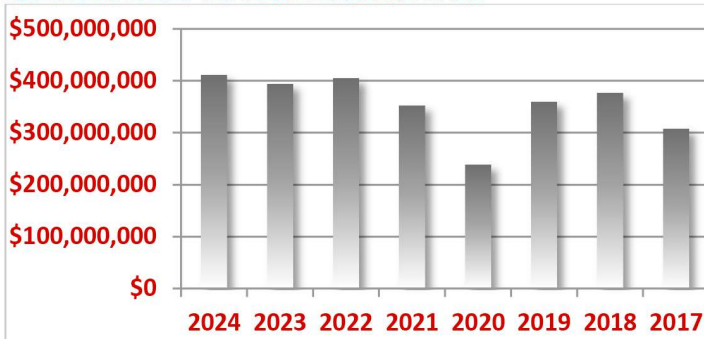

This wasn't the only thing that Parx management seemed overwhelmed by. They dragged the races out to the point that the 14th and final race was run at 7:19 PM ET, 39 minutes after the scheduled post time. Sunset Saturday in Philadelphia was at 6:59 and the race was run as darkness was descending on Bensalem, Pennsylvania. There were some delays during the running of the card, but it apparently never dawned on anyone that they needed to start running the races more quickly.

The Pennsylvania Derby was run 48 minutes after the Cotillion and there were 58 minutes between the running of the GII Gallant Bob S. and the Cotillion. Why? Parx, and the sport, need to do better.

Lukas Deserves Credit for Sticking with Torres

It came as a surprise when Wayne Lukas named Jaime Torres to ride Seize the Grey in the GII Pat Day Mile. He not only won that day, but came back to win the Preakness. But things went south in a hurry after that. Seize the Grey was a badly beaten seventh in the GI Belmont S. and a bad fourth in the GII Jim Dandy S. At that point most trainers would have made a switch to a more accomplished jockey than Torres, who has been riding only since 2022. But Lukas stood by the young jockey.

Jaime Torres aboard Seize the Grey | Sarah Andrew

“After we lost in the Jim Dandy, I had seven agents call me and say ‘You’re not going to put Jaime Torres back on, are you?’” Lukas said. “He’s a really, smart, classy young guy who has great hands and a lot of trainers overlook that. He gets a horse to relax very well. He is too tall. I wish he could shrink by a foot. When I first started riding him, I told him I probably wouldn’t give him many mounts because he was too tall and I could only ride him on big horses. Yet, I’ve been so impressed with how he has handled himself. He’s handled himself very well and he’s appreciative of what we have done for him. I just like the guy a lot.”

Connections Consider Breeders' Cup Options for Next (cont. from p1)

Through most of the winning streak, Cowans said he was not eager to start the 6-year-old gelding in shorter but tougher races like the GI Jockey Club Gold Cup.

But he may no longer have that option as the Greenwood Cup was the last dirt stakes race on the 2024 calendar run at 1 1/2 miles or longer.

The Breeders' Cup Classic is run at a 1 1/4 miles, a distance that may be too short for Next. The Turf is run at 1 1/2 miles, but Next’s best races have been on the dirt. He has a record of 3-0-0 in seven tries on the turf, with the 2021 War Chant Stakes his lone stakes victory on the lawn.

“I’m taking the Breeders’ Cup very seriously,” Cowans said. “I’m going to let the horse tell me what to do with him and see how it goes over the next couple of weeks. Once we breeze him, we’ll know more. The horse will determine things. If he shows us he wants to go to the Breeders’ Cup, we will go. If not, we will move on to something else.”

The Turf or the Classic?

“I don’t know which way we would go,” Cowans said. “My gut tells me I’d rather run in the Turf because of the distance. There are some other people that have a say. We’ll kick it down the road until it’s time to make a decision.”

Next, who paid $2.10 to win, ran his typical race Saturday. He stalked the early pace, took over when ready and then drew clear from his overmatched opponents.

