RECEIVING BARN DRAFT REG'S: DOOR STILL OPEN ON STAKEHOLDER INPUT

Morning at the track | Sarah Andrew

by Dan Ross

The nation's racetracks appear primed for compliance with the first set of uniform receiving barn cleanliness, maintenance and security regulations. Just how stringent these rules will be remains up in the air.

Back in August, the TDN took a dive into the issues that stakeholders frequently raise about the nation's fleet of receiving barns. This included the potential for unclean stalls, or receiving barns in poor overall physical condition, to cause environmental contamination through left-behind trace drug residues.

Last month, the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Authority (HISA) issued for public comment a set of draft receiving barn regulations, along with draft rules for the number and location of restrooms on the backside, disclosure of consumption of prohibited substances, and entering a horse on the vets' list while awaiting the results of a blood test.

Though the public comment period on these draft rules closed Monday, stakeholders can still submit recommended changes--via email at feedback@hisaus.org--for the remainder of the time the Authority will continue shaping the rules before sending them on to the Federal Trade Commission (FTC). Cont. p3

THE JOCKEY CLUB PROJECTS UPCOMING FOAL CROP AT 17,300

The Jockey Club projects a North American registered Thoroughbred foal crop of 17,300 in 2025, which is some 700 fewer foals than the 2024 foal crop estimate of 18,000, the organization said in a press release early Wednesday.

The foal crop projection is computed by using Reports of Mares Bred (RMBs) received to date for the 2024 breeding season. RMBs are to be filed by Aug. 1 of each breeding season.

This year, The Jockey Club has published preliminary statistics regarding mares reported bred by state/province through the current date for 2024, 2023 and 2022. These reports are updated daily and can be found here.

For the RMBs received through Sept. 30, The Jockey Club reports that 771 stallions covered 25,301 mares in North America during 2024. Cont. p4

According to HISA's assistant general counsel, Samuel Reinhardt, this could take up to a month or so. Furthermore, stakeholders will get another chance to comment when the FTC puts the draft language out for another public comment period, before formally adopting the rules.

What's currently in the proposed rules? They're broken into several areas that include the following key points:

1 - Receiving barns will be maintained in a "clean and sanitary condition," each stall "thoroughly disinfected" after each occupancy. "After stalls are cleaned and sanitized, the empty stalls shall be secured by closing the stall doors and securing them with a serialized tamper evident security tag."

2 - Receiving barns will be fitted with "high-resolution security cameras" to monitor the activities, including all "entry and exit points," and "interior areas" where horses are stabled and handled. "Beginning two weeks prior to the Race Meet and continuing for the duration of the Race Meet, security cameras shall record continuously for 24 hours per day and all recordings shall be stored securely for a minimum period of 90 days."

3 - While the physical makeup of existing receiving barns isn't addressed, it prohibits the use of wood as a surface material "in all new or renovated Receiving Barns." The term "renovation" refers to the "refinishing, replacing, bracing, strengthening, upgrading, or extensive repair of the foundation, walls, floors, or roof systems of an existing Receiving Barn."

4 - Receiving barns will be equipped with adequate stable room and facilities, "including hot and cold running water, and ample stall bedding."

5 - Receiving barn access points will be controlled by racetrack security to bar unauthorized entry.

As currently drafted, if a racetrack fails to comply with the new rules, this lapse can't be considered supporting evidence of environmental contamination, "and therefore shall not on its own provide a basis for a finding of No Fault or Negligence or No Significant Fault or Negligence under the Protocol."

If tracks violate the draft rules, they'll face possible sanctions. It's currently unclear what those sanctions will be, but they afford the Authority a "broad range of options" in terms of possible penalties. Cont.

In comparison to other leading jurisdictions--like the British Horseracing Authority which has four pages of detailed "racecourse stabling" hygiene, cleaning and use requirements--HISA's draft rules leave the requirements over what's considered "clean and sanitary" open-ended.

"My sense is, what they are doing is the most practical under the circumstances. And it may just be a starting point," said Alan Foreman, chairman and chief executive officer of the Thoroughbred Horsemen's Associations (THA) and ombudsman on behalf of HISA's licensees, when asked about the draft rules.

Alan Foreman | courtesy of Alan Foreman

Foreman described the comparison between the U.S. system with somewhere like the UK--where all runners ship into racetrack stables mostly for just one day of racing--as apples to oranges.

"I think the more complex question is the extent to which the positive tests that are being called are the result of contamination in the receiving barns themselves. Even if there is residue of drugs in a receiving barn, is there sufficient residue that would generate a positive test?" said Foreman.

He raised the spectre of metformin, the common human diabetes drug that has been caught in the crosshairs of HISA's drug and medication control program. Indeed, as part of a study conducted at Charles Town racetrack several years ago, two receiving barn stalls swabbed positive for metformin.

