SACRED WISH DENIES GINA ROMANTICA IN MATRIARCH

Sacred Wish holds off Gina Romantica | Benoit

Longshot Sacred Wish (Not This Time) just outlasted favored Gina Romantica (Into Mischief) to win the GI Matriarch Stakes and give her sire a sweep of the two graded events at Del Mar Sunday. The 4-year-old filly had finished on the board in six graded events, but the Matriarch was her first win at the graded level and her defeat of Gina Romantica put an end to trainer Chad Brown's string of four straight victories in the race.

Dismissed at 12-1, Sacred Wish sat just off pacesetting Ag Bullet (Twirling Candy) while racing along the rail behind fractions of :23.32 and :47.57. Gina Romantica, making the final start of her career, was in the next pair back and inched closer as the field entered the far turn to loom a threat three wide into the stretch. Sacred Wish finally tipped out a path off the rail at the top of the lane, getting first run on the favorite. She reeled in the pacesetter in deep stretch and had just enough momentum to hold Gina Romantica off by a neck at the wire, completing the mile in 1:34.76.

"She is a great horse," jockey John Velazquez said of the winner. "I thought she would take me farther down in the lane, and I could get her going along the turn. And it worked out perfect. The horse in the lead [Ag Bullet] took me where I thought. She pulled out and she had a nice kick to fight down the lane." Cont. p3

ALL ALONG: CLOCK TOWER WIRES DEMILLE

Fitriani Hay's Clock Tower (Not This Time), the 4-5 favorite, glided up and over from his outside post to take the early lead and never looked back in a wire-to-wire victory in the Gill Cecil B. DeMille Stakes at Del Mar Sunday. The dark bay gelding was in control through an opening quarter in :23.62 and was under a strong hold while getting a breather down the backstretch as the half went up in :48.75. Second choice Scipio (Caravaggio) made eye-catching progress on the turn and loomed a threat while rolling up four wide at the top of the lane, but Clock Tower had plenty left in the tank, easily turning back that foe and scampering clear to win by 2 1/2 lengths.

"Today when I got away with that second quarter [:25.13], I knew they were going to have a tough time catching us," said winning rider John Velazquez. "Then, when I asked him, he went. He's turning into a good one."

Blair Golen, assistant to winning trainer George Weaver, added, “Ag Bullet just set it up perfect for her. She wasn’t going too fast, was comfortable behind horses, and was able to go up the rail and get it done this time. Johnny already had it in his head that, instead of waiting for her, he was going to ask her to go and where she put herself is where she was going to be. He’s ridden her so well in the past. He gets along with her good and I’m just so happy he was able to come out and ride her.”

Sacred Wish, a neck short when second in the 2023 GI Coaching Club American Oaks, came into the Matriarch off runner-up efforts in the July 20 GIII Matchmaker Stakes and Aug. 31 GIII Kentucky Downs Ladies Turf Stakes and a third-place finish in the Nov. 2 GIII Goldikova Stakes.

Pedigree Notes:

Sacred Wish became the 19th graded winner for Not This Time, whose son Clock Tower became his 18th just an hour or so earlier with his win in the GIII Cecil B. DeMille Stakes.

Indian Wish has a yearling colt by Knicks Go, who sold for $40,000 at Keeneland September, and she was bred to Epicenter this year.

The mare is a half-sister to Grade I-placed Sister Girl Blues (Hold for Gold), the dam of GI Kentucky Derby runner-up Firing Line (Line of David), as well as to the dams of Grade I winners Sharp Azteca (Freud) and Bowies Hero (Artie Schiller).

In the name of his Chromedome Partners, John Penn purchased Indian Wish, with Sacred Wish in utero, for $22,000 at the 2019 Keeneland November sale.

“Beautiful, perfect trip,” Heap said. “Kind of what we were hoping. There was really no speed, on paper anyway. When I saw the fractions, he almost went :49 for the half and he's been running :47 and still hanging pretty hard. He'd been training here so good, I really liked him.”

Clock Tower, third in his five-furlong debut over the main track at Churchill May 24, set the pace before settling for second in a one-mile off-turfer at Saratoga Aug. 10. He romped to a 6 1/2-length maiden victory while making his turf debut going one mile at Kentucky Downs Aug. 29 and set the pace before tiring to third in the 1 1/16-mile GII Bourbon Stakes at Keeneland Oct. 6 last time out.

“I rode this horse for his first two starts back east and you can see what a good job Wesley has done with him,” Velazquez said. “He's grown up; he's matured.”

Pedigree Notes:

Clock Tower is the 18th graded winner for Not This Time, whose other graded winners on turf include champion Up to the Mark and Cogburn.

Hot Stones, winner of the 2014 GIII Bed o' Roses Handicap, was purchased by Clarkland Farm for $250,000 while in foal to Tonalist at the 2016 Keeneland November sale. She has a yearling filly by Authentic, who sold for $80,000 to Barry Berkelhammer at the Keeneland September sale, and a weanling colt by Nyquist. She was bred to Omaha Beach this year.

DEL MAR FALL FESTIVAL GRADED TRIPLE FOR STRAWBRIDGE, THOMAS

George Strawbridge's Augustin Stables capped a trio of graded wins over the week at Del Mar when Will Then (War of Will) powered to a 2 1/4-length victory in the GIII Jimmy Durante Stakes at the seaside oval Saturday. The filly joined stablemates Mrs. Astor (Lookin at Lucky), who won the Nov. 24 GIII Red Carpet Stakes, and Truly Quality (Quality Road), who won the GII Hollywood Turf Cup Friday. All three homebreds are trained by Jonathan Thomas.

