

IN NUMBERS: SCRATCHED HORSES SIGNIFICANTLY LIKELY TO NEED EXTENDED REST

The Chosen Vron | Benoit

by Dan Ross

This year's Breeders' Cup had a touch of deja vu all over again thanks to a series of veterinary scratches in the lead up to the event, some of which didn't exactly sit well with connections.

The one that perhaps garnered the most attention is Californian flag-bearer The Chosen Vron's (Vronsky) removal from the GI Breeders' Cup Sprint on official veterinary advice. The horse's connections initially disputed the scratch, arguing he was 100% sound. It later transpired The Chosen Vron had a small ankle problem that necessitated a few months rest.

The narrative surrounding The Chosen Vron's scratch was hardly an anomaly. As veterinary scrutiny of horses has increased in recent years, so too has concern amongst the individuals charged with overseeing the everyday health and welfare of the horse that their expert viewpoints and perspectives are being superseded by those with limited understanding of a particular galloper's peculiar way of going. Where heads butt, tempers fray.

An anecdotal reading of events can be skewed one way or another. And so, what do the hard numbers tell us? Are scratched horses at a higher risk of facing extended periods of time off, for example? How long do they usually take to get back to the races? How many simply never race again? Cont. p3

COX UNVEILS A PAIR OF 'TDN RISING STARS' ON SAME DAY; WILL THEY LIVE UP TO THE HYPE? The Week in Review, by Bill Finley

When the TDN staff decided to make Patch Adams (Into Mischief) and Chasten (Into Mischief) 'TDN Rising Stars' after their maiden wins Saturday at Churchill Downs history was made by trainer Brad Cox. Never before has a trainer had two Rising Stars on the same day. Both were obvious choices. Patch Adams ran away from his competition to win by 10 lengths. Chasten, a winner by 1 1/2 lengths, wasn't quite as impressive, but that she is half-sister to 2023 Older Filly & Mare Champion Idiomatic (Curlin) obviously swayed the TDN team. A horse is made a TDN Rising Star when he or she wins one of their first few starts, and is impressive enough that the TDN staff believes the horse will go on to be as graded stakes winner. Cont. p7

In summary, the available numbers show that scratched horses are notably more likely to face extended periods of time off than non-scratched horses. They typically take longer to get back on the work tab and to the races. A significant number simply never make it back.

Indeed, in one dataset from the past five years, between one-quarter and approaching one-third of the scratched horses studied never made it back to race. In a comparable group of supposedly sound horses, this rate of attrition was in the low single digits.

That said, the numbers show room for improvement to ensure sound and healthy horses aren't unnecessarily snagged in this safety net. They also identify a tantalizing window to screen horses with brewing problems early enough so that race-day lameness scratches become as low as possible.

National Overview

Since the advent of the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act's (HISA) drug and medication control program, the racing fatality rate has headed noticeably downwards.

In the second quarter of this year, for example, there were 0.76 fatalities per 1000 starts in jurisdictions that fall under the federal program's jurisdiction--a number nearly half the national average last year.

As to what's primarily driving this downward trend, concrete answers are difficult to come by.

Is it the tightened medication rules? Is it improving track maintenance protocols? Is it the post-entry screening protocols? Or is it increased veterinary scrutiny, with all HISA jurisdictions required to administer pre-race exams the morning of a race (something not always done at certain tracks)? Is it a combination of factors in equal parts?

HISA doesn't maintain nationwide data about the time it takes for horses to return to the work-tab and races after a lameness scratch, as the agency doesn't always receive granular information as to the reasons behind each scratch. But it's currently working on a fix.

In the meantime, regional datasets that tell similar tales make for fascinating reading.

Santa Anita and Gulfstream Park

Dionne Benson, 1/ST Racing’s chief veterinary officer, has compiled five years of vet scratch data (spanning May 2019 to June 2024) for both Santa Anita and Gulfstream Park.

Using the Equine Injury Database (EID), Benson zeroed in on horses that were scratched for unsoundness during a pre-race exam on the morning of the race, or for the same problem during the afternoon immediately before the race went off. She discarded all other reasons for a scratch like a spiked temperature or for rearing over in the gates.

For every horse scratched, Benson randomly selected a horse that made a start in the intended race as a means of comparison. We’ll call them the “cohort” group. In other words, a cohort of purportedly sound horses.

In short, the scratched horses were significantly more likely never to race or work again than the supposedly sounder cohort group. Of those that did compete again, they also took much longer to get back to the races.

When asked about the seemingly anomalous statistic out of Gulfstream Park--where 5% of the cohort group never raced again, while 8% never worked again--Benson explained that in Florida, the horses will often race back instead of working again.

SANTA ANITA GULFSTREAM PARK
Scratched
Track	Never Raced Again	Never Worked Again	Raced Back within 30 days	Raced Back within 90 days
Santa Anita	26%	14%	7%	38%
Gulfstream Park	29%	20%	12%	45%

Santa Anita	4%	3%	44%	85%
Gulfstream Park	5%	8%	53%	88%

Churchill Downs Incorporated

Will Farmer, Churchill Downs equine medical director, used the EID to screen scratched horses at CDI tracks in an identical fashion to Benson--in other words, he looked only for horses that were scratched for lameness the day of the race.

As at Santa Anita and Gulfstream Park, Farmer’s numbers show that a significant number of scratched horses never race or work again. They also take much longer than is typically the case to race again and to return to the work tab (using Benson’s cohort group as a useful comparison).

The State of Kentucky

George Mundy is the interim equine medical director of the Kentucky Horse Racing and Gaming Corporation. Like others, he was mighty curious about what race-day scratches can tell us, and so, ran his own numbers.

In one intriguing set of numbers, Mundy used data from HISA's "RegVet-Unsound" designation, which was introduced nationwide in July 2022. His analysis comprises an unnamed Kentucky track and Emerald Downs in Washington State.