Among the datapoints in the TDN's August report, of the 11 HISA-related metformin positives identified at that time, six were from ship-ins. However, in two of those 11 cases, media reports suggested that the findings were probably the result of contamination from staff hygiene lapses.

The Racing Medication and Testing Consortium (RMTTC)'s Scientific Advisory Committee is still in the process of conducting a review of the available science relating to metformin, including administration studies.

"If the argument being made, a defense argument that [a positive metformin test] could be coming from contamination in the receiving barn, there is now scientific work being done to establish whether or not that is a possibility. And HISA will be guided by that," said Foreman.

"It's an extremely complex issue," Foreman added, of the contamination debate. "But if the horsemen are going to be held to an extraordinarily high standard with respect to the operation of their stables and their barns to prevent anti-doping violations, there should be an expectation that if their horses are being placed in spaces that are not under their control, similarly stringent steps are big taken to protect them from the possibility of contamination."

The Jockey Club estimates an additional 2,500 to 3,500 mares will be reported as bred during the 2024 breeding season.

Over the past three years in North America as reported to The Jockey Club through Sept. 30 of the breeding year, the number of covering stallions and the number of mares bred were:

- 880--26,744 in 2022;
- 825--26,202 in 2023;
- 771--25,301 in 2024.

RMB statistics, sortable by stallion, mares bred, or state, for all reported stallions in 2024 are available through the Fact Book section of The Jockey Club's website by clicking here.

Kentucky traditionally leads North America in Thoroughbred breeding activity. During 2024, Kentucky's 192 reported stallions covered 16,543 mares, or 65.38% of all of the mares reported bred in North America. Data based on stallion location is available here. Cont.

FOREVER YOUNG RETURNS A WINNER IN JAPAN DIRT CLASSIC, BC CLASSIC NEXT

by Alan Carasso

Making his first start in his home country since last December and racing for the first time since finishing a tough-luck third to Mystik Dan (Goldencents) and his family relation 'TDN Rising Star' Sierra Leone (Gun Runner) in the GI Kentucky Derby, Susumu Fujita's Forever Young (Jpn) (Real Steel {Jpn}) cemented his status as one of the favorites for the Nov. 2 GI Breeders' Cup Classic with a tough victory in the $817,292 Listed Japan Dirt Classic at Ohi Racecourse Wednesday evening.

Sent off the $1.70 (7-10) favorite despite the lengthy vacation, Forever Young bobbled slightly from gate one, but soon had his feet back under him, and jockey Ryusei Sakai made a decisive move inside the opening 200 meters, easing the colt away from the fence to secure a two-path trip. Kashima Espada (Jpn) (Hokko Tarumae {Jpn}) showed the way with the fourth betting choice Sunrise Zipangu (Jpn) (Kizuna {Jpn}) three deep from third.

Forever Young | Horsephotos/Tomoya Moriuchi

Poised to strike as they raced into the final 600 meters, Forever Young looked to come off the bridle for a stride or two, but was back into the bit when set down by Sakai off the final corner. Sent to the front outside the eighth pole, Forever Young was hard-ridden, but was home comfortably first as the well-regarded Mikki Fight (Jpn) (Drefong) closed from worse than midfield for second. Sunrise Zipangu was not disgraced in third, while Ramjet (Jpn) (Majestic Warrior) could do no better than fourth, failing to sustain a long and wide run from the midway stage.

Ryusei Sakai celebrates the Japan Dirt Classic victory
Horsephotos/Tomoya Moriuchi

“I’m relieved, I knew I couldn’t lose,” said Sakai, who rides Shin Emperor (Fr) (Siyouni {Fr}) for the same connections in Sunday’s G1 Prix de l’Arc de Triomphe at ParisLongchamp. “I didn’t want to be caught inside. I was in second, but he was in a very good rhythm. We didn’t let our guard down and we didn’t know when they would come. We were really disappointed in the U.S. in the spring, so we have a strong desire for revenge.”

Forever Young figures to be one of three Japanese starters in the $7-million Classic, joining Ushba Tesoro (Jpn) (Orfevre {Jpn}) and last year’s runner-up Derma Sotogake (Jpn) (Mind Your Biscuits).

A dual listed winner from three starts at home at two, Forever Young had been a road warrior since, just nosing out Book'em Danno (Buccherro) when all looked lost in the G3 Saudi Derby in February and enduring a very wide trip when taking out the G2 UAE Derby at Meydan Mar. 30 before his much-discussed trip down the Churchill stretch.