"I really have to give kudos to Mr. Strawbridge and his breeding program," Thomas said. "They are all three homebreds. It's an incredible thing for a breeder to accomplish, so we're just blessed to train for him."

Strawbridge purchased Mrs. Astor's dam, Causal (Creative Cause), for $400,000 as a Keeneland September yearling in 2015. The mare made just two starts before heading to the breeding shed and the 4-year-old Mrs. Astor is her first foal.

Will Then's dam Remember Then (Pulpit) was another yearling purchase by Strawbridge, who acquired her for $350,000 at the 2011 Keeneland September sale. Winner of the first three starts of her career in 2012 and 2013, she is also the dam of stakes winner Born Dapper (Union Rags).

Will Then, a maiden winner over the Woodbine turf in October, was making just her third lifetime start when she upset the Jimmy Durante at 10-1.

Of plans for the 2-year-old filly, Thomas said, "We need to look at the stakes schedule. I think there's a race [the $100,000 Blue Norther on Dec. 28] at Santa Anita going a mile. I think it makes complete sense to wheel back in that spot. The timing's good."

TUTTA LA VITA NEARS AMERICAN DEBUT

Australian multiple Group 1-placed Tutta La Vita (Aus) (The Autumn Sun {Aus}), purchased by John Stewart's Resolute Racing for A$3.2 million at the Inglis Chairman's Sale in May, is nearing her U.S. debut after working four furlongs in :49.34 (11/16) over the Tapeta surface at Gulfstream Saturday. Trainer Ignacio 'Nacho' Correas, IV said Sunday that the 4-year-old filly is being pointed to an entry-level optional claiming allowance following the Christmas holiday.

"She's doing good. She's eligible for a one-other-than and she's going to run here on the 26th," Correas said. "So far, so good."

The acclimation from Australian winter to North American summer was slower than anticipated for Tutta La Vita, pushing her first timed work to mid-September at Keeneland and scrapping plans to run at both Saratoga and in the Breeders' Cup.

Tutta La Vita has breezed twice over the all-weather Tapeta surface at Gulfstream. She worked five furlongs in 1:00.84 Nov. 23 before her four-furlong work Saturday.

On the board in three Group 1 events in her native Australia, including a runner-up effort in the G1 Storm Queen Stakes in March, Tutta La Vita owns a record of 1-3-2 from 12 career starts, all on turf. In her first start for Resolute Racing, she was eighth in the May 25 G2 ANZ Bloodstock News The Roses.

“Mr. Stewart bought her and sent her to me. She ran some nice races in Australia. She has been working here like a good horse. We look forward to a good start in America and then a very good campaign in 2025,” Correas said. “The idea is to run her here and give her a start and go from there. She’s training very well and doing very well, so we are very happy with her.”

Correas also trains 6-year-old millionaire Didia (Arg) (Orpen) for Resolute and Merriebelle Stable. A two-time Group 1 winner in her home country, she has won four graded stakes in North America, including the GI New York Stakes in June at Saratoga.

Most recently third in the GI Breeders’ Cup Filly & Mare Turf, Didia is being pointed to a title defense in the GII Pegasus Filly & Mare Turf Invitational next month at Gulfstream, a race she won by a neck as the favorite last January.

“Didia is doing good,” Correas said. “She came out of the Breeders’ Cup in very good shape. She’s back working, and she is expected to make her comeback in the Pegasus Filly & Mare Turf. That was a very exciting day for me and for everybody.”

FORMER PLETCHER ASSISTANT AMELIA GREEN SENDS OUT WINNER IN HER FIRST

TRY by Bill Finley

Amelia Green, 31, whose most recent racetrack job was as an assistant trainer to Todd Pletcher, wasted no time getting her own training career off to a fast as she won Sunday’s first race at Aqueduct with her first ever starter. The win came with On Command (Omaha Beach) in a maiden special weight race.

Green, a native of England, has served in several roles in racing, as a jockey, exercise rider, foreman and traveling assistant. One of her first stops in the U.S. was to work as an assistant trainer in California to George Papaprodromou. Most recently, she was in charge of Pletcher’s string at Keeneland. Green also worked for trainer Sir Henry Cecil for four years, riding races for him as an apprentice. In the U.S., she rode from 2013 through 2015 and had nine winners from 148 starters. She took out her U.S. trainer’s license shortly after this year’s Breeders’ Cup.

“I don’t think it’s quite hit me yet,” she said. “It doesn’t feel real yet. It is starting to hit me now I guess. Mostly, it was a relief. I am very happy for the owners [Lucky Hat Racing LLC and V Hop Racing] and the filly herself. She ran very well. I was quietly confident with her coming into this race.”

Green continued, “I didn’t want to say anything out loud, but she had been training very well the last couple of weeks, so I was confident in the way she was coming into it and how everything was aligning and going right. But you never know until the final moment if it is actually going to end the way you hope it does.”

Green is based at Belmont and plans to follow the New York circuit. She said she currently has four horses with “a couple more coming in this week.”

“This filly winning will hopefully help me get some more clientele,” she said.

To have someone like Pletcher as a mentor certainly helps.

“He led by example with his dedication to his craft,” she said. “If you’re there everyday and you put in the work, you’re going to get rewarded for it. If you work hard, you’re always going to do well.”