According to Mundy's statistical breakdown, the lameness veterinary scratches that show the quickest race return-rate are (in order of best to worst) the post parade scratch, then the morning exam, followed by the voided claim (where the claim is voided for lameness), and finally the after-race lameness exam. This sequence mirrors the 2022 findings out of Washington State.

THE STATE OF KENTUCKY
Track	Morning Exam	Post Parade
	Did not return to race within 6 months	Did not return to race within 6 months
Washington State '22	66%	29%
Unnamed KY Track '23	39%	17%
Unnamed KY Track '24	40%	25%

Looking once again at the unnamed Kentucky track in 2023 and 2024, 33% and 60% of the horses whose claims were voided for lameness didn't return to race within six months. In Washington State in 2022, 69% of the voided claim horses did not race within six months.

It should be noted, however, that the overall numbers of voided claim horses were not large--seven and 10 in Kentucky, and 16 in Washington State.

Florida

Mary Scollay was equine medical director of the Kentucky Horse Racing Commission when she ran 10 years worth of vet scratch data out of Florida--Calder and Gulfstream Park to be exact, between 2000 and 2010.

Like the others, Scollay looked specifically at horses scratched solely for lameness in the pre-race exam, the post parade or at the gate.

As a means of comparison with the scratched horses, Scollay randomly selected two horses from each race the scratched horses intended to start in. We'll call them once again the cohort group.

And once again, a significantly higher number of scratched horses never made it back to the races compared to the cohort group. For those that did race again, the scratched group also took far longer than the cohort group to return to competition.

New York Racing Association

Which brings us to 2018, with numbers that former NYRA steward Jennifer Durenberger ran and presented at a 2019 OwnerView conference. Once again, they comprise horses scratched for lameness on the day of the race.

The information is broken into morning and afternoon scratches. It appears to match Mundy's findings in that horses scratched on a morning tend to find a slightly tougher route back to the races than horses scratched of an afternoon.

Of the 125 morning scratches during that period, 18% never ran again. Of those that did compete again, 10% were either vanned off or returned lame when they next ran, while 34% had a six month or more layoff. The average return-to-race time was 89 days.

Of the 51 afternoon scratches during that period, 16% never ran again. Of those that did compete again, 9% were either vanned off or returned lame when they next ran, while 33% had a six month or more layoff. The average return-to-race time was 94 days.

Patch Adams | Coady Media

Does that mean that Patch Adams and Chasten are both destined to become stars? Not necessarily. Basing a horse's future off what is usually no more than one or two starts, is not easy. There are plenty of horses like Arrogate (Unbridled's Song). He lost in his first start and then ran in, and won, a pair of allowance races. He didn't have his coming out party until winning the 2016 GI Travers S. in his fifth lifetime start. Then there are horses like Pastor T (Into Mischief), who never ran again after breaking his maiden in his debut for Bob Baffert.

I am not among the group that selects Rising Stars. But my colleagues continue to do a good job finding the stars of tomorrow. I did a complete review of every North American-based horse that received a Rising Star in 2023. Here is what I found:

(*) There were 52 North American-based Rising Stars in 2023. Twenty of the 52 have so far won a graded stakes race in their career. An even more impressive stat: 12 horse became Grade I winners. If you include non-graded stakes, 26 Rising Stars have won stakes races.

(*) Not too many future stars escaped the team. Carl Spackler (Ire) (Lope de Vega {Ire}): Sierra Leone (Gun Runner); Fierceness (City of Light); Thorpedo Anna (Fast Anna); and Leslie's Rose (Into Mischief) were among the top horses tabbed.

(*) Soon to be named Horse of the Year, Thorpedo Anna was the best Rising Star of 2023. The worst? Squire Creek (Uncle Mo) was last seen running in a $32,000 claimer at Aqueduct. Hey, nobody is perfect.

(*) To the surprise of no one, Into Mischief (Harlan's Holiday) led all sires in 2023 when it comes to producing Rising Stars. He had five. Tapit (Pulpit), Gun Runner (Candy Ride (ARG) and Quality Road (Elusive Quality) were next with three each.

The Cigar Mile Comes Up Strong

After a few years in a row where the Cigar Mile field came up very light, it's good to see the race, which will be run Saturday at Aqueduct, rebound.

Locked | Adam Coglianese

In what should be a terrific betting race, 11 will go to the post in what is the last race that matters on the 2024 New York racing calendar. The pick here is 'TDN Rising Star' Locked (Gun Runner). The winner of last year's GI Breeders' Futurity, he was sidelined for nearly a year after finishing third in the GI Breeders' Cup Juvenile. He came back and romped in an Oct. 19 race at Aqueduct going seven furlongs, which should set him up perfectly for the $500,000 race. But don't rule out the Jersey-bred sensation Book 'em Danno, who had a tough trip when second in the GIII Perryville S. at Keeneland. For him, this will be a trial for the GI Saudi Cup.

Guessing Games With Takeouts

Why is the takeout information for each track so hard to find? Asking people to bet when they don't know what the takeout is would be like your local supermarket not telling you the price of eggs. You'll just have to guess. This is an easy problem to fix, and maybe HISA can help in the effort. There should be a website readily available to fans that lists all the takeouts on all the bets at every track. Daily Racing Form & Equibase should also publish the takeout rates in their paper and programs. Price conscious fans should gravitate to the tracks that give them best deal, but no one is out there making that information readily available.

Two-time Eclipse champion sprinter Goodnight Olive (Ghostzapper) will be covered by MGISW Seize the Grey (Arrogate) this upcoming breeding season. The announcement was made by Resolute Racing's John Stewart on the social media site X Sunday evening.