Next | Sarah Andrew

“The race played just as I thought it would,” Cowans said. “He broke from the outside post. There would be a little bit of speed that would go and he was able to sit off of them. When he gets into his rhythm he just kind of attacks the competition as he needs to. I’m super excited about this horse and am so glad I am a part of this. It’s something special.”

This was Next’s second straight win in the Greenwood Cup. In 2023, he won the race by 25 lengths. Cowans claimed the horse from Wesley Ward for $62,500 on April 16, 2022.

Sheila Rosenblum of Lady Sheila Stable--who co-owns the winner of the Joseph A. Gimma Stakes and 'TDN Rising Star' With the Angels (Omaha Beach)--added the Bertram F. Bongard Stakes two races later when Sacrosanct clobbered his rivals at the Big A Sunday. The colt's freshman sire (by Into Mischief) also registered his first black-type winner.

The juvenile, he broke his maiden by 3 1/4 lengths against New York-breds at Saratoga Aug. 21, was sent off the 6-5 choice here. The favorite made the lead and was followed closely by Buttah, but he began to steadily extend his lead around the far turn. At the top of the lane, the bay began to pour on the speed and the rest was accomplished in geared down fashion.

"Both [With the Angels and Sacrosanct] are 2-for-2 now--they both broke their maidens in their first start and won a stakes in their second start," said Shelia Rosenblum. "I think I've got one or two nice horses, and they are both pretty talented, I think. I know both sides of this game--they don't always win--but the good moments are exhilarating."

Sacrosanct | Coglianese

The winner's unraced dam is responsible for a yearling colt by Instagrاند and she foaled Sacrosanct's full-brother Apr. 2. Vibrato was bred back for next season to Honest Mischief, who as a first-crop sire has 72 foals of racing age. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by FanDuel TV.

With the Angels | Coglianesse

With the Angels earned a 'TDN Rising Star' tag with her 11 1/2-length maiden romp at Saratoga going six furlongs Aug. 22. Bet down to 1-9 in her stakes debut with one extra furlong to race Sunday, the $350,000 OBS April grad struck the front shortly after the break and showed the way ahead of Valtellina through fractions of :23.40 and :47.17. Given her head off the far turn, With the Angels responded well to a shake of the reins and opened up under a hand ride to come home with authority by nearly double digits.

"She was fit and ready to roll [after her debut], I knew when we ran her at Saratoga that it wasn't a prep, she was going to show up and she was brilliant," said winning trainer Linda Rice. "She was brilliant in the morning and I had no reservations that it wouldn't turn out well. She certainly delivered."

Of the Oct. 5 GI Frizette Stakes, Rice said: "Obviously we could've passed today and gone straight to the Frizette. The door is open for the Frizette. We are just going to see how she comes out of it, if she's eating well, if she's sharp, that type of thing. We are going to consider the Frizette, but if we decide to back up and go to the Maid of the Mist that is an option as well."

The 10th stakes winner for Omaha Beach, With the Angels has a weanling half-brother by Twirling Candy while Sister Margaret is due to Street Sense for next year. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by FanDuel TV.

Also Ran: Discreet Ops, Carmelina, Cap Classique, Vincey Girl, Yellow Feathers, Runaway Diva, Brookmesa, Dewey Doit. Scratched: Miss Harriett, Popover Gal.

Irish Maxima won two of her first three starts as a juvenile but finished her 2-year-old campaign with off-the-board finishes in both the GI Frizette Stakes and the Fern Creek Stakes in November. Seen on track only once as a 3-year-old, she took an optional claiming race at Delaware in gate-to-wire fashion going near this distance Aug. 22. Off at odds of 9-1, Irish Maxima jumped back into stakes company Sunday and was forwardly placed from the middle of the gate. Just off pacesetter Youalmosthadme through the half in :45.52, she had to come outside for the lead and fight for it as the eventual runner up was game and the pair dueled down the stretch with Irish Maxima just edging away in the final yards.