HOW I GOT HOOKED ON RACING: FRANK MIRAHMADI

Frank Mirahmadi | Sarah Andrew

by Bill Finley

How did we get hooked on this sport? We all have stories about how our love affair developed and blossomed. The TDN will be reaching out to numerous notable people in the industry to get their stories to find out how they got hooked and stayed hooked on the sport.

When I was very young, we would go to the races, my dad, my mom, my brother and I. My dad liked to bet, so he wasn’t passionate about racing. But I became passionate very quickly. I started reading the Racing Form at a young age. It became my favorite sport almost instantly. I’m not one of these guys who remembers the first time I was there or the first horse that I watched. I have no idea. I was not in a position to remember because I was so young at the time. We lived in Beverly Hills and would go to Hollywood Park a lot and to Santa Anita. We were there every opening day that I can think of.

I got to see some incredible horses. I remember watching Spectacular Bid run. But when I think about horses, the first memory I strongly recall, for whatever reason, is being at Hollywood Park one day and there was a race with Ancient Title and Crystal Water in it.

I just had a love for it. I was a big Bill Shoemaker fan. He was my favorite jockey. On the weekends, most people wanted to go to the Dodgers games, Rams games, Lakers game. I just wanted to go to the track.

I am going to guess my father first started taking me around the time I turned five. The times I first really remember were when I was about eight. By the time I was nine, I remember being extremely disappointed because my dad wouldn’t take me to see Seattle Slew in the Swaps Stakes. He didn’t want to fight the big crowd. There were 70,000 people there that day and it was going to be a big headache. I remember vividly listening to that race on the radio. It was on a clock radio we had and I listened to Harry Henson’s live call on KNX. When I think of the house we lived in at that the time, that’s my most vivid memory, that race, listening on the radio, not eating dinner that night and being very sad because Seattle Slew lost.

By the age of nine, I was completely into it. I would watch the replay shows and would listen to ‘Horse and Jockey,’ a race recreation show at the end of the day that was highly entertaining. The recreations were done by a guy named Jay Richards. I ended up meeting him after I was on TVG. He sent in an email. I asked if this was the Jay Richards. It was and we became close friends.

For me, I loved the jockeys. I would get so many jockey autographs. I remember so many times meeting those jockeys at a very young age and how cool they were. I didn’t really know it at the time, but that was an amazing colony of riders. They were always accommodating. Shoemaker, Chris McCarron, Eddie D., Don Pierce, they were all very nice to me.

It’s not that my dad didn’t like racing, but he wasn’t passionate about it. The reason I know that is that he didn’t dig into the Racing Form like I did. He’d rather just play the picks made by the guy in the Los Angeles Times or play numbers. I loved the sport and trying to figure it out. By high school, I was reading the Racing Form regularly. I was very much into it, trying to figure out how to handicap.

Then I became fascinated with the race callers. That’s because at a young age I was an impersonator. I would go to the track and imitate the track announcers. Amazingly, that’s how my race calling career got started.

As a 3-year-old, Scotland finished off the board in both the GI DK Travers Stakes and GI Pennsylvania Derby. The gelding's latest form cycle includes a runner-up finish over the slop in the GIII Vosburgh Stakes Sept. 28 and he was well-beaten in the GIII Bold Ruler Stakes Oct. 26--both at Aqueduct. In the inaugural Cherokee Mile Stakes, the homebred went off as a 5-1 shot here and watched from the second flight as a trio vied for the lead up the backstretch. Scotland started picking off foes from the three path around the far turn, but at the top of the lane began to trade blows with Injunction.

Delivering a knockout at the sixteenth pole, the Bill Mott trainee powered home a winner on closing day under the Twin Spires.

"He's a part of LNJ Foxwoods's homebred program and it's very special to win another stakes with him," said Mott Kentucky assistant Kenny McCarthy. "He's a very classy horse and really handled the one-turn mile well. When we got him down here to Churchill Downs a couple weeks ago from New York he looked great and has really thrived since being in Kentucky."

The winner's dam is responsible for MSP Tapped (Tapit), a yearling colt by Audible and she foaled a filly by Mendelssohn Apr. 29. Gemswick Park was entered in Authentic's book for 2025. Scotland's extended female family includes English G1 Queen Elizabeth II Stakes hero Poet's Voice (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}). Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by FanDuel TV.