Responding to comments on the announcement, Stewart noted that he wanted to get access to the late Arrogate and that "Seize the Grey will be more valuable as a stallion. BOOK REVIEW: HOVDEY'S SCRIPT BRINGS WELL ARMED STORY TO BEAR

by J.N. Campbell

On Saturday at Churchill Downs, 2-year-old Patch Adams (Into Mischief)--yes, as in the 1998 Robin Williams film where the best line might be, "Donner, party of 50!"--earned his very own 'Rising Star' on TDN's Walk of Fame.

The colt turned in what Alan Carasso called "a jaw-dropping performance" as he broke his maiden by an eye-catching 10 1/2 lengths at second asking. The time over the fast main track was just 0.33 off the record held by MGISW Groupie Doll.

Thoroughbred bloodlines can highlight connections to a rich past and a provide a link to a potentially bright future. It's what being a 'Rising Star' is all about.

To quote Alanis Morissette's song, we could ask "isn't it ironic" that Patch Adams--owned by WinStar, CHC and Siena--is out of SW Well Humored (Distorted Humor), whose own dam Life Well Lived (Tiznow) is a full-sister to G1 Dubai World Cup hero Well Armed?

Irony rises to periscope depth since the gelding who conquered the desert in 2009 just happens to be the subject of a new book entitled Well Armed, A Thoroughbred of Destiny by Jay Hovdey that was published last month by Johnsen Holdings.

As we know, Thoroughbred biographies can provide insight into not only the athlete, but the people behind them. Hovdey, who has won more Eclipse writing awards than Carter's got pills, is at his best when it comes to creative angles.

The author opens with a nameless screenwriter making a pitch to a Hollywood producer. It's like something out of Spielberg's The Fablemans (2022) and it works as an introduction into the world of Bill Casner who co-founded WinStar Farm alongside his friend Kenny Troutt.

Casner is a larger-than-life personality who seemingly socked home run after home run from the offspring. Hovdey's device takes us through his early life on the dirt track circuits of the Midwest as the Texan meets future wife Susan and applies elbow grease to make a life for his family. The blockbuster public listing of Excel Telecommunications in the late 1990s was a Count of Monte Cristo moment for Casner and Troutt, who turned their Thoroughbred dreams into a reality when they bought what would become WinStar in 2000.

Well Armed wins the Dubai World Cup | Horsephotos

As Hovdey goes on to explain, the $150,000 purchase at the 2001 Keeneland November Sale of Well Dressed, who was in foal to Awesome Again, was a lynchpin moment. The book accentuates Casner's story with meaningful background into how Tiznow became a sire and the origins of the Dubai World Cup.

Before Well Armed came into the world, the Casner Family's was absolutely shattered with the horrendous passing of their daughter Karri. The rising star was killed in a 2002 terrorist bombing while she was traveling in Bali.

The son of Tiznow's foaling a year later on Karri's birthday provided the Casners with a salve and assisted at least in some measure with their grief. Like his screenwriter, Hovdey reminds us that trials and tribulations were to follow.

During his 3-year-old season, Well Armed injured a knee in the G2 U.A.E. Derby. After shipping home for treatment, he accidentally fractured his pelvis. Casner remained resolute that he could engineer a rehab program by having the horse swim laps at his Texas ranch. It worked and over a year later Well Armed returned to the racetrack.

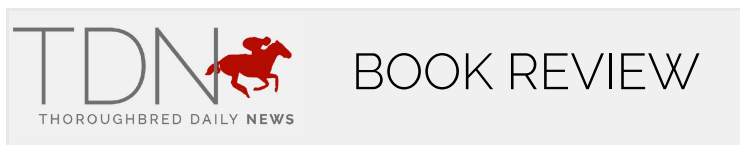

Enter trainer Eoin Harty and rider Aaron Gryder, who according to Hovdey had a 'reality' moment during a fishing trip in the Persian Gulf. The pair form the core of Well Armed's run through the 2009 Dubai World Cup. What many might not remember is that the gelding ran third to superstar Curlin the year prior.

The monograph is chock full of Casner's sharp takes on everything from equine fiduciary responsibility to the debate over the sanctity of all-weather surface technology.

Make no mistake, in Hovdey's hands Well Armed is the furthest thing from film noir.

What we find here is the very marrow of our equine world. More in the spirit of Patch Adams, the book is once again a refreshing reminder of how a Thoroughbred can heal humans. Well Armed, A Thoroughbred of Destiny by Johnsen Holdings Publishing, 164 pages, photos, November 2024.

HERNANDEZ CONTINUES ATOP DEL MAR RIDER STANDINGS, GLATT TOP TRAINER

For the second year in a row, jockey Juan Hernandez has won both the summer and fall riding titles at Del Mar. However, unlike past title runs, he had to rally from behind late in the season to win the Bing Crosby Season title with 21 wins.

Hernandez trailed both Antonio Fresu and Umberto Rispoli through much of the fall. But he got hot in the second-to-last week, winning five races and grabbing the lead. He then secured the title with another eight victories in the final week including five on closing day.

"I'm very grateful to everybody," said Hernandez. "I want to thank the owners, the trainers and the grooms. My agent (Craig O'Bryan), he's the one who picks the right horses. I just enjoy riding my horses. I try to do my best in every race. This is for my family here and in Mexico. I'm just excited and looking forward to the next meet."

Mark Glatt & Juan Hernandez | Benoit

Hernandez now has won six jockey titles at Del Mar. Rispoli finished with 15 wins while Fresu had 14.

Trainer Mark Glatt notched his first Del Mar trainer's title this meet by winning 14 races, five better than runner-up and defending champion Phil D'Amato. Glatt ran horses in 32 races, about half of what D'Amato came with, and posted a 44% win rate.

DALE ROMANS ELECTED NEW KENTUCKY HBPA PRESIDENT

Dale Romans has been elected as the new president of the Kentucky HBPA, following the long tenure of fellow trainer Rick Hiles.