"She's such a sharp filly," said winning rider Frankie Pennington. "Me and [John] Servis talked [Sunday] and he said, 'There's some speed in the race so if they break going crazy, I don't think she has to be on the lead.' They broke and they were sending pretty good. She sat and she rated pretty well and finished up pretty well."

The eighth stakes winner for Maximus Mischief, Irish Maxima is the 10th winner from as many to race for stakes-winning dam who produced a filly by Moretti this year.

Off since, the Irish bred was installed the 4-5 choice to make amends this time. Sent to her customary spot in front, she carved out splits of :22.37 and :45.66. PLEASANT (f, 4, Munnings--Fair Lady, by Medaglia d'Oro) began her career as a 3-year-old and won at first asking in Arcadia that March. The filly missed by a head to GSW Clearly Unhinged (Into Mischief) in an optional claimer over the same surface in mid-June and then cleared the condition against older females at Del Mar in late August. Sent to the sidelines for an extended stay, her Hall of Fame trainer put her back on the tab this past June. Well-backed as the heavy favorite here, the homebred tracked Don't Bring Crazy (Maximus Mischief) up the backstretch and waited for her cue around the far turn. The 4-year-old found her best stride, at the top of the lane Juan Hernandez let out the throttle and his mount cruised to the money by five lengths over Glorious Spring (Grazen). The first to the races for her unraced dam, the winner has a 2-year-old half-sister by Not This Time and a full-brother who was foaled Apr. 16. Fair Lady is herself a half-sister to GI Forego Stakes hero First Defence (Unbridled's Song) and current sire Honest Mischief (Into Mischief). HERESY, MAYBE, BUT AUTUMN'S DEFINING TESTS OUTDO THE CLASSICS

Economics, like Baaeed, is a star at three for William Haggas but never raced in a Classic | Racingfotos.com

By Paul Hayward

If the first half of the Flat season is for graduation ceremonies, this is the bit where Masters and PhDs are handed out.

To see Ryan Moore sit so beautifully on City Of Troy--and this year's best horse race round Southwell so fluidly--was to feel a surge of anticipation greater than before his seasonal reappearance for the 2,000 Guineas.

We all love spring and the history-laden game of labelling three-year-olds 'Classic' winners. But sorry, late summer and autumn is when we really get ready to rumble. Economics, Calandagan, Sosie, Look De Vega, Japan's Shin Emperor and of course City Of Troy all face defining tests.

As the old joke goes, if you designed a British racing calendar from scratch you wouldn't start from here. It remains a heresy to challenge the positioning of the Classics in racing's ancient cycle. Yet an impresario observing racing from the outside would view the Guineas, Derby and Oaks as private parties, prematurely held. A "disrupter" might be tempted to flip the calendar--and plonk the Classics in the second-half.

ARCHERSGROVE BLOODSTOCK SET FOR DEBUT TATTERSALLS IRELAND DRAFT

By Brian Sheerin

Tattersalls Ireland has rightly earned a reputation as being a place where the younger brigade can prosper and Conor Mahon could well be the latest to play a star role at the September Yearling Sale this week.

Under his own Archersgrove Bloodstock, one of the newest consignments on the sales circuit, the 30-year-old will offer a Space Blues (Ire) filly and a Make Believe (GB) colt who were purchased as foals for €26,000 and €10,000 respectively.

Archersgrove Bloodstock is already up and running for the year. A combined £46,000 was netted at the Goffs Premier Yearling Sale on colts by Earthlight (Ire) and Dark Angel (Ire) and a filly by Acclamation (GB).

I can hear the howls from here--many from the grave. The Classics date back to the 18th Century and are the sport's foundation stones. But York in August, Newmarket's big late-season showdowns, the Arc, Breeders' Cup, Japan Cup and Champions Day at Ascot (which, many argue, falls too late) are Flat racing's true box office. They are inter-generational and shape our recollections of the year.