After a little more than a two-month break, Booth made his 3-year-old debut a winning one by 4 1/4 lengths against optional claimers at Oaklawn Park in mid-February. The Steve Asmussen trainee was last seen running fifth in the Lafayette Stakes at Keeneland Apr. 5. Well-backed off the bench as the 6-5 choice here, the chalk sailed out of the outside gate and dueled up the backstretch with Molly's Town (Mo Town). The 3-year-old put away his rival by the quarter pole and outran This is Uskar (Oscar Performance) to clear the condition by 1 1/2 lengths. The winner is a half-brother to Musical Mischief (Into Mischief), GSW & GISP, $518,776 and Bright Future (Curlin), GISW, $947,940. HALL OF FAME (c, 3, Gun Runner--Flag Day, by Giant's Causeway) became a 'TDN Rising Star' at Fair Grounds early this year with a 10 1/4-length maiden win second time out. Off the board in both the GII Risen Star and the GII Louisiana Derby, he went to the sidelines in late March and just resurfaced Sunday off the nine-month layoff. The 6-5 favorite had good forward position in this one-mile return spot, stalking from third while just off early pacesetter Eglise (Frosted) through the half in :44.56. Edging up off the far turn, Hall of Fame took over from Prince of Power (Runhappy) and drove away late to win by two lengths. A $1.4 million Saratoga yearling purchase for M.V. Magnier, Hall of Fame has a yearling Constitution half-brother who sold for $450,000 at KEESEP and a weanling half-brother by Justify. Flag Day is due to Good Magic next year. GRAND JOB (f, 3, Justify--Sure Route {GB} {MSP, $201,163}, by Ishiguru), runner up in three of four starts in Ireland last season, marked her U.S. debut with an easy six-length win going seven-eighths at the Big A Oct. 31. JULIA SHINING (f, 4, Curlin--Dreaming of Julia {Broodmare of The Year, GISW, $874,500}, by A.P. Indy) was named a 'TDN Rising Star'--the fifth in her extended female family--after she broke her maiden at first asking over Keeneland's main track as a late juvenile. The well-bred filly won the GII Demoiselle Stakes that December, and the following spring she was third in both the Suncoast Stakes at Tampa in mid-February and in the GI Central Bank Ashland Stakes at Keeneland that April. Ninth in the GI Alabama Stakes at the Spa, Julia Shining wrapped her season over the fall with a fourth-place finish in the GII Mother Goose Stakes in Ozone Park and was runner-up in the GIII Comely Stakes. Off the bench against optional claimers to kick off her 4-year-old campaign at Keeneland in April, the filly was last seen running a well-beaten fourth in the Allaire DuPont Distaff Stakes at Pimlico May 17. The 7-5 choice here took an awkward step out of the gate, spotting the field several lengths up the backstretch. Mounting a rally approaching the far turn, the bay quickly erased the margin entering the lane and took aim at the leaders with a furlong left. The homebred flexed her class as she won by 3 1/4 lengths over Golden Degree (Goldencents). The winner is full-sister to Malathaat, Ch. 3-year-old Filly, Ch. Older Dirt Female, MGISW, $3,790,825. Dreaming of Julia is also responsible for unraced 2-year-old filly Eco Warrior (Curlin) and a yearling filly by Into Mischief. Out of MGISW Dream Rush (Wild Rush), the 2022 Broodmare of the Year was sent back to Curlin for next season. FORT BRAGG (c, 4, Tapit--March X Press {SW, $151,730}, by Shanghai Bobby) showed promise as a 3-year-old, competing on the Triple Crown trail before ultimately contesting (and winding up second in) the GII Pat Day Mile on Derby Day at Churchill. A win in the GIII Dwyer Stakes at Belmont was the highlight of a season which also saw him hit the board in the GII Saratoga Sprint Championship. Brought back off a lengthy layoff following last year's GI Malibu Stakes, Fort Bragg has started just twice this year when fourth in this year's rendition of the Saratoga Sprint and a last-out second in optional claiming ranks at Santa Anita Oct. 27. Sunday's even-money favorite was off the speed from the break, settling ahead of only For All Mankind (Into Mischief) through the half in :45.16. Given room to run along the rail into the stretch, he took advantage and cleared off to defeat Roll on Big Joe (Prospective) by 2 3/4 lengths. March X Press, who sold for $560,000 to Parks Investment Group as a KEENOV broodmare in 2021, has a yearling Honor A.P. filly and reported a Constitution filly this year. Trying his shortest distance to date, the 5-2 second choice stalked in the back half of the field into the far turn but turned it on when angled out wide and rocketed home to come in four lengths ahead of Neil's Legacy (Ghostzapper). Almost Guilty has a winning 2-year-old Pavel filly and has returned to Pavel each of the last three years but has not produced a live foal. She is due again on the same cover next year. WISH MAN (c, 3, Liam's Map--Wishcraft, by Lion Heart) won his juvenile debut by 4 1/4 lengths that September, then was third in the Clever Trevor Stakes in late October and the runner-up against allowance company in mid-November--all at Remington. Well-beaten to start his 3-year-old campaign at the same level in Oklahoma City Nov. 8, the bay was tabbed as the 2-1 second choice here. The colt tracked Devil's Mischief (Goldencents) and Galactic Core (Bluegrass Cat) from the third position up the backstretch and pulled even with them by going three wide around the far turn. Entering the lane, Devil's Mischief bumped Galactic Core and went on to win by a neck over Wish Man. After a claim of foul by the rider of Galactic Core against the rider of Devil's Mischief, the winner was taken down and placed fourth for interference in the stretch, which elevated Wish Man to the top spot on the podium. The winner's dam is responsible for unraced 2-year-old colt Magical Wish (Broken Vow), a yearling colt named Start With a Wish (Upstart) and she foaled a colt by Tonalist Apr. 12. FOIE GRAS (f, 2, Volatile--Table Manners, by Algorithms), a 19-1 longshot facing a largely inexperienced field, broke smartly from an outside gate and found good position while wide into the far turn. Switched out in pursuit of pacesetting favorite Verity (Nyquist), she took over from that rival in deep stretch and had to fend her off to just prevail by a head in a tight, driving finish. The 23rd winner for her freshman sire (by Violence), Foie Gras was a $170,000 Fasig-Tipton July grad out of a half-sister to GISP She's Got the Beat (Sultry Song).

BURNING GLORY (c, 2, Into Mischief--Hail {SP}, by Tapit) has been over this surface twice already, debuting on a sloppy track at this distance Sept. 27 before trying 1 1/16 miles when second last out Nov. 3. Sunday's 6-5 favorite had to come from mid pack, moving up the backstretch with an outside bid to engage late leader The Warden (War of Will). The pair dueled the length of the stretch with Burning Glory prevailing by a neck while the top two opened up an 11-length gap back to Ship Ship Hooray (Midshipman) in third. 'IT WAS LIKE A DREAM': PASCAL BARY REFLECTS ON STORIED CAREER

Pascal Bary, right, with the brilliant filly Six Perfections | Scoop Dyga

By Emmanuel Roussel

It's not yet nine o'clock and the office is almost empty, as good as new. Pascal Bary saw his last horses leave the day before, and he's offering one of his last employees their pick of the framed victory photos still displayed on a shelf.