Winner of the 2016 GII Santa Ynez Stakes, Forever Darling is the dam of five winners from four to race, including Forever

Young’s 2-year-old half-sister Brown Ratchet (Jpn) (Kizuna {Jpn}), who carried the Sunday Racing colors to a 1 1/2-length success in an 1800-meter turf event for debutantes at Nakayama Sept. 16.

Given her female family, it is not surprising that Forever Darling might end up in Japan. Her stakes-winning and multiple Grade-I placed dam Darling My Darling is responsible for 2017 GI Darley Alcibiades Stakes victress Heavenly Love (Malibu Moon), the dam of the aforementioned GISW Sierra Leone, and Darling My Darling is a half-sister to Japanese Horse of the Year and G1 Japan Cup hero Zenno Rob Roy (Jpn), a son of Breeders’ Cup Classic winner Sunday Silence. Forever Young’s broodmare sire Congrats is a son of Classic winner A.P. Indy.

Behind Brown Ratchet is a yearling filly by Epiphaneia (Jpn) (Symboli Kris S) and Forever Darling foaled a colt by Rey de Oro (Jpn) (King Kamehameha {Jpn}) this past April.

HISA AND JOCKEYS' GUILD HOLD JOCKEY ADVOCACY WEEK ON CAPITOL HILL by Bill Finley

Joint HISA/Jockeys' Guild representatives meet with Congressman Paul Tonko (D-NY) | *courtesy of HISA

For most of the sport's history the mental well-being of jockeys was not something that anybody talked about or even thought about. But the problem could no longer be ignored when, in 2023, two jockeys, Alex Canchari and Avery Whisman, took their own lives. They were otherwise young and healthy, but the pressures of being a jockey was a burden both, apparently, could not handle.

They were not alone. Jockeys' Guild President and CEO Terry Meyocks said that 230 jockeys were surveyed last year and asked about their mental health. One-third of the respondents reported that they were facing challenges mentally, particularly with anxiety and depression.

The Jockeys' Guild decided to be proactive and reached out to the Horse Racing Integrity and Safety Authority (HISA) for assistance. Working together and with the primary goal of raising awareness of the issues, 19 people, most of them representatives of HISA or the Jockeys' Guild, traveled to Washington, D.C. in mid-September and spent three days meeting with lawmakers. The goal was to raise awareness and to impress upon the politicians that jockeys should be included whenever the subject of the mental health of athletes is discussed or directly addressed.

The visits allowed jockeys and their families to share their personal experiences with lawmakers. HISA and the Jockeys' Guild briefed Congress on the tools they have established to improve health conditions, including the sport's first uniform concussion protocol. They asked Congress to support all initiatives meant to improve mental health outcomes.

"There has been talk among my peers for quite some time about mental health and supporting jockeys to help them become a stronger version of themselves from the mental perspective," said former jockey Ramon Dominguez, who retired in 2013 on the advice of doctors after he was involved in a spill in which he sustained a traumatic brain injury. "Unfortunately, the straw that broke the camel's back, so to speak, was the two incidents. We got to a point where action had to be taken. Ultimately, going to Capitol Hill was one of our main goals. We wanted to bring awareness of the issues and to educate the people in Congress. I thought things went very well."

The group that went to Washington included Meyocks, HISA CEO Lisa Lazarus, relatives of both Canchari and Whisman and jockeys Trevor McCarthy and John Velazquez, and retired rider Laffit Pincay III. They had over 30 meetings and met face-to-face with Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell and six members of the House of Representatives.

"I think this went very well, especially when you consider it was a first step," said Meyocks. "The HISA team put it together with all these Senators and Congressmen on short notice. The idea was to raise awareness, that there is an issue. Other leagues have been up there talking about their athletes, the NFL, the NHL, the NCAA. If something were to get passed we'd like to be included."

Dominguez said that the politicians they met with included those who were well-versed in racing and others who knew very little about the sport.

"The responses were a little mixed," he said. "Some of them had some understanding of the sport itself, horse racing. They were not surprised how demanding the profession can be. We met with other people who really had no idea about horse racing. All the information was new to them and they were really surprised that we haven't gotten any support at all regarding mental health." Cont.

John Velazquez, Lisa Lazarus and Ramon Dominguez listen to

“Overall, I think this was an education to them, and in a positive way. Even if they knew a little bit about the challenges of being a jockey they really didn't know a whole lot about the profession and how tough it is.”

There may be a long way to go and several issues that must still be addressed, but the subject of jockeys' mental health is no longer being swept under the rug. Instead, it is front and center, and that can only help.

DYLAN DAVIS JOINS TDN WRITERS' ROOM PODCAST

As recently as 2015, it looked like Dylan Davis's career was stuck in neutral. He won just 57 races that year with earnings of $1,859,318. He was, at best, a middle-of-the-pack rider on the NYRA circuit. Fast forward to 2024 and a new Davis has emerged. With three months to go on the year he's already won 147 races and earned $11,318,656 and is on schedule to have the best year of his career.