Romans was voted president by the newly seated Kentucky HBPA board. The longest continuously serving board member, Romans has been on the HBPA board for most of his training career that began in 1986, with much of that as a vice president.

Trainers’ representative John Hancock and owners’ representative Travis Foley are the new vice presidents, taking over for Romans and the late Frank Jones Jr.

New Kentucky HBPA board members joining Hancock and Hiles as trainer representatives are Phil Bauer, Jordan Blair and Bret Calhoun, with Bill Morey an alternate board member. Newcomer Casey Klein joins Travis Foley and existing owner board members Buff Bradley and Mark Bacon, with a fifth owner representative to be named at the start of the year.

“My goal, starting immediately, is to build on the foundation Rick Hiles and the previous Kentucky HBPA boards established,” said Romans. “I’ve got a bunch of ideas, but the first thing I’m going to do is listen to the horsemen. After a lot of hard work in conjunction with our racetracks and lawmakers, Kentucky is now the No. 1 racing circuit in America and the gold standard. That’s not the end point but an ongoing challenge to find new ways to improve and grow to benefit racehorse owners and trainers, which in turn benefits the entire industry.”

Alex Foley, the Kentucky HBPA's Executive Director, said the horsemen's organization is most appreciative of Hiles' "unwavering service and leadership. His tenure spanned years of significant change in the industry, during which he worked tirelessly to support Kentucky's racing community.

"Rick has been an exceptional leader and advocate for horsemen, and we are deeply grateful for his dedication to our industry," Alex Foley continued. "We're excited to welcome Dale Romans as our new president. His experience and passion for the sport will be invaluable as we navigate the future."

HOW I GOT HOOKED ON RACING: CHRIS MCGRATH

Chris McGrath | Sue Finley

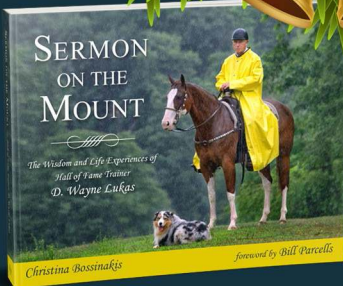

For the past two weeks, we have been telling you how some of racing's biggest names fell in love with the sport. Now it's our turn. Here are some of the stories behind the bylines you see every day in the TDN.

Chris McGrath

We all know how pedigrees can confound us. We spend more than we can afford on the best page we can, and end up trying to salvage something in a maiden claimer. And then the horse you put an immediate line through, when you first go through a catalogue, ends up winning a Grade I.

Hang on, this series is titled "How I Fell Out Of Love With Racing"--right?

The point is that there was nothing in my page to concern those raising me that I might be remotely vulnerable to a sport they would have viewed, had they ever given it a moment's attention, as fraught with moral and financial peril. A largely suburban upbringing in England had instead put me on an impeccably conventional path, one that I would actually follow through to university and the law degree that my parents fondly imagined would lead to an uneventfully lucrative career.

By the time I obliged them by at least jumping through those preliminary hoops, however, the terrible seduction had begun.

Sire and dam had first started scratching their heads, and going back through their own scrupulously unsporting pedigrees, when I became precociously obsessed, from the age of nine, with cricket--something equally baffling, no doubt, to any American reader. In those days, incredible as it will seem to young people, Britons had a choice of just three television stations. And one of those would broadcast every minute of every home Test Match. (Yes, those games scheduled over five days with zero guarantee of either side winning...)

International cricket nowadays lurks behind a subscription paywall, and there are lessons for every sport in its resulting struggles to reach and inspire younger viewers. Back then, however, this tremendous shop window would only be open in the summer, and an idle English schoolboy in search of televised sport during the winter had to make do with a modest quota of soccer plus a few curiosities like snooker. (Quite a challenge, in an era when color television remained a luxury: one commentator famously said: "For those of you watching in black-and-white, the pink is next to the green...." Actually that wasn't as stupid as it sounds, but we're digressing enough already.)

One of the sports that duly profited from great exposure in the early 1980s was horseracing. And I distinctly recall being vexed whenever some other sport was interrupted to show the 2.30 from Haydock.