Almost 45 years after obtaining his licence, the trainer with six French Derbys to his name is packing his bags.

The yard is still bustling because his boxes will now be occupied by Mario Baratti, who is steadily climbing the ranks of Chantilly trainers today and has filled the stalls that his predecessor had emptied over the weeks. It's just as well.

"The horses in the boxes of this stable today are no longer mine, but the yard remains full, lively, so that's okay," explains Bary. "It's great! I love the horse as an animal. I need them. To see them, to touch them, to take them out, to breathe them in. I can't imagine not seeing them any more. There will always be horses in my life."

Over the past few years, Bary has gradually reduced his activity. He sold his annex yard, going from 120 horses at the peak of his career in the 2000s to around 40. The number of his runners has continuously decreased and, with it, the number of winners too. The announcement of his retirement will therefore not have surprised his Chantilly neighbours. 'TRADE WAS AMAZING' - INDUSTRY JUDGES HAVE THEIR SAY ON FANTASTIC FOAL SALES

By Brian Sheerin

Close to 1,500 foals have changed hands at Goffs and Tattersalls over the past fortnight during what industry stakeholders have acknowledged to be a magic marketplace. This was the year to sell a foal with all of the key figures jumping dramatically at both sales houses.

Not only were the pinhookers predictably strong after what was widely agreed to be an unexpectedly good end to the yearling sales, but a number of end-users--Godolphin, Yulong, Juddmonte and more--really stepped up to the plate at both sales.

There were records broken at Tattersalls and Goffs and, the fact that the Wednesday foals in Ireland averaged just €14,178 less than the Orby Sale tells you everything you need to know about the strength of the foal sales. Cont. p6

The French public may not have had time to notice, preoccupied as it is with the winner of the next tierce. The career of a great trainer, barring unforeseen circumstances, often goes gently into the good night.

In the last two years, only Feed the Flame (Kingman), winner of the G1 Grand Prix de Paris in 2023, then third this year in the G1 Prix Ganay and the Coronation Cup before finishing second in the G1 Grand Prix de Saint-Cloud, has kept him at the top. He was unfortunately pulled up in the G2 Qatar Prix Foy while preparing for a second Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe. It's an exit from the track that is both cruel and unfair, as much for the class of the horse as for the trainer and his owner, Jean-Louis Bouchard. However, Pascal Bary's decision to stop his activity came a little earlier.

"I really started thinking about it after Feed the Flame's Grand Prix de Paris," he confides. "I told myself that the horse would have a good four-year-old season and that afterwards, I could leave."

The charm of entrepreneur Jean-Louis Bouchard's silks, dark green with pink epaulettes, worked almost to the end. Together, he and Bary won four Prix du Jockey Clubs with Celtic Arms (1994), Ragmar (1996), Dream Well (under the colours of Maria Niarchos, breeder of the colt and partner with Jean-Louis Bouchard) then Blue Canari (2004), who would win the very last edition of the French Derby when run over 2,400m before its shortening to 2,100m, still in force today.

With the exception of Dream Well, none of these horses had great success at stud, which did not diminish their trainer's admiration.

"Most of Jean-Louis Bouchard's colts were chosen and bought, with the help of Gerard Larrieu, for this race, during their careers," he explains. "Celtic Arms was a very good horse. He had run in the Morny at two, then won the Conde, and the Lupin before the Jockey Club, but he had no pedigree. As for Ragmar, he was beaten by a short-head at two in the Criterium de Saint-Cloud by Polaris Flight, whom he beat, again by a nose, in the Jockey Club the following year. These two horses, six months apart, ran true to their respective form. Ragmar was a real racehorse. The horses from the Niarchos family or Khalid Abdullah, on the other hand, were primarily homebreds. It's not the same perspective. It is also thanks to Dream Well's victory that I received foals from the Niarchos family afterwards. Until then, after Francois Boutin, they were mainly dispatched in Britain. It was Dream Well that brought us together."

The legacy of Francois Boutin, with whom Pascal spent nearly four years after a season with Sir Mark Prescott and before setting up on his own, does not shine through this remarkable series of successes in the Prix du Jockey Club. Indeed, after numerous places, the previous trainer of the Niarchos family only won one edition of the French Derby, in 1993, a few months before his parting, thanks to Hernando. However, in the 11 years that followed, Bary saddled five Jockey Club winners, then none for 14 years, until 2018 with Study of Man.

One could seek in this gap a difficulty in adapting to the new distance of the race, but it is undoubtedly rather a circumstance corollary to the stable organisation, and not a consequence of it: a trainer makes do with what he gets.

Bary with Study Of Man, his sixth winner of the Prix du Jockey Club
Scoop Dyga

Moreover, in the meantime, Divine Proportions (2005) and Senga (2017) also won the G1 Prix de Diane (also run over 2,100m). One season, in 2004, Pascal Bary had in his yard, that is to say at the foot of his house, three champions: Six Perfections, Denebola and Divine Proportions, soon replaced by the phenomenal Natagora.