His win aboard Todd Pletcher trainee Tapit Trice (Tapit) in last Saturday's GII Woodward Stakes was hardly a surprise as he is now riding for many of the top trainers on the circuit and he proved himself at the toughest meet possible, Saratoga, finishing with 36 wins. That was good for a tie for third in the standings behind only Irad Ortiz, Jr. and Flavien Prat.

What has changed his fortunes? That was among the questions Davis, the Guest of the Week, answered on the TDN Writers' Room Podcast, which is presented by Keeneland.

“I think it was a matter of a lot of hard work and grinding it out throughout the years on the NYRA circuit and just building my business up with my agent Mike Migliore,” Davis said. “He was a big believer in me in the beginning. I have been improving as a rider and Mike has improved as an agent. We work together and I think communication has been a big factor for us. We try to build on our success every year and look toward the future. I'm really happy with it and am just trying to continue to capitalize on all the opportunities that are given to me.”

Davis said that at one point he was ready to leave New York for a lesser circuit.

“I was at a point where I was going to leave New York because I wasn't doing well enough throughout the wintertime,” Davis said. “I thought that I would have to go somewhere again and then come back again and try the next winter. I was working with Rudy Rodriguez in the morning, 5:30, with no agent and trying to see what opportunities were available to me. Mike Migliore, he was there every morning, at 5:15, trying to get my book.

“I really didn't pay no mind to him because he had no experience in New York and didn't know many people,” said Davis. “But because he wanted me so badly and he didn't have many established relationships, I thought we could both start fresh. I saw that he had the passion and he had the drive that I was looking for in an agent that was willing to put in the hard work and lay it down just as badly as I did. I gave him the opportunity and I put a lot of trust into him and that's what we see today, that all that hard work is paying off.”

Davis has even caught the eye of Charlie Appleby, who has given him three mounts this year, including Beautiful Love (Ire) (Siyouni {Fr}). Davis teamed up with that filly to win the GIII Fasig-Tipton Jockey Club Oaks Invitational.

“It actually started when I beat Silver Knott (GB) with Carson's Run at Saratoga [in the GI Saratoga Derby Invitational Stakes]. So Flavien [Prat] wasn't available and I heard that he said, ‘I want that jockey that beat me in that race.’ That's how he got me,” Davis said. “They must have liked what they saw from my riding abilities and my performance for them. I'm just trying to do my best out there for whoever I ride for and I'm happy to ride for new clients, especially someone like Mr. Appleby.”

In our breeding spotlight section we looked at the WinStar stallion Life Is Good.

Elsewhere on the podcast, which is also sponsored by the Pennsylvania Horse Breeders' Association, West Point Thoroughbreds, WinStar and XBTV.com, the team of Randy Moss, Zoe Cadman and Bill Finley reviewed the California Crown races at Santa Anita and the concept behind the redesign. Is it the type of event that will create new racing fans? Moss and Cadman, who were both at the event, gave it favorable reviews. They also looked ahead to the big races that will be run this weekend at Keeneland, Aqueduct and Santa Anita. Cont.

TURFWAY UNVEILS $4.9-MILLION STAKES SCHEDULE AND DEBUTS SYNTHETIC CHAMPIONSHIPS

Turfway Park Racing & Gaming has unveiled its 2024-25 stakes schedule, with $4.9 million in purses across 24 races and including the debut of the Turfway Park Synthetic Championships, according to a release from the track on Wednesday afternoon.

“We’re really excited to unveil the stakes calendar for the winter season at Turfway Park, which not only features our marquee Jeff Ruby Steaks Day but also introduces the new Turfway Park Synthetic Championships,” said Gary Palmisano, Jr., vice president of racing for Churchill Downs Incorporated. “By adding the Turfway Park Synthetic Championships, we’re bringing together four stakes races, worth a combined $1 million, for one premiere night of racing.”

Set for Dec. 14, the Turfway Park Synthetic Championships will feature four $250,000 stakes races: the Prairie Bayou, Holiday Cheer, Holiday Inaugural and My Charmer. These races, which were previously run across four separate weekends, have been combined into one card.

The GIII Jeff Ruby Steaks, part of the Road to the Kentucky Derby Championship Series, will award qualifying points to the top five finishers on a 100-50-25-15-10 scale.

In total, Jeff Ruby Steaks Day will feature six stakes contests, while the undercard includes the Bourbonette Oaks--a championship series race on the Road to the Kentucky Oaks. The other stakes include the GIII TwinSpires Kentucky Cup Classic, Animal Kingdom Stakes, the Latonia Stakes and the Rushaway Stakes.