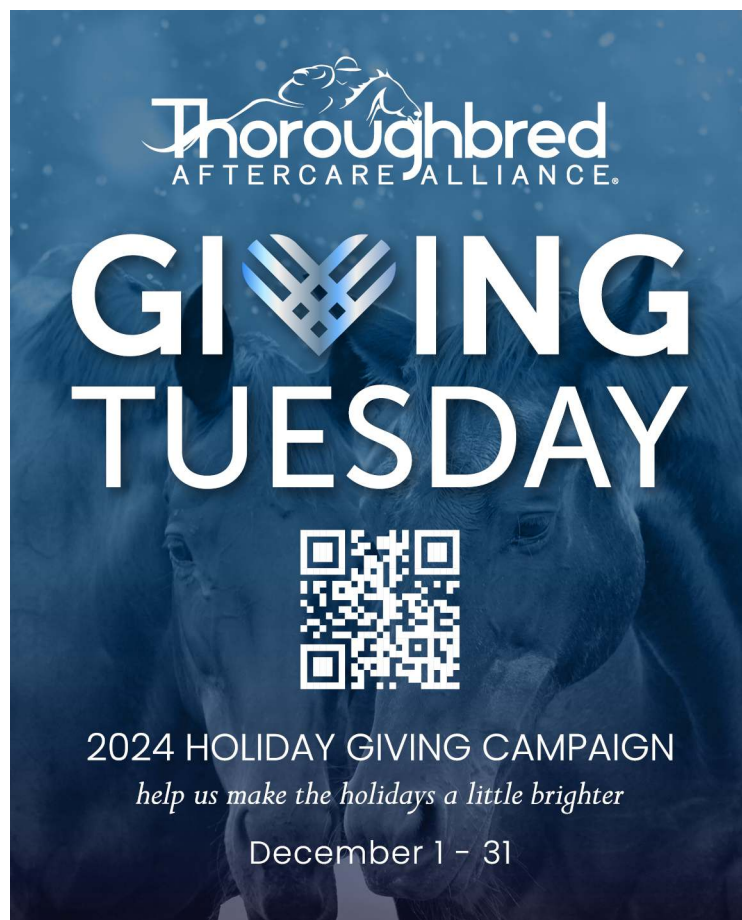

Gradually, however, I fell prey to a fateful combination of those adolescent trademarks, indolence and intrigue--especially, to start with, during the jumps season. Who were these eccentric characters in tweed coats, presenters and interviewees alike? And who, above all, were these astounding creatures whose bravery and beauty so obsessed them?

Now I can't deny it: the glamor was certainly heightened by the fact that people appeared to be winning and losing giddy sums on how fast these semi-controllable animals managed to negotiate a series of obstacles. At a time of life when an evolving personality is anxious to decide what kind of image to project in life, gambling became a useful source of additional loucheness, an exotic variation on the three customary routes to disreputability: girls, cigarettes and ale.

For the record, I never took to smoking; and I soon figured out, if rather too slowly, that I would need to discover a more reliable option than betting to salvage at least some portion of the comfortable income I was now determined to renounce, together with a career in law. (The girls and the ale, I stand by.) But the comical fact of the matter is that when See You Then won the second of his three Champion Hurdles, in 1986, I dared my first ever £5 wager; and that 12 months later, faithful to the same horse in the same race, I risked no less than £200.

But it was watching that same 1986 Cheltenham Festival that I reached the single moment--indeed a single, fleeting image--that definitively hooked me on racing. I don't recall having any financial skin in the game for the Gold Cup, the steeplechase that crowns the meeting. But the narrative of the race, in both the build-up and its actual denouement, was unforgettably centered on the charismatic Irish mare, Dawn Run. She had been champion hurdler but remained inexperienced over fences, and her jumping was under such scrutiny that there had been a controversial change of jockey. Watching the grainy footage again today, you still can't see how she won. Through most of the final stages, having dropped out after an attacking ride, she looks irretrievably beaten. But then the enigmatic Wayward Lad started to hang in front, and Dawn Run kept up the game of gallops up the hill to pull it out of the fire.

help us make the holidays a little brighter
 December 1 - 31

As she passed the post, the director took what for me became a life-changing decision, cutting to the crowd in front of the stands. That shot lasted barely a couple of seconds. In that fleeting moment, however, you saw a trilby hat flung so high into the air that it disappeared from the frame--and it never returned into view, because we were then taken instantly back to the horses pulling up. It gave a literally limitless quality to the joy consuming all those people.

In that single, exuberant gesture, I sensed how this game could enliven and exalt the lives, however humdrum, of anyone prepared to yield to its mysteries. Thirty-eight years on, that trilby is still to come back down to earth.

Sunday's Results:

4th-Chukyo, ¥10,480,000 ($70,206), Maiden, 2yo, 1600mT, 1:34.9, gd/fm.

LARGE GALLERY (f, 2, American Pharoah--Scarlet Color {Jpn} {GSW-Jpn, $1,688,406}, by Victoire Pisa ({Jpn})) became her sire's third Japanese winner over the last two weekends with a smooth pillar-to-post success. No better than the 61-10 fourth betting choice cutting back to the shortest distance of her young career, the homebred was sent to the front by Christophe Lemaire after the opening 100 meters and set a steady tempo, going the first 800 meters in :48.1. Well-rated through 1200 meters in 1:12.3, Large Gallery had plenty left for a sprint and went the final couple of panels in :22.6 en route to a convincing three-length victory. Large Gallery's Group 2-winning dam is also responsible for a yearling colt by Uncle Mo, a weanling colt by Into Mischief and was given the year off for 2025. Lifetime Record: 4-1-0-1, $48,847.

THE NEXT VIA SISTINA? YULONG SWOOPS FOR CAUGHT U LOOKING AT 1.8 MILLION

Tally-Ho Stud's Aaron Purcell leading up Caught U Looking | Tattersalls

By Brian Sheerin and Adam Houghton

Via Sistina's exploits Down Under may well have been at the forefront of Yuesheng Zhang's mind when the Yulong team went to 1.8 million gns to secure Caught U Looking (Ire) (Harzand {Ire}), a filly that part-owner Tony O'Callaghan says "will do a bit of damage" whatever jurisdiction she ends up running in.

That's good news for Yulong, who bid online to the left of the rostrum to see off a spirited effort from Will Walden. Of course, it was in this exact sale ring that Yulong--then signing under Evergreen Equine as opposed to Willingham on Monday--lit up the Sceptre Sessions when going to 2.7 million gns for Via Sistina (Ire) (Fastnet Rock {Aus}) last year. RATHBARRY'S ACCLAMATION DIES AT 25

Recently pensioned stallion Acclamation (GB) died over the weekend, Rathbarry Stud posted on X. The son of Royal Applause (GB) was 25.

"It is with heavy hearts that we share the passing of Acclamation this weekend," the stud said on X. "He leaves behind a legacy as a true legend of the Irish stallion ranks. He will be deeply missed by all at Rathbarry Stud but never forgotten."

Bred by Tedwood Bloodstock and partners, the son of Princess Athena (Ire) (Ahoonora {GB}) won the G2 Diadem Stakes and was placed in both the G2 King's Stand Stakes prior to it being elevated to Group 1 level and the G1 Nunthorpe Stakes for Gerald Cottrell.