Traditionally in elite sport the climax comes at the end, not the beginning. Yet the first wave of coronations--for Newmarket and Epsom Classic winners--is overtaken by more universal anointments at the business end.

To move the Classics by more than a week or two would send bloodstock valuations haywire and traditionalists into apoplexy. But let's face it: unless the early Classic winners are exceptional, as, say, Frankel was in the 2,000 Guineas, those contests are a fading memory by the time the stalls slam open for the Arc or Breeders' Cup.

Globalisation was bound to eat away at the sanctity of the Guineas, Derby, Oaks and St Leger, as has today's preoccupation with speed over stamina.

Over the last three seasons William Haggas has trained two outstanding horses who never went near a Classic. One, Baaeed, was the highest-rated horse in Europe since Frankel, with six Group 1 wins, five over a mile, and the sixth over the 10 furlongs of the Juddmonte International--his grandest victory.

The other, Economics, was taken out of the Derby before his six-length win in the Dante Stakes--just about the best Derby trial. Haggas had already decided that Economics needed to be handled patiently. "It's a shame these races come up so quickly and he just needs some more time, that's my view," Haggas said at York.

Criticised at the time for turning his back on Epsom, Haggas has since been vindicated. Economics has won the Prix Guillaume d'Ornano and the Irish Champion Stakes. He's now on track for a showdown with Calandagan in Ascot's Champion Stakes. If he wins that too, no breeder will mark him down as the horse who said no to the Derby; only as a late-maturing 10-furlong star who embellished his status by staying in his lane.

Frankel won the 2,000 Guineas in revolutionary style, but weirdly that romp is not the first thing you think of when recalling his career. It's the pulsating later wins against older horses and his triumphant step up to 10 furlongs that pop up first in the memory. Cont. p4

The defence of the Classics are that they are stepping stones, properly arranged, over centuries. The problem is, today's racing industry has many other routes, alternative temptations. A Guineas, Derby or Oaks winner is guaranteed historical permanence--but not always the immortality bestowed by multiple triumphs across age ranges, seasons and race distances.

City Of Troy's last mission couldn't be more compelling. His brief is to land one of the few big trophies to have eluded Aidan O'Brien and Coolmore's aim. In a throwback to an age when the great Flat racers were folk heroes, more than a thousand turned out at Southwell on Friday to see him grab the Tapeta surface in a trial to replicate--as far as possible, in Nottinghamshire--the pizzaz of California on Breeders' Cup day.

Much of this may not feel new, but I sense a shift, borne of global change, and logic. Owners and trainers are likely to think it more and more acceptable to regard the Classics as glittering targets but not the whole point of it all. There will be no moral obligation to try to win the Derby when so much lustre can be loaded onto a horse later in the season, in the big box office phase we're entering now.

A comparison with the somewhat diminished FA Cup lurks in my mind, but that might be overstating it. The lure of the Classics will endure. Their status as the pinnacle of Flat racing feels slightly less secure. Four of the five are over by the first week of June. Things change--even the most sacred ones. Autumn brings a vast harvest of delights. Enjoy the feast.

Nothing to pop the champagne about just yet, but that has been very much the theme of the year thus far for pinhookers young and old, and better is expected from the three-pronged pinhooking team of Mahon and the Irish National Stud's Conor Hyland and Stan Begley at Fairyhouse this week.

"Along with Conor and Stan, I have been pinhooking for the past three years and had always consigned the yearlings through other people but, with the way things worked out this year, we said why not be on the door ourselves this week and build relationships with people," Mahon said.

"This year has been a good learning experience to say the least! It's very much been sink or swim at the yearling sales in Britain so far and hopefully that will change this week. It's not a case of just turning up and selling your horses--there's a bit more work involved in getting people down to look at your horses and it has been tough work at times." Cont. p5

Luckily Mahon is not afraid of hard work. A full-time pharmacist, the Kilkenny native spends his days off either working the sales or tending to the yearlings at home at the team's base in Kildare. However, if it hadn't been for a moment of enlightenment at Tattersalls a few years ago, Mahon's working life would have revolved solely around horses.