Turfway Park’s season runs from Wednesday, Nov. 27 through Saturday, Mar. 29. The condition book for the Holiday Meet, which spans Nov. 27-Dec. 29, will be available in the coming weeks.

STRIDESAFE'S DR. DENISE MCSWEENEY HONORED AT CALGARY EQUINE SYMPOSIUM

Dr. Denise Mc Sweeney flanked by UCVM's Dr. Renaud Leguilette and Renate Weller | Adrian Shellard

StrideSAFE, a biometric sensor used as a tool to help identify horses at risk of injury, was recognized at the recent Calgary International Equine Symposium when Dr. Denise McSweeney was honored with the Best Podium Presentation Award. The global conference, held Sept. 5-6 and hosted by the University of Calgary Faculty of Veterinary Medicine (UCVM), brought together experts the world over for a named focus in "Innovation in Equine Health and Welfare."

McSweeney's presentation, "Using accelerometer-based inertial measurement unit sensors to identify racing Thoroughbreds at high risk of catastrophic musculoskeletal injury," was awarded the top honor at the conference, as well as $10,000 in cash, among the presentations focused on cutting-edge research and exceptional contributions to equine science.

"I am grateful to the University of Calgary for giving us this platform to share what we have learned from the StrideSAFE data so far," said StrideSAFE study first-author McSweeney.

"There were many excellent presentations this year, however what we are doing here at StrideSAFE, collecting and interpreting data on the strides of thousands of starters every month, is something that has never been done before and it's pretty hard to not get excited about it."

BACKING ORBY PAYS OFF FOR CROOM HOUSE WITH €2M FRANKEL COLT TO GODOLPHIN

Denis Brosnan: "We put our faith in Henry Beeby." | Goffs
By Brian Sheerin

Croom House Stud boss Denis Brosnan opened up on how a gamble to back Goffs with some of the farm's best yearlings this year paid off when the County Limerick-based operation's Frankel (GB) colt (lot 323) out of Listed winner Loch Lein (Ire) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}) brought an Orby Sale-topping €2 million to Godolphin on Wednesday.

Godolphin also snapped up a €600,000 Wootton Bassett (GB) colt (lot 415) from Croom House Stud and Brosnan, one of the most successful businessmen in Ireland, said that Goffs chief Henry Beeby lived up to his promise in finding the buyers if the Orby was rewarded with the right stock. FRENCH SUPERSTAR ZARKAVA PENSIONED FROM BROODMARE DUTY

His Highness The Aga Khan's undefeated G1 Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe heroine and Group 1 producer Zarkava (Ire) (Zamindar) will not be bred next year and has been pensioned, The Aga Khan's Studs announced on Wednesday. The 19-year-old daughter of Zarkasha (Ire) (Kahyasi {Ire})'s final foal is a filly by Siyouni (Fr) born on Feb. 2, 2024. (Click to view a video of Princess Zahra Aga Khan celebrating Zarkava's achievements.)

Foaled on the final day of March in 2005, the Alain de Royer-Dupre trainee won her seven starts by a combined 16 lengths, all barring her Longchamp maiden made in group company. After a score in the G1 Prix Marcel Boussac in her juvenile finale, the bay resumed with a 2 1/2-length tally in the G3 Prix de la Grotte in April and duly added the G1 Poule d'Essai des Pouliches in May. Her G1 Prix de Diane victory was Zarkava's largest winning margin, when she prevailed over Gagnoa (Ire) (Sadler's Wells) by three lengths, with subsequent GI Breeders' Cup Mile darling Goldikova (Ire) (Anabaa) third in June. Given a break during the heat of the summer, Zarkava resumed in September of 2008 with a win in the G1 Prix Vermeille, and became one of just a handful of fillies to win the Arc in her swansong that October. She was named the 2008 Cartier Horse of the Year.

He said, "It's great. We came to Goffs with seven horses this year and obviously we have good horses selling at Tattersalls next week as well. But we put our faith in Henry Beeby. He said that, if we brought the horses, he'd find the buyers. We took him at his word and it's worked out well for the two of us."

Brosnan added, "There was nobody who hadn't vetted the Frankel. We've never had as many vets. It was just a case of who had the most money. We're delighted that he's gone to Godolphin and Charlie Appleby because it's the first time that they have gone big on Croom House Stud horses and we hope that the Frankel and the Wootton Bassett work out for them."

Godolphin was the leading buyer at this year's Orby Sale. Anthony Stroud signed for seven yearlings to the tune of €5.27 million on behalf of operation.

Commenting on the sale's top lot, Stroud said, "A lovely horse--the first foal by Frankel and he moved extremely well. We all liked him and he came from Croom House Stud, who have bred a number of very good horses. We had to stretch a long way to get him but we are very pleased to get him on behalf of Godolphin."