The sire of successful stallions Dark Angel (Ire) and Mehmas (Ire) was a Group 2 winner himself. At stud, he has sired 68 stakes winners (32 group winners). He also has 155 stakes horses internationally. Of his seven Group 1 winners, his best are current Hong Kong star Romantic Warrior (Ire) and Makarova (GB), who won the G1 Prix de l'Abbaye this autumn. Another was 6-million gns mare Marsha (Ire), who won the G1 Nunthorpe Stakes.

His daughters are credited with 38 stakes winners (19 group) led by Group 1 winners Broome (Ire) (Australia {GB}) and Eqtidaar (Ire) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}).

Four Group 1s in Australia later, including an eight-length demolition job in the Cox Plate, and it was easy to see why Yulong's general manager Vin Cox was returning to a happy hunting ground to secure the Noel Meade-trained Group 3 winner.

Cox said, "The ambition at this stage is probably to send her to Australia and put her on a path not dissimilar to Via Sistina, who we've obviously had a lot of success with over the last 12 months. We're not suggesting that this filly is going to turn into a Via Sistina. We'd love her to, but we'll keep our feet on the ground and hopefully she can win some nice races for us.

"It's no secret that staying horses in this part of the world perform exceptionally well in Australia. She's already a stakes performer and she'll be retired to the stud irrespective of what happens in Australia. Hopefully, we can add to her CV and profile."

He added, "Funnily enough, it [price] was around where I thought we might end up. She's a well-performed filly who we think has got a pretty good profile to race on with. There were bids coming from all corners of the auditorium which is always a good sign. You love to see competition and would hate to be the only one out there."

Caught U Looking was bought by Peter Nolan on behalf of Noel Meade for just €27,000 at the Goffs Autumn Yearling Sale in 2022. The story goes that the filly caught O'Callaghan's attention in the back ring before she was offered under the hammer, which would explain how she was named.

Given her breeder Peter Kelly was keen to stay involved in the ownership of the filly and Meade had purchased Caught U Looking on spec, a partnership was formed. The rest, as they say, is history. Cont. p4

The Tally-Ho Stud boss said, "I'd say she did it herself because she behaved impeccably there for the past three days. We think there's a good bit of potential--there's more to come. That's why she made it. Credit to Peter Nolan, Peter Kelly and Noel Meade. She'd 12 vets and was very popular. I'd say she'll do a bit of damage wherever she goes."

The day one sale-topper is out of the Mastercraftsman (Ire) mare Wild Mix (GB), who Kelly picked up for just 7,000gns at the Tattersalls Autumn Horses-In-Training Sale in 2018. The mare has served him well with her Supremacy (Ire) colt foal also making the Kellys a pretty penny when selling at Goffs last year for €180,000, in the aftermath of Caught U Looking's two-year-old exploits which included her biggest success to date in the Weld Park Stakes.

Tony O'Callaghan | Tattersalls

Wild Mix had a filly by Cotai Glory (GB) this spring and was covered by New Bay (GB).

"I bred her and I always wanted to stay in her," Kelly explained. "Noel Meade wanted to buy her and, when he did, we stayed in for half. Tony was then interested in her and he bought in. I was so chuffed that he wanted part of a horse I had bred. He has been a wonderful partner the whole way."

He added, "Coming here, I knew she was going to go better than I had hoped as she had 12 or 13 vets and the right people were on her."

Meanwhile, Kelly's wife Sabina, was understandably emotional.

She said, "Oh my gosh! It was incredible--she has always been a pet. We have always loved her.

I am in shock--it is amazing! We weren't expecting that. She is a superb filly and it is sad to see her go but she has been brilliant and we have had a great season." Cont. p5

Tattersalls offered a bigger selection of horses on Monday compared to the corresponding day's trade 12 months ago but, even so, the day one figures made for impressive reading with turnover climbing by 48% to 22,955,500gns. The median was up 16% to 50,000gns while the average was on the rise by 32% to 102,939gns. The clearance rate was a healthy 86% [up 4%].

City Of Troy Or Auguste Rodin Put Forward For Unbreak My Heart

A visit to City Of Troy or Auguste Rodin has been pencilled in for Unbreak My Heart (GB) after MV Magnier secured the Group-placed daughter of Showcasing (GB) for Coolmore at 625,000gns. Unbreak My Heart is the culmination of generations of hard work at Whitsbury Manor Stud. A half-sister to Group 2 winner Heartache (GB) (Kyllachy (GB), who Coolmore bought at this sale in 2018 for 1.3 million gns, Unbreak My Heart actually carried Chris Harper's own colours to finish third in the G3 Cornwallis Stakes.

Heartache has emerged as a pretty promising broodmare at Coolmore, with her most recent progeny to have hit the track, Exactly (Ire) (Frankel {GB}), winning the G3 Killavullan Stakes when last seen.

"Exactly is a very good filly," Magnier commented. "In fairness to Ed Harper and his father, they've been very good breeders for a very long time. It's a great family that they've done very well with. We bought Heartache off them a few years ago and she's gone on to produce Salt Lake City, who was a good horse, and then Exactly looks very promising.

"She's a very nice filly and we're lucky to have been able to buy her. I'd say she'll go to either City Of Troy or Auguste Rodin."

Alex Elliott and Amo Racing's Kia Joorabchian | Tattersalls

Amo Starts Strong With 450k Frankel Filly

Amo Racing's Kia Joorabchian was responsible for raising the temperature early in the afternoon when going to 450,000gns for Godolphin's Listed-winning Pennymoor (GB).

The most expensive of the day's lots outside of the Sceptre Sessions, the daughter of Frankel (GB) is out of the G1 Preis der Diana heroine Penelopa (GB) (Giant's Causeway), making her a half-sister to Amo's smart two-year-old California Dreamer (GB)

Bloodstock agent Alex Elliott said, "She was a very obvious one for us, being a half-sister to California Dreamer and a Listed winner by Frankel. She made 450,000gns as a foal so that will tell you how good looking she is.