He explained, "I came to a crossroads about three or four years ago. I had planned on working full-time in this industry, but I had a moment of realisation at Book 1 that convinced me to go down another path. A lot of the big vendors--Chasmore Farm, Cheveley Pak, Hascombe and Valiant, Staffordstown and Croom House Studs--have incomes and therefore some security outside of the industry. Because of that, they can afford to take bigger risks when it comes to sourcing horses. I just felt that I was in a fortunate position to be able to gain employment outside of the industry which has allowed me to pinhook horses on the side and, thankfully, both things seem to be complimenting each other at the moment at least."

He added, "After qualifying in pharmacy, I wanted to have a proper crack at working in this industry and I was given the opportunity to work for BBA Ireland. It was unfortunate timing as, not long after taking up the role, Covid hit and I suppose things grinded to a halt on the trading front so I decided to do the Irish National Stud course. I met some great people on that course--friends for life--and, in actual fact, that's where I met Stan and Conor."

Begley, who is the assistant breeding manager at the Irish National Stud, and Hyland, who fulfills the role as nominations manager there, do a lot of the practical work with the yearlings on a daily basis. With both men usually required at sales by the stud, as they are this week, it's Mahon who is on the door with the Space Blues and the Make Believe.

Explaining how the operation works, he said, "We all muck in together. John Heffernan, who is a neighbour of Conor's, has kindly allowed us the use of his yard this year on the proviso that we prep some of his yearlings for the sales. That has been a big help to us. Credit to Stan and Conor, they have done a lot of the hands-on work with the horses but, the beauty of the role that I am in at the moment means that I can pick and choose what days I work purely around the sales."

The Space Blues and the Make Believe very much fit the Archersgrove brief. Along with Begley and Hyland, Mahon strives to source horses that are bred to stay seven furlongs or more and, in the case of the Space Blues filly, the three men achieved what every pinhooker strives for with the half-sister [Convo (Ire) (Kodiac {GB})] achieving black-type since her purchase. Brian Sheerin

Mahon said, "We try to buy horses that have resale value and aim to buy horses who are bred to run over seven furlongs plus. The Space Blues and the Make Believe fit that bill. We really wanted the Make Believe because the sire is one who lands on a lot of people's lists and comes within budget for a lot of yearling buyers. Physically, he was a forward foal and we just liked him a lot.

"There's a bit of a funny story behind the Space Blues in that we liked her a lot and were bidding on her in the ring but she went beyond budget. When she didn't sell, we decided that we didn't want to leave her behind and bought her outside of the ring for. Thankfully, there has been a very good pedigree update with her half-sister [Convo] getting black-type for Amy Murphy so we're quietly optimistic."

He added, "At the moment, the focus is purely on consigning our own horses and there is no real push to get outside clients. In terms of building our own brand, we'd definitely like to build it and grow the quality of the operation every year. It's a bit of a cliché but the three of us just want to produce nice racehorses."

'HE'S A REAL INTERNATIONAL SUPERSTAR': BUICK HAILS REBEL'S ROMANCE AFTER SECOND PREIS VON EUROPA WIN

By Tom Frary

Despite the absence of the King George hero Goliath (Ger) (Adlerflug {Ger}) in Sunday's G1 Mehl-Mulhens-Stiftung Preis von Europa, the Cologne feature held up well with the two domestic Classic winners bidding to deny Rebel's Romance (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}--Minidress {GB}, by Street Cry {Ire}) a second edition of the prestigious mile-and-a-half contest. In the event, Godolphin's high-class stalwart was able to ward off all challenges and reproduce his 2022 success for a sixth win at the top level.