Just as he had done on the Norelands-drafted Sea The Stars (Ire) colt [267] who provided some early entertainment when selling for €900,000, Stroud held off the attentions of Coolmore as underbidders on the Frankel colt.

On that rivalry, Stroud said, "[Coolmore] are fantastic at what they do. They are second to none, really. They run a fantastic operation with a fantastic team of people. If we see a nice horse, it's always going to be tough to buy it. And that's the way it should be. Hopefully he'll go on. He'll go to Charlie Appleby."

It might be easy to look on at some of the numbers posted on Wednesday and squirm. Cont. p4

However, while it may come across like Monopoly money to some, the Croom House boss explained that days like Wednesday--where the stud cleared close to €3 million on colts by Frankel, Wootton Bassett and No Nay Never--are imperative.

Brosnan continued, "We run a different show than what some people might think. We have a medium-sized farm in that we keep just over 30 mares and we keep culling mares so that we are really breeding at the top end of the market. It would be very easy for us to go to 40 or 50 mares but we don't. We keep the numbers low and we use the best stallions and these are the results."

He added, "The market is very good at the top. I daren't tell you that we were selling at the very low end of the market last week where we didn't even get the stud fee back. But you have those types of results every year which makes days like this all the more important."

Like Brosnan, Stroud was full of compliments for Goffs after his buying spree was completed by a €1 million Frankel filly that was consigned by Kirsten Rausing's Staffordstown Stud. A half-sister to triple Group 2 winner Sandrine (GB), lot 465 was the only other horse to clear seven figures at the sale.

Stroud commented, "I think there were some very nice horses overall. If the horses are here, we will be here and we will be trying to buy. We've bought a range of horses and, needless to say, they are all well-bred and come from very good farms."

On Staffordstown's €1 million Frankel filly, he added, "Staffordstown do a wonderful job and have bred so many wonderful horses. She'll be a lovely filly to go to our paddocks when she has finished her racing career. But I think we have bought some lovely horses this week." Cont. p5

Meanwhile, Rausing, who was in attendance at Goffs all week, added, "I am very happy to have sold such a lovely filly. She is marvellous in every way and, like all good horses, she does everything right from the beginning to the end.

"I am very lucky to have bred her--I forget what generation she is, sixth or seventh--and I bought her ancestress Sushila in this very ring in the second year that Goffs was in operation in Kill, so it was in 1976. I've had the family ever since and every single name on the catalogue page I have bred."

represents a 2% drop on last year. The turnover was down 5% to €51,051,500 while the average was €128,594 [up 5%] and the median rested at €80,000 [down 6%].

Beeby commented, "Bring us your best and we will deliver" is our cry and I think it is fair to say that we have proved that point yet again over the last two days. Orby Book 1 is a world class sale with world class yearlings and attracts a truly global buying bench that is the measure of any yearling sale anywhere. As such it exists to provide the best possible marketplace for Irish breeders, and it give us enormous pleasure each time we deliver for them.

"Top prices of €2 million and €1 million are, of course, true highlights and we are indebted to Denis Brosnan and Kirsten Rausing for entrusting such spectacular yearlings to us and the Godolphin team for the confidence they have shown with their winning bids, not forgetting the ever important underbidders."

Respectable Figures Posted

Goffs issued a rallying cry to Irish breeders to support the sale with some of its best yearlings and, to be fair to the company, it paid off with the figures posted over the two days making for respectable reading.

For the 466 horses offered, 85% were sold (397), which "He is such a good influence for looks, temperament, for durability, soundness, there's so many things in the equation that he meets," admires Peter Kavanagh.

He added, “The top lots were not one offs though, and we have been delighted to see double the number making €750,000 and over, the same for €500,000 plus, and more for €250,000 or above compared to last year. Those numbers have driven an average price that has grown by 5% to build on the huge gains we have recorded in recent years.

“We are nothing without the horses’ is another oft repeated Goffs phrase but it is as sincere as ever and we send our thanks and appreciation to every single vendor for each lot. We believe that increasing numbers are making Orby Book 1 their first choice for more of their elite yearlings as a result of the hard-earned results of the last few years and it was gratifying to hear so many noted judges agree. Add to that the undeniable USP of the Goffs Two Million Series that has so caught the imagination of buyers, particularly as it continues to evolve with another €500,000 of UK bonuses next year to go with the €500,000 on offer in Ireland, and you have the setting for a really strong sale.