"She's on an early cover to Farhh so there's some scarcity value there. Farhh struggles with his fertility so there's not many of them around and not many mares in foal to him. I think he's a very good stallion and, with what she's carrying, that would be a Book 1 horse if it comes out looking like her."

Talking Points

- Be it horses-in-training or mares, the Godolphin draft always generates great excitement. Monday was no different when 20 mares sold for a combined 2,255,000. While she didn't command a huge price tag at 80,000gns, former Irish 1,000 Guineas winner Pleaschach (Ire) (Teofilo {Ire}) was one of the bigger names among the draft. She was sold to Indian buyers Poonawalla Astonish Stud and Raunak Banerji.

- A brilliant season for Camelot (GB) received further international recognition when, bidding on behalf of Taihei Stud Farm, Michael Youngs secured classly mare Cairde Go Deo (Fr) for 525,000gns. Trained by Ger Lyons on behalf of owner Mark Dobbin, Cairde Go Deo, which translates from Irish into Friends Forever, won twice at Listed level and placed in the Irish Oaks. Youngs said, “She’s been purchased for Taihei Farm in Japan. She was a good, tough racemare and very attractive--she uses herself very well. She should be a good fit for them and I’m very happy to have got her for them.”
- The Juddmonte draft proved as popular as ever with 15 selling for a total of 1,630,000gns and at an average of 108,667gns. The pick of them was the three-year-old Abstract (Fr) (Wootton Bassett {GB}), a dual winner in France out of the Listed-placed Invincible Spirit (Ire) mare Ambivalence (Ire), who sold for 340,000gns on the bid of Ted Durcan. Durcan said, “She has been bought to race on. She is for Scott Heider, but I don't know yet whether she will stay in Europe or go to the US. She is very close to getting black type and if she could get her head in front she will be a valuable prospect.”

Ted Durcan purchased Abstract for Scott Heider | Tattersalls

- Charlie Gordon Watson spent a total of 925,000gns on a pair of mares offered during the Sceptre Sessions, Rocana (GB) (Fastnet Rock {Aus}) and Adelaide (Ire) (Lawman {Fr}), who fetched 625,000gns and 300,000gns, respectively. Rocana has already produced the G3 Chester Vase winner Youth Spirit (Ire) (Camelot {GB}) and Listed Feilden Stakes scorer Canberra Legend (Ire) (Australia {GB}), as well as a Ghaiyyath (Ire) filly who made 350,000gns at last week’s December Foal Sale. Cont. p8

A PERFECT 7/7 & 9/9

Since A.P. Indy went to stud in 1993 only 12 North American or European stallions in 32 years - about one every 2½ years - have gone to stud with SPP (Sire Predictive Points) scores of 9/9 on our original predictive scale....Nine of the 12 (75%), including former Coolmore sires Giant's Causeway, Montjeu, and Galileo, have become top 10% sires. It's the best predictive model for sire success we know of.

Now Coolmore's City of Troy, by Justify out of Together Forever, by Galileo, becomes lucky number 13 to score 9/9, the first to do so since Too Darn Hot retired in 2020. Moreover he becomes only the second horse, after Too Darn Hot, to score 9/9 on the original scale and 7/7 on the 2YO scale....He goes to stud for €75,000, a very reasonable ticket in light of his outstanding prospects of following in the footsteps of his illustrious predecessors.

NEW for 2025: €75,000

Lady Lloyd Webber of Watership Down Stud | Tattersalls

Along with Adelaide, the winner of the Listed Snowdrop Fillies' Stakes at Kempton in April, Rocana was bought on behalf of Watership Down Stud and both will be covered by Too Darn Hot (GB), the Darley stallion who still has no fiercer supporters than Lord and Lady Lloyd Webber of Watership Down after they bred and raced him with such great success.

- You've got to take your hat off to Jessica Harrington, who worked her magic with Raknah (Ire). Deemed surplus to requirements by Andrew Balding, she was sold online to BBA Ireland for just 25,000gns after she failed to win in three starts in Britain. A gritty success in a Listed contest at Galway earlier this summer saw connections multiply their outlay when the daughter of Blue Point (Ire) sold for 350,000gns to Yoshihisa Ozasa.
- There was a strong International representation at Tattersalls on Monday and the leading American-based owner Mike Repole was a notable name to feature on the buyers' sheet when spending 645,000gns on four mares.

Buy of the Day

Tally-Ho Stud were keen to buy Marie Of Lyon (GB) (Royal Applause {GB}) and it's easy to see why. The 10-year-old has already proved that she can get a fast, early two-year-old, being the dam of the G2 Prix Robert Papin runner-up Shadow Army (GB) (Showcasing {GB}), and at 220,000gns Marie Of Lyon makes a lot of sense. Sold in foal to Soldier's Call (GB), the case could be made that she would have made more had she been covered by something a little more commercial. Cont. p9

Given Royal Applause works well with Kodiak (GB)--and is the damsire of one of Kodiak's best sons in Adaay (Ire)--there should be no shortage of options for the mare going forward. She looks well bought.

Thought for the Day

There's no denying that Monday's Sceptre Sessions was very much the warm-up act for what is expected to be strong trade on Tuesday. The big guns have yet to come out and play. As the great Irish commentator Jerry Hannon once said, 'strap yourselves in.'

BLUE BROTHER SOLD TO WATHNAN RACING FOR WINTER QATAR CAMPAIGN

Blue Brother | Scoop Dyga

Listed placed Blue Brother (Fr) (Intello {Ger}) has been sold to Wathnan Racing and will winter in Qatar for the growing international operation, as reported by Jour de Galop on Monday evening.