The eleven Classic winners saddled by Bary, with the Royal-Oak of Ice Breeze, winner of this French St Leger in 2017, and the Poules d'Essai des Pouliches (French 1,000) of Bluemamba (2000) and Divine Proportions (2005), should not overshadow Pascal Bary's remarkable success with juveniles, which was the signature of Francois Boutin, and before him of his own apprenticeship master, Etienne Pollet.

Moreover, it was with an extraordinary two-year-old that Bary's career really took off. In 1982, he saddled the two-year-old Deep Roots, winner of the G1 Prix Morny at Deauville in the colours of Corine and Patrick Barbe. The colt was one of the three yearlings he received the previous autumn... "I started with a runner in a claiming race in my father's colours who was immediately claimed!" he laughs. "I also ran a lot of claimers, especially with Jean-Louis Bouchard. It was a very fun time. There were many more claimers on the French programme than today. When I started, I never imagined for a moment winning so many races. Well, it didn't even cross my mind. And then afterwards, things happened gradually. With Deep Roots, there was no need to ask any questions. He won his first race easily. Then, he was demoted to third place in the Prix du Bois. Then we were narrowly beaten in the Papin and he won the Morny. A pretty straightforward path, really. He was a super racehorse, a real two-year-old. I hadn't really asked myself the question, but I was training for that, to win big races."

And to win big races, you certainly need good horses, but you also need to know how to handle them, which is not written in any manual of the perfect trainer, which, it seems, does not exist anyway... "Training is instinctive, you can't learn it," he says. "There is experience, of course, and a lot of observation. Both on the track and in the box, all the time. It's a job that prevents you from doing anything else. You don't have the time because a horse's career involves thousands of little details to sort out. Yet, while being omnipresent, you have to try to keep some perspective. If it's not going well, wait. Adapt and try to understand."

Bary adds, "The faster you understand them, the less you need to work them, and the less you damage them. Horses don't all need the same routine, but they do need a routine. They need a routine that is their own. So I've spent my life worrying about the details, for every one of them. I arrived first in the yard, I left last, and I loved every bit of it. I still love it, but I don't have the same energy any more. It's a demanding job, and I was lucky to have a good family environment, a very balanced life. I didn't need anything else."

With a record like his, it would be unbecoming of Pascal to mention regrets, but what emerges from his reflections today is a satisfaction which, at the moment of changing his life, is unusual, and yet not feigned.

"Because everything seemed easy to me, from the beginning," he explains. "I loved my job and I started training easily. Sometimes you have doubts, but overall, I've had the best job in the world. I'm at home, among my horses, it's like a dream to wake up here with Denebola, Six Perfections, Divine Proportions, Blue Canari in your boxes... Seeing them every morning, coming back from Deauville with half the catalogue about to head into your yard, it's more work, but these are great moments. Our environment has changed, of course, and if I'm no longer fashionable, I still work the same way. Besides, that's probably one of the reasons why I'm stopping: because I don't want to change. Sir Mark Prescott, from whom I learned the basics of the trade - and English! - probably hasn't changed much in his way of working either! Maybe I should, but I don't want to, I don't need to."

Back outside, Mario Baratti's staff are doing their work and Pascal Bary is settling the final details of his departure. Even once his horses have left, there are still many details to be settled before the big departure. Despite everything, the sun is shining, everything is gleaming, and it's a bad day to be sad.

"Yesterday, the weather was bad, but today, it's magnificent, look!" says Bary, pointing to the garden, the high hedge, the horses passing behind, in a small wood, and beyond, barely visible under a winter-blue sky, the vast expanse of Les Aigles. We understand better then why Pascal he to stay a few more years in the house at the yard, why he says of his career that it unfolded "like a dream".

The next day, however, for his departure to a house dear to him in the Dordogne, snow began to fall on the northern half of France, and notably on Chantilly.

The road south like a blank page for Pascal to write a new story.

While there are still a number of foals set to sell at Arqana, it seems as though now is a fair time to press pause and take stock of some of the key themes that have emerged from the past fortnight.

From top judges Philipp Stauffenberg, Eddie O'Leary and Joe Foley to consignors and stud owners, some of the big names of the industry have weighed in on what young sires to follow, market predictions and more.

Tattersalls, if you go through the results at the high end of the market, it is dominated by end users. Because of the strength of the yearling market, obviously some people decided to try and land a punch at the foal sales. That makes life difficult for us pinhookers. But the trade was amazing. I bid very strongly on Chaldean (GB) as a foal. Loved him. I knew that it would be difficult to try and buy his sister [last Friday] and unfortunately I couldn't fend off other buyers when I opened her at 1 million gns! She actually was not for pinhooking, though--I have one client who is keen to buy a really top-class filly and he was willing to go to 2 million gns but we didn't have a chance. I am very happy with the horses I bought. My only regret was that I didn't pick up as many high-end foals as I'd have liked to. I still think I bought one of the nicest colts we saw at any sale in the Night Of Thunder (Ire) colt we bought at Goffs--he was just absolutely gorgeous. I would have liked to have bought two or three more high-end fillies in particular but I stretched myself out of my comfort zone for every one I did bid on and then they made even more to end-users. Looking at some of the younger stallions, I bought a Minzaal (Ire) out of a black-type mare at Goffs and I would give that stallion a big chance. From what we have seen of his stock, he is more or less the one who looks good.