“As the Irish National Yearling Sale, Orby traditionally caters to home grown yearlings, but it is gratifying to see a few “swim against the tide” with increasing numbers of UK vendors choosing Orby as well. The numbers are not big yet, but we are enthused by those that have made the trip and can only encourage more to come and experience the unique Goffs service especially with those that may be a little bit different. Competition is the driver of all vibrant markets and Goffs will continue to work tirelessly and with absolute integrity for the bloodstock industry.”

He added, “If the number of overseas vendors is small, that could not be said of our purchasers and we have been so pleased to welcome another international group, including several new faces to Kildare Paddocks. The Goffs Buyer Attraction Team, together with Irish Thoroughbred Marketing, have done another mighty job and we wish every buyer success with their Orby purchases wherever they race.

“While we reflect on a what one industry leader told me he viewed as a “very solid sale” there is no escaping the tightening of trade at a level, and it was very evident that the market is unforgiving of yearlings that do not have it all. A 85% clearance rate down by three points and a drop in the median equivalent to one bid at the level is a clear indicator of the reality of 2024 which has been the case at each sale thus far this year and we all have work to do to minimise the impact of whatever slow down is here so that we navigate our way through as best we can. Whatever happens, Goffs will continue to work with and for every client, however big or small, with enthusiasm, passion and drive; that’s all we know.” Cont. p7

O'Leary: 'It's The Top 10 Per Cent That's Getting Rewarded In This Market'

It was a productive two days for Yulong, with the operation spending €1.31 million on five yearlings, including two by its own young Irish National Stud-based stallion Lucky Vega (Ire) at €150,000 and €100,000 respectively.

However, the haul was headed by Eddie O'Leary's homebred €600,000 Night Of Thunder (Ire) filly [357], with the Lynn Lodge Stud man sharing his thoughts on the market following the sale.

He said, "Great result. Bought by a very lucky man and hopefully she'll go on. The market is good for the right stuff. There's obviously a bit of market correction going on but that's good because, if you have what the people want, it's very, very good."

He added, "The figures yesterday were actually alright. But in every sphere--be that point-to-pointers or high-class yearlings, there is market correction--you get more than ever if you have the real deal. It used to be the top third that got rewarded, now it's the top 10 per cent. And, if you are in that top bracket, you can get London."

Blue Diamond Adds Potential Gems To The Team

As well as breaking new ground with its first yearling draft at Goffs, Blue Diamond Stud added a well-bred Night Of Thunder filly at €640,000 and a nice New Bay (GB) colt for €450,000 to the team on Thursday through bloodstock agent Hugo Merry.

The Night Of Thunder filly (lot 458) was sold by the Irish National Stud and is out of Listed performer Sea Mona (Tiz Wonderful), a proven producer of American Grade II scorer California Angel (California Chrome). Meanwhile, the New Bay colt (lot 455) was consigned by Ballylinch Stud and is a half-brother to no less than three black-type performers.

Merry said, "The Night Of Thunder is a beautiful filly and the sire is on fire. The mare is well able to produce. Imad [Al Sagar] is a very brave man. I just hope he has bought graded stakes winners. They are lovely yearlings."

Talking Points

- Joseph O'Brien was one of the big winners at the Orby. The leading Irish trainer signed for eight yearlings in his own name for €1,374,000 while a number of big-money yearlings that were bought by other entities are reported to be heading his way.
- Mick Kinane was busy on behalf of the Hong Kong Jockey Club, signing for four yearlings for €1,190,000.
- Did we get a glimpse of what is to come at Tattersalls next week? Frankel was the dominant force at Goffs with six yearlings selling for €4,380,000. Juddmonte's super sire was out on his own in terms of aggregate and average posted.
- The general consensus was that Book 1 of the Orby was respectable. However, Goffs will be all too aware that we are only halfway through what is a massive week for Irish breeders and pinhookers alike. A lot rests on how the next two days pans out here at Kildare Paddocks. Book 2 of this session was disappointing last year to say the least. Here's hoping what has played out at Goffs on Tuesday and Wednesday will carry through to Book 2.

Pinhooking Fortunes On Wednesday

Of the 257 horses catalogued during Wednesday's session, 70 were pinhooks, and after 10 withdrawals, 60 horses passed through the ring. A total of 12 did not meet their reserves and were buy-backs, leaving 48 yearlings marked as sold. Of the latter group, 33 made a profit ranging from €900 to €295,000. A total of 15 lots lost money.

We have multiplied the price of the foal by 1.1 and added a running cost of €12,000 for keep, feed, veterinary, shoeing, sales prep and sales entry fees. Depending on whether someone has their own farm, or where they choose to board a horse, will obviously mean that costs for each individual can vary significantly.

It is worth noting that sometimes a horse can appear to be bought and sold by different names but have actually not changed ownership at all.