Last seen finishing best of those who raced near the hot pace in an attritional renewal of the King George in July, the veteran of the Breeders' Cup Turf and Dubai Sheema Classic was settled in fourth early by William Buick cruising along in waiting for the sprint to commence. Committed two out, the 3-5 favourite gained the edge soon after as the 22-1 shot Straight (Ger) (Zarak {Fr}) emerged to threaten the upset.

Perhaps idling in front, the homebred refused to let that outsider get closer than a neck in a pulsating finale, with Lordano (Ger) (Adlerflug {Ger}) 2 3/4 lengths away in third as the G1 Deutsches Derby hero Palladium (Ger) (Gleneagles {Ire}) and G1 Preis der Diana heroine Erle (Ger) (Reliable Man {GB}) failed to get involved.

"He's a real international superstar and everything was good for him today--the track was in good condition and today he showed what a tough horse he is," Buick said. "It's never easy coming here, we respect the local horses and it's great to be back to win this again. He is probably better off a stronger pace, as he gets in his comfort zone but he knows how to win and always finds a way. He's an admirable horse, a great horse."

Charlie Appleby added, "I think he will come forward for this, as we just eased off slightly after Ascot. We don't leave horses too short for group 1 races, but he wasn't quite as fit as he was heading into his last run. He is entitled to come on for this and we can look forward to the Breeders' Cup Turf." Cont. p7

Pedigree Notes

Rebel' Romance is out of the Listed Height of Fashion Stakes runner-up Minidress, who is also responsible for the stable's GI Manhattan Stakes and G1 Jebel Hatta winner and GI Sword Dancer Stakes runner-up Measured Time (GB) (Frankel {GB}). A full-sister to the G3 Nad Al Sheba Trophy winner Volcanic Sky (GB), she is a daughter of the G3 Musidora Stakes winner and G1 Yorkshire Oaks runner-up Short Skirt (GB) (Diktat {GB}) who was also third in the G1 Oaks.

Short Skirt is a half to the G2 Prix de Pomone winner and dual group 1-placed Whitewater Affair (GB) (Machiavellian), in turn the dam of the triple group 1-winning Japanese champion Victoire Pisa (Jpn) (Neo Universe {Jpn}) and the G1 Yasuda Kinen scorer Asakusa Den'en (GB) (Singspiel {Ire}). The prized third dam Much Too Risky (GB) (Bustino {GB}) is also the ancestress of another Japanese champion in the G1 Hanshin Juvenile Fillies winner Robe Tissage (Jpn) (War Emblem), as well as the G3 Round Tower Stakes-winning sire Cappella Sansevero (GB) (Showcasing {GB}). Minidress's yearling is a full-brother to Rebel's Romance.

HARRY EUSTACE DREAMING OF SUCCESS IN AUSTRALIA WITH DOCKLANDS AND SEA KING

Harry Eustace is plotting a two-pronged assault on some of Australia's biggest races with Docklands (GB) (Massaat {Ire}) and Sea King (GB) (Sea The Stars {Ire}).

Being owned by Australian-based syndication company OTI Racing, Docklands was always slated for a trip to the Southern Hemisphere. Last year's Britannia Stakes winner has performed with credit in some high-class contests this season, notably when returning to Royal Ascot to fill the runner-up spot behind Charyn (Ire) (Dark Angel {Ire}) in the G1 Queen Anne Stakes.

Sea King was last seen finishing a staying-on sixth in the Ebor under the care of Sir Mark Prescott, but the five-time scorer has since switched to Park Lodge Stables.

Eustace told Grosvenor Sport, "Docklands is heading to Australia in a weeks' time, where he'll go into quarantine in preparation for his run in the Cox Plate.

"We've just got to mind him now and keep him happy and healthy before the race on October 26. He'll be quarantined at Werribee, where they have a training facility for the international horses.

"Moonee Valley is a tough course, but Docklands has always been a strong-travelling horse and usually if you travel around tracks like that then you can handle it. We're hopeful it won't be a problem." Cont. p8

He added, "Sea King will travel over to Australia with Docklands. He's a horse that is relatively new to us having come from Sir Mark Prescott's.