According to the publication, Blue Brother has been listed as out of training on the France Galop website due to the pending export. When reached for comment, former owner/breeder Francis Teboul--operating under the Gemini Stud moniker--confirmed the sale.

“With the colt, we had the ambition to race in Qatar during the winter because we were convinced that he would be capable of doing well there,” Teboul told Jour de Galop. “But in the meantime we received a purchase offer and we accepted it. Blue Brother will go to Qatar but he will now defend the colours of Wathnan Racing.”

The Gianluca Bietolini-trainee has placed in five of seven lifetime starts, including most recently in the Listed Prix Tantieme where he was on the losing end of the bob on the line. He'd won a pair of handicaps in two prior outings before that effort.

FULL BROTHER TO GROUP 1 HEROINE KELINA IN LINE FOR DEAUVILLE DEBUT

14.30 Deauville, Mdn, €30,000, unraced 2yo, c/g, 9 1/2f (AWT)
Alain and Gerard Wertheimer's KINDLEO (GB) (Frankel {GB}) is a Christophe Ferland-trained full-brother to last term's G1 Prix de la Foret heroine Kelina (GB). The April-foaled homebred bay, whose stakes-winning dam Incahoots (GB) (Oasis Dream {GB}) is out of Group 3-winning matriarch In Clover (GB) (Inchinor {GB}), is opposed by 11 in this newcomers' test.

Observations Cont.

15.05 Deauville, Mdn, €30,000, unraced 2yo, f, 9 1/2f (AWT)
Christophe Ferland trainee ROOBA (IRE) (Dubawi {Ire}), another notable Wertheimer homebred, is a half-sister to three black-type performers headed by dual G1 Prix Royal-Oak hero Double Major (Ire) (Daiwa Major {Jpn}). She encounters 11 rivals in this debutantes' heat.

15.40 Deauville, Mdn, €30,000, 2yo, c/g, 7 1/2f (AWT)
Godolphin's CUALIFICAR (GB) (Lope De Vega {Ire}) is a son of G1 Oaks heroine Qualify (Ire) (Fastnet Rock {Aus}) and thus kin to this year's G3 Jebel Ali Mile victor Swing Vote (GB) (Shamardal). Qualify, a 1.6-million guineas purchase at the 2015 Tattersalls December sale, was knocked down to Ballylinch for €650,000 at last month's Goffs November sale. The Andre Fabre nominee, one of 10 declarations, posted a promising close-up third in his Saint-Cloud debut last month.

WORLD'S TOP RIDERS CONVERGE ON HAPPY VALLEY FOR LONGINES IJC

by Alan Carasso

A dozen of the best jockeys from all corners of the globe--four based locally and eight from overseas--come together Wednesday evening at Hong Kong's iconic Happy Valley Racecourse for the Longines International Jockeys' Championship. Widely recognized as the premier contest of its kind, the IJC carries total prize-money of HK$1 million, to be divided up three ways, with the winner taking home a cheque for HK$600,000, while the second- and third-place finishers earn HK$250,000 and HK$150,000, respectively.

Vincent Ho, best known for his association with the now retired three-time G1 Longines Hong Kong Mile hero Golden Sixty (Aus) (Medaglia d'Oro) found the podium in the IJC in 2018, 2019 and 2022 before just getting the better of Zac Purton--Hong Kong's perennial leading rider--in 2023. Ever humble, Ho is relishing another crack at displaying his talents on this stage.

"Since I started my riding career, I always wanted to be one of the IJC participating jockeys and now I treasure every opportunity to be part of it and enjoying it," he said. "All the participating jockeys are experienced world-class riders, on and off the track we have plenty of chances to share. This is really a golden chance to improve yourself."

Purton, who is within striking distance of breaking the all-time record for wins in Hong Kong currently held by Douglas Whyte, took out the IJC for the first time in 2017 before adding victories in 2020 and 2021. The Aussie's four rides on Wednesday each drew low gates, never a negative at Happy Valley, but Purton is downplaying his chances.

"I would have preferred a bit more quality there," Purton said. "I think I have my work cut out for me."

Among the overseas challenge are Hollie Doyle, who became the first female to win a leg of the IJC en route to finishing a joint-third in 2020, and Rachel King, English by birth and now a successful jockey in Sydney.

"It's an honour to be selected," says Doyle, who rode the 1000th winner of her career at Goodwood this past September. "The HKJC pick jockeys from the best around the world that they know will be competitive and serious in their attempt to win the trophy. It creates quite an intense atmosphere.

"We all get on great," she continued. "We know each other from travelling the world, but everyone is there for only one thing, and that is to win. It is the atmosphere it should be when you are riding at that level, competing for that amount of money. It's intense, and that's how I like it really." Cont. p14

Ryan Moore last won the IJC in 2010, following his three-way dead-heat the year prior, and makes the short trip down from Japan, where he rode Dura Erede (Jpn) to a close third in the G1 Champions Cup at the weekend. He, too, always looks forward to the IJC

“Racing in Hong Kong is probably the most competitive in the world and I’m always delighted to take part when I’m asked,” he said. “You do always have a chance because [Happy Valley is] that sort of track and the horses are evenly matched. But there could just be a standout in one leg, one that’s ahead of his mark, that’s just the nature of racing.”

Completing the 2024 IJC field are: William Buick representing Great Britain alongside Doyle; Mickael Barzalona (France); Colin Keane (Ireland); Yuga Kawada (Japan); James McDonald (New Zealand), Hugh Bowman and Karis Teetan (Hong Kong, China).

The IJC is contested over four legs and points are awarded on a 12-6-4 basis. Wednesday's program kicks off at 6:30 p.m. HKT (10:30 a.m. BST, 5:30 a.m. US Eastern Time), with the first of the IJC legs set to jump at 8:10 p.m. Click here for the HKJC form guide.