Golden Touch

I know where I'd be if I just turned €42,000 into €420,000 at the Orby Sale. I'd be upstairs in the balcony restaurant, throwing my weight behind a bottle of champagne, marvelling at my luck. Perhaps that's the difference between me and Noel O'Callaghan of Mountarmstrong Stud. Just a few minutes after the hammer had fallen on his Blue Point (Ire) filly (lot 364) out of a mare he purchased carrying what turned out to be one of the most expensive horses of the entire sale, O'Callaghan was back in the stableyard tending to his stock.

"We bought the mare [Moon Shaddow (Ire) (Galileo {Ire})] carrying the filly for €42,000 here a couple of years ago," O'Callaghan said. "To be fair, she is very nice and was fierce busy all week. Every time she was pulled out, she behaved like an absolute queen. The mare is still young [eight] and she'll go back to Blue Point now. She has a Starman (GB) filly foal at foot but was barren this year."

He added, "Goffs work hard at it and it has been good trade. There is no real story here. There are plenty of people for the nice horses. I'd six or seven people bidding on this filly. Al Shaqab were the underbidders. Trade is good for the nice horses. Hopefully the TDN will be writing about her next year. That's the most important thing."

If the Blue Point filly is to one day earn a TDN Rising Star, it will be after she bolts up for trainer Richard Hannon, with Peter and Ross Doyle signing for the filly on behalf of Norway's Bente and Magne Jordanger.

Ross Doyle said, "Mountarmstrong have bred some very nice horses down through the years. Every time we went to see her, she stretched out. She seems a very classy filly. Our clients tried very hard to buy the Night Of Thunder filly [357] but got outbid on her. This was the next filly on the list and we're delighted to get her."

Ross Doyle bought lot 364, a daughter of Blue Point | Goffs

Thought for the Day

What a difference a day makes. While the figures posted on day one would have painted a pretty picture, some of the bigger lots failed to meet their lofty expectations. There were no such complaints on Wednesday where the momentum of the sale didn't let up from start to finish. A job well done.

Bluestocking (GB) (Camelot {GB}) has been supplemented by owners Juddmonte for Sunday's G1 Qatar Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe at Longchamp at a cost of €120,000.

Trained by Ralph Beckett, Bluestocking was last seen winning the Prix Vermeille over the Arc course and distance. That was her second Group 1 success of the campaign, having also won the Pretty Polly Stakes at the Curragh in June, with a couple of creditable efforts against the boys sandwiched in between as she finished runner-up in the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes at Ascot and fourth in the Juddmonte International at York.

Connections had been keen to leave a decision on her participation as late as possible, but the likelihood of soft ground at Longchamp has seen the four-year-old added to the field in a bid to provide Juddmonte with a record-breaking seventh win in the Arc.

Juddmonte's European racing manager Barry Mahon said, "It's exciting and she is in good form. Ralph has had a good look at her this morning. She cantered, had all her tests done, and he was very happy with her condition.

"We feel she is in good form and we're very much looking forward to Sunday. It's going to be a tough task, but she's a filly who runs her race every time and hopefully she will do so again on Sunday."

The number of horses in contention for Europe's middle-distance championship remains at 18 after Opera Singer (Justify) was taken out of the race on Wednesday. She was also withdrawn from the G1 Prix de l'Opera later on the card.

Aidan O'Brien is still responsible for four possible runners, although the trainer revealed on Tuesday that Los Angeles (Ire) (Camelot {GB}) and Continuous (Jpn) (Heart's Cry {Jpn}) are likely to be the only representatives from Ballydoyle.

TRIPLE THREAT DIES IN PADDOCK ACCIDENT

National Hunt stallion Triple Threat (Fr) sustained a mortal injury in his paddock, Capital Stud announced on Wednesday. The 14-year-old son of Monsun (Ger) was standing his first season at the stud for a private fee.

"The whole Capital Stud team is devastated by the news," said the stud's Ger O'Neill. "He was very popular in his first season here and we were looking forward to covering many more mares with him in future, but sadly it wasn't to be.

"However, we look forward to seeing his first Irish foals arrive next year and we're confident they will represent him well in the sales ring and on the racecourse in the coming years."

Bred by Team Valor and Gary Barber, the bay son of Drei (Lyphard) won a trio of graded/group races in the U.S. and France, and was also third in the 2015 GI Northern Dancer Turf Stakes at Woodbine. Trained by Hall of Famer Bill Mott, he earned just over $495,000 in 23 starts, and first stood at Haras du Mont Goubert. This year marked his first season standing outside of France.

Triple Threat was proving adept with his National Hunt progeny, with his best including graded hurdle winner Sans Bruit (Fr), listed hurdle winner Rosa Kleb (Fr) and graded/listed performers AQPS Jumper Sacre (Fr) and Pacific One (Fr).