You can get more than ever for the nice horse but less than ever for those that don't make the grade. The lesser horses are desperately hard to sell. I've never seen the floor of the market so low. It's all about the nicer horses. Why's that? Prize-money. Nobody wants the fun horse. The demand is for the high-end horses. Now the pinhookers are teaming up to buy the better calibre of horse and that's making them even dearer to buy. I bought 15 in Goffs and 11 here at Tattersalls. I sold yearlings by Lope Y Fernandez (Ire) and A'Ali (Ire) this year and found them to be lovely horses. I tried to buy foals by them again but I actually couldn't buy an A'Ali in the end. Of the stallions with first foals, Minzaal is doing well. Perfect Power is throwing horses much better-looking than he is. If you see a bull calf you don't need to see the bull so I think people could breed to him blind. He's throwing Kodiaks if you ask me. I think it's fair to say we were expecting a kick up the you know what coming into Book 1 but we didn't get it, largely down to Kia Joorabchian's involvement. We all seriously hope that Kia and Evangelos Marinakis have a good year next year and, who knows, they might bring even more people into the game. That will be important.

Caoimhe Doherty, Forenaghts Stud

The yearling sales were very strong but a lot of pinhookers did lose money. We bought two foals this year and four last year. We bought at a level--an Australia (GB) filly for €30,000 and a Naval Crown (GB) for €24,000. We're happy at that level and time will tell if we bought value or not. We have a Naval Crown filly at home at Forenaghts Stud and we think she's very smart. There's a lot of Dubawi about his stock and he's one I like.

I was mainly selling at the foal sales and we had a very positive experience. There was great footfall and, the horses who were good physically and were up to the market, they were very well received. We had Minzaal and Sioux Nation colts that sold very well around the mid-market level. Sioux Nation seems to be gone to another level and certainly seems to be exceeding expectations. He's got well-bred crops to run for him going forward and you'd hope that those horses will be prolific and he will continue on an upward trajectory. As for Minzaal, I have been a huge fan of his from the start and his foals have been very well received as well. The Blackbeard (Ire) foals seem to be strong, well-built horses and I liked the Persian Force (Ire) foals as well. They sold well and were well-supported. Tally-Ho Stud has a great system and a great history of making stallions. He's covered a good book of mares and will be given every chance. At the end of the day, the European yearling market is worth somewhere in the region of 300 million so, when Amo Racing come to play, that moves the market. There was obviously a knock-on effect. The other thing that stuck out to me at the foal sales was the broad spectrum of sires that sold well. There were some stallions in the mid-market, the likes of Cotai Glory (GB) and Gleneagles (Ire), that sold very well. I think that's a great sign of the market that it's not just the 60 grand and above stallions who sold well. Cont. p9

David Cox, Baroda Stud

People got a lot of money out of yearlings and were always going to reinvest. I knew it was going to be strong but seeing the end users coming in was very interesting. I thought Alex Elliott's comments after buying Chaldean's sister were interesting. He said, 'We bought her for 2.5 million gns but would probably have had to spend a lot more on her as a yearling.' That purchase made sense for Amo Racing. But, on the whole, it was great trade. I bought a few foals but played it fairly safe with the sires. We didn't get any first-crop sires but we did buy a Ghaiyyath (Ire) and I would be confident that we haven't seen the best of him yet. I was actually stabled beside the Perfect Power (Ire) colt who topped the sale on Saturday at 72,000gns and he stood out to me. Plenty of people seem to be talking about Minzaal and Blackbeard and we sold a couple of nice Persian Force foals at Goffs so he definitely has a chance.

Oliver St Lawrence, bloodstock agent

I'm not a major foal buyer but, the same as everyone else, I thought the Minzaals were very nice. Caturra (Ire) seems to be getting nice foals as well. I don't entirely understand how everyone seems to have forgotten how tricky the yearling sales were. I mean, we had some really tricky sales prior to Book 1. Everyone seems to think that Book 1 is the market but I'm not so sure. It will be interesting to see how some of these mares who aren't in foal to the right stallions sell this week. I think things could look a bit trickier after this week. There were some serious holes in the yearling market, particularly earlier in the year, and, at the later sales, you had to be by the right stallion. We obviously work closely with breeders through our nominations and we are getting more people than ever ringing us looking for foal shares to the bigger stallions. That's just the way it has gone. But there will be some value to be had if one is clever enough to source it.