"It was an encouraging run from him in the Ebor last time and he shaped there as though he'd stay further--he was keeping on all the time and I think he galloped out well to the line. Being a good, strong stayer will make him competitive down under.

"He's fit and ready to go after his run at York and we're just keeping him ticking over now. He'll run in something like the Geelong Cup or the Werribee Cup, which are win-and-you're-in races for the Melbourne Cup and that will dictate where he ends up.

"He's been bought to stay in Australia once he's run for us a couple of times, whereas the plan is to come home with Docklands."

Goldaue registered an Aug. 17 debut triumph, racing in the Gestut Auenquelle colours, tackling seven furlongs at Mulheim in her only prior start and stepped forward to claim a career best on black-type bow. The 17-10 favourite sported the Team Valor silks for the first time and settled off the pace behind the leaders in fifth for the most part. Taking closer order once into the straight, she quickened to the fore passing the quarter-mile marker and drew off under late mild rousing to go two-for-two in style.

"After she won her debut race, I said then that she had a lot of talent," winning rider Rene Piechulek told GaloppOnline. "I rode her the same way on her debut as I did today, she has a lot of class and it was an impressive performance." The Marcel Weiss trainee will now target the Oct. 20 G3 Preis der Winterkonigin at Baden-Baden.

Goldaue, who becomes the first stakes winner for her second-crop sire, is the latest of seven known foals and fifth scorer out of a half-sister to G2 Prix Noailles victor Grandcamp (Fr) (Platini {Ger}) and Listed Prix Melisande victrix Piana (Fr) (Doyen {Ire}). The March-foaled chestnut's second dam Gaudera (Ger) (Big Shuffle) is out of an unraced half-sister to G2 German 1000 Guineas-winning matriarch Grimpola (Ger) (Windwurf {Ger}), whose descendants include the elite-level winners Fame And Glory (GB) (Montjeu {Ire}), Legatissimo (Ire) (Daneshill Dancer [Ire]), Gonbarda (Ger) (Lando {Ger}) and Farhh (GB) (Pivotal {GB}). Goldaue is a half-sister to stakes-winning G2 German 1000 Guineas third Go Rose (Ger) (Soldier Hollow {GB}).

GOLD SHIP'S MEISHO TABARU WIRES KOBE SHIMBUN HAI

Earning his first group tally earlier this March, 3-year-old Meisho Tabaru (Jpn) (Gold Ship {Jpn}) went to the front and never looked back while adding his second career group score in Sunday's G2 Kobe Shimbun Hai (Japanese St. Leger Trial) at Chukyo.

Striding purposefully to the front soon after the start, the free-wheeling 5-1 chance held a clear advantage down the backstretch and through the far turn. Still in front by open lengths straightening for home, Meisho Tabaru started to feel the effects of his early efforts as June Take (Jpn) (Kizuna {Jpn}) broke clear from the pack and bore down on the pacesetter down the stretch, however, the frontrunner had just enough left in the tank to fend off the G2 Kyoto Shimbun Hai victor by a half-length at the wire. Shonan la Punta (Jpn) (Kizuna {Jpn}) was a clear third.

The winner of one of three starts at two, recorded in a 2000-meter test at Hanshin in December, the Meisho Tabaru won the 1800-meter Tsubaki Sho at Kyoto in February before adding a victory in Mar. 23 G3 Mainichi Hai over the soft turf. Most recently, he was a well-beaten 17th while stepping into Group 1 company for the Apr. 14 Satsuki Sho at Nakayama. Cont. p13

By Japanese champion 3-year-old and Classic winner Gold Ship, Meisho Tabaru is out of Meisho Tsubakuro, a half-sister to Group 2 scorer Meisho Kamaku (Jpn) (Grass Wonder). The 10-year-old daughter of French Deputy is responsible for three foals, all of them winners, with Meisho Tabaru standing out as the most accomplished.