Anthony O'Donnell | Tattersalls

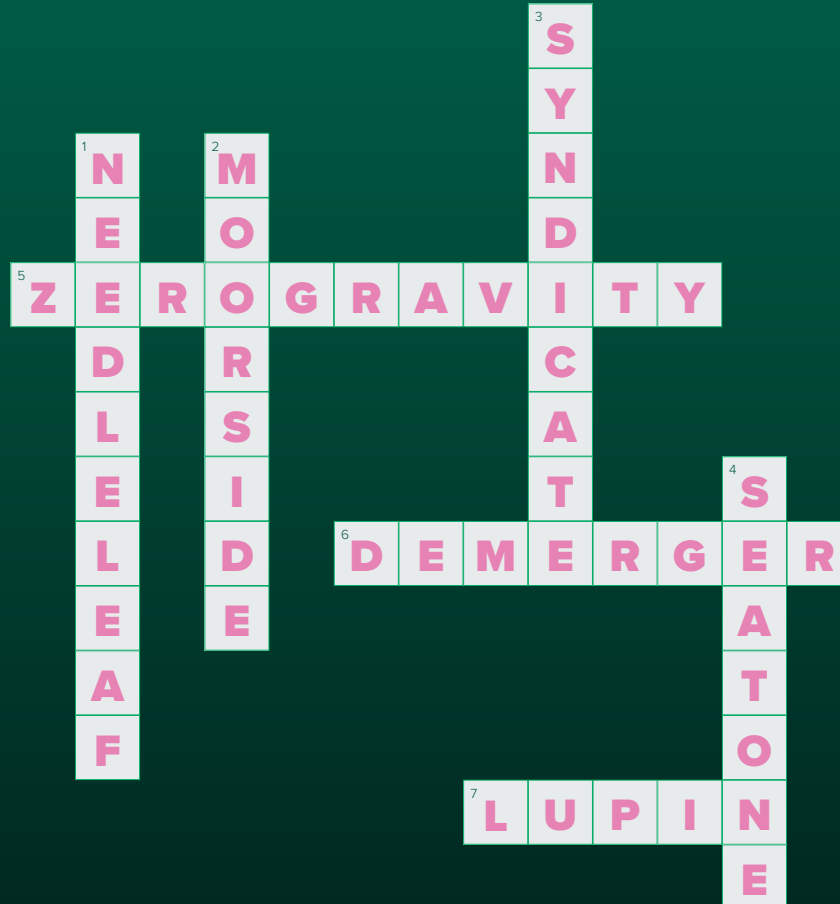

Anthony O'Donnell, Darley

The one thing I took from the foal sales at Goffs and here at Tattersalls was the great energy that young pinhookers brought to the whole thing--and not just for the 10 or 20 grand foals, either. A lot of younger men and women partnered up to buy the better calibre of foals and that's what you need to be doing now because that window at the yearling sales appears to be getting smaller. Another thing I found interesting was, on the plane home from the foal sales the other day, I got speaking with a buyer who didn't manage to buy anything here. He hadn't planned on shopping at the mare sales but, because he didn't get a foal, he's back looking for a mare with a good cover so that's what you call thinking on your feet. Speaking with my Darley hat on, we have been genuinely delighted by the start that Perfect Power and Naval Crown have made. Not only have they sold well, but they have been bought by some brilliant people. That's exciting. Cont. p10

I wasn't surprised by the strength of the foal sales. How could you be? After Book 1, which had a knock-on effect at Book 2, there was always going to be a huge demand for foals that looked like they could be high-end candidates at the yearling sales. There are newer players who are after coming into the game and they want to compete with the top guys. To do that, they had to spend a lot of money. The market has risen accordingly and the elite horses at the elite sales have been hard to buy. One thing I would say is that the middle tiers were solid enough as well. Given everything that is going on in the world, it was okay. Now, it was hard work at times, don't get me wrong, but it was reasonable. I saw a lot of foals at Goffs and at Tattersalls and Baaeed was the one for me. They look like they are going to turn into better yearlings, which you wouldn't be surprised about. He was an exceptional racehorse and his foals didn't disappoint. The Perfect Powers are also very nice. He was a weapon of a racehorse and I've actually bought into three foals by him.

WORLDWIDE NEWS

LEMON POP DEFENDS CHAMPIONS CUP CROWN ON SWANSONG

Lemon Pop (blue) | Horsephotos

Race favourite Lemon Pop (Lemon Drop Kid) ran out a determined winner of Sunday's G1 Champions Cup at Chukyo Racecourse to become the first horse to defend the title for over a decade. It was the perfect way to bow out for Lemon Drop, who now retires to Darley Japan as the winner of 13 of his 18 career starts, with his other notable victories including the G1 February Stakes in 2023 when he was crowned the JRA Best Dirt Horse.

The 16-strong field also included the latest winner of the February Stakes in Peptide Nile (Jpn) (King Kamehameha {Jpn}), latterly runner-up to Lemon Pop in the Listed Mile Championship Nambu Hai at Morioka in October, as well as the two horses who completed the frame in last year's Champions Cup, Wilson Tesoro (Jpn) (Kitasan Black {Jpn}) and Dura Erede (Jpn) (Duramente {Jpn}).

Lemon Pop broke alertly from his inside stall and was sent straight to the front by Ryusei Sakai, with Mitono O (Jpn) (Logotype {Jpn}) for company on his outside. By the home turn Lemon Pop had extended his advantage to around two lengths and the Hiroyasu Tanaka trainee kept going well from there to get the verdict by a nose from the fast-finishing Wilson Tesoro, with another length and a half back to Dura Erede in a carbon copy of last year's one-two-three. Dual G3 Sirius Stakes winner Hagino Alegrias (Jpn) (Kizuna {Jpn}) finished fourth ahead of Peptide Nile in fifth.

"It was his last race and I'm glad that he was able to end his career with the best result," Sakai said of Lemon Pop, who became the first horse to win the race in consecutive years since Transcend (Jpn) (Wild Rush) was successful in 2010 and 2011, back when it was run as the Japan Cup Dirt.

"I wanted to ride him as smoothly as possible without any loss and was ready for any challenge. I thought we had won but wasn't quite sure because Wilson Tesoro came from behind with great speed, so I'm glad we were able to win. Lemon Pop is a strong horse--he has won six out of six Group 1-class races in Japan--and there's no other horse like him, and I'm proud to have been on his back."

Pedigree Notes

Lemon Pop is one of four winners from six to the races for Unreachable, whose multiple graded-stakes winning dam Harpia is a full-sister to the legendary Danehill. The mare, who was acquired privately by Chad Schumer for $50,000 after she was led out unsold at Keeneland November in 2020, is also the dam of a two-year-old Ontario-bred colt by Maclean's Music, who fetched $310,000 at Keeneland September last fall, but was bought back on a bid of €340,000 at this year's Arqana May Breeze-Up Sale.
